TWO MORE HOLD-UPS OCCUR LATE AT NIGHT IN THE SAME LOCALITY

W. J. A. Ross Attacked and Clubbed—Henry Welch Meets the Footpads and Routs Them.

Two more holdups occurring in the city within the past three days have been reported. A singular fact in connection with them is that each happened at about 11:30 o'clock at night and they were committed not two blocks apart. Another coincidence is that the daring men in each case used the same ruse in an attempt to throw their intended victims off their guard, asking them for the time of night.

W. J. A. Ross, a well known carpenter of the Calcutta road, was enroute to his home last night and when he reached the dark passage way near the Smith Lumber company's planing mill he was terribly frightened by two men stepping out from a pile of lumber simultaneously and asking: "What time is it, stranger?"

Mr. Ross was so badly scared for the time being that he was unable to answer or act. While he was standing apparently dazed one of the men landed a hard blow on his head. What the man held in his hand is not known. It may have been a club and only have been his fist.

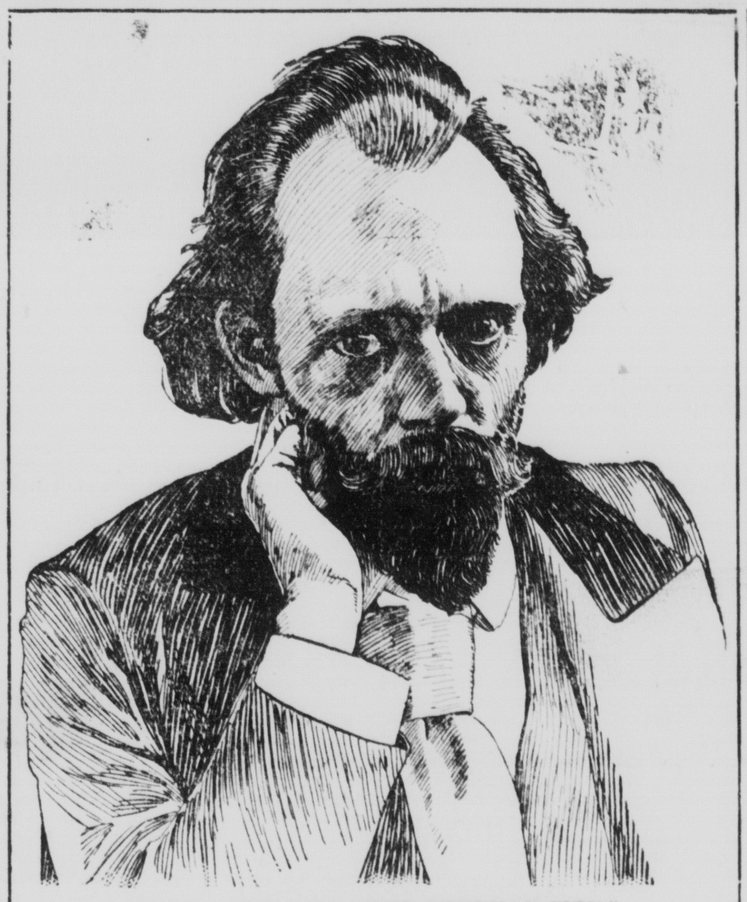

The attacked man saw that the odds were against him and before the villains had time to land on him again, by a quick jump and fleet running, he managed to escape. Into his home he dashed and securing a gun returned to the spot accompanied by his wife, but failed to get a trace of the fellows.

On Thursday night Henry Welsh, a kilnman employed at the K., T. & K., pottery, was also walking toward his home on the Calcutta road when he was accosted by a big man wearing an overcoat and a slouch hat. The man was standing on the north side of Grant street, near the Stewart residence, and when Mr. Welsh approached he sprang out into the middle of the pavement and asked "What time is it?"

If more of the people who have been accosted had dealt with their men as did Mr. Welsh the game would doubtless have been stopped long ago. Instead of reaching for his watch to accommodate the stranger Mr. Welsh said: "I'll show you what time it is," and at the same time reached in his hip pocket for his revolver.

Like a flash the highwayman turned on his heels and went flying down the street. A shot from Mr. Welsh's revolver helped in giving him speed.

OFFICIAL RETURNS SHOW PLURALITY OF LAYLIN IN EXCESS OF 91,000

The Total Vote of the State Over 800,000—Interesting Controversy Over Congressional Election at Columbus.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, November 8.—The Republican state committee has compiled unofficial returns received from the 88 counties of the state, which are believed to be accurate, which show the Republican plurality for the head of the ticket to be 91,118. A total of 436,669 votes were cast for Laylin, Republican, for secretary of state, and 345,481 for Bigelow, Democrat. The Republicans carried 61 counties by pluralities aggregating 113,809. The remaining 27 counties were carried by the Democrats by pluralities aggregating 22,621. The total vote cast for the two leading parties reaches 782,150, but this does not include the vote cast for the minor party tickets, which when added will swell the grand total to upwards of 800,000. Highland county was carried by the Republicans on the head of the ticket by a majority of one. In Marion county there was a tie for a county office. In Ohio last presidential year Bryan polled the same number of votes as he did in the state the first time he was a candidate for president. State Chairman Dick has assued a bulletin expressing his gratitude to the people for the Republican victory. He praises the Republican papers and also the Democrats who could not endorse Tom Johnson's fallacies. Secretary of State Laylin's corps of clerks are at work tabulating the election returns, but it will be some days before they will complete the job. They are working day and night.

Cyrus Huling, Republican, who was defeated for congress in this district, conferred with Attorney General Sheets yesterday with reference to the validity of the election of his opponent, Judge Badger, who has not resigned from the bench. Botn are of the opinion that his election is illegal, but Huling says he will not accept a certificate of election for the office because he did not receive a majority of the votes cast. The state constitution specifies that judges of the supreme, circuit and common pleas courts shall not hold any other office while on the bench. Badger's friends claim this section only affects state positions and maintain his election is regular. Judge Sheets stated he would not bring suit to prevent issuance of a certificate of election to Judge Badger unless the complainant demanded it, and Huling will not likely resort to this course. Sheets says that if Badger is refused admittance to congress and if Huling will not accept the seat,

HAD HIM WHERE SHE WANTED HIM

Wife Caused Husband to Be Taken Into Court For Non-Support of a Child.

VISION OF COUNTY JAIL

Caused Him to Express His Willingness to Make Terms, And a Truce Was Patched Up for the Time-Being at Least.

"There is no use in coming to me now. I have listened to your promises long enough. The time has come when you have got to furnish the money or suffer the consequences," were the words that fell on the eager ears of James E. Bratt, when he, like a man imploring for the hand of the one he loves, rushed toward his wife, Mary Bratt, upon her entering 'Squire McCarron's court this morning.

Such a rebuke Bratt evidently did not expect. His face flushed and he came near wilting into a heap on the floor. He had been arrested about 9 o'clock while at work in the Globe pottery by Constable Powell as the result of a warrant being issued by his wife yesterday, charging him with non-support of their minor child, Lester E., aged two and one-half years. The charge specified that he had been guilty of gross neglect of the child since last May.

Mrs. Bratt for a moment would not allow her husband to get in a word edgewise. She took the opportunity of telling him in the presence of others of the way in which he had treated her. Finally she allowed him to speak and he started off with: "I intended to pay for the keeping of the child."

At this in a sneering way she told him that the story was an old one to her and that the money was what she wanted. Realizing that she had him for the first time just exactly where she had longed for, she kept him in suspense for some time longer and seemed to enjoy his discomfort over the explanation made by the 'squire of the enormity of the charge. The justice vividly pointed out the iron bars at the Lisbon jail and the many hard days of labor that can be imposed upon a man for non-support.

Bratt saw through it all and was extremely anxious that his wife compromise the case before the 'squire should order him remanded to a cold cell. Mrs. Bratt at first demanded that he give her $10 every pay day, but when he explained that he only draws $24 a pay and told of the hardships he would be compelled to suffer if she took so much, she relented by allowing him to give an order on his wages for $7 a pay.

The costs in the case were paid and the man released. Mrs. Bratt said that she did not believe her husband would live up to the contract and that the first time he failed to produce the cash she would have him arrested again.

CONSTABLE MAY GO INTO CAMP TONIGHT

He Has Levied on Four Cows and May Find It Necessary to Watch Them.

A TENT AND A CAMP FIRE

Will Be Provided And He Will Be Armed to Resist Nocturnal Prowlers During His Lonely Vigil—Origin of a Singular Dilemma.

An attachment suit has been filed in 'Squire McCarron's court in which W. J. McClure, a plasterer, is the plaintiff and Joseph Laughlin, of Beaver, is the defendant. McClure alleges that Laughlin owes him $25 for labor performed and that he refuses to pay any portion of it. The defendant owns considerable property, it is claimed, and there was no little argument between the 'squire and McClure as to what should be attached. However, after long study it was decided that some live stock owned by the defendant would be theeasiest handled, and as a result one spotted cow, worth $20, one red cow worth $15, one spotted cow with horns worth $20, and one black cow, worth $15, are under surveillance.

The kine are in use on a dairy farm a few miles north of this city. Owing to the location Constable Powell, who has the attachment in charge, is having his troubles. He went out to the farm yesterday and made arrangements with the man who is running the dairy to watch the cows last night giving him in exchange for his work the milk of the animals, but it seems that the man does not favor the plan of continuing the watch. He made objections to keeping an eagle eye open tonight and just what to do the constable does not know. It is a dilemma in which the officer is very seldom placed and one which local officers state has never before occurred in this city. Nevertheless Constable Powell states that he is not to be defeated and announces a novel way of procedure by which he will keep the cows in corral tonight.

If he cannot procure the services again of the dairyman he has decided to drive out to the farm, pitch a tent near the stable, build a camp-fire and watch the herd throughout the hours of darkness. He will be armed to the teeth and prepared to withstand all manner of foes.

The 'squire has set the case for a hearing Tuesday, and if the defendant does not appear then, the cows will be sold at public auction. The constable states that he does not care what disposition is made of the case, just so something is done and done quickly.

WHO OWES THE MONEY?

A Complicated Dispute Over a Small Amount Finds Its Way to Court.

A case promising to cause a legal battle, was entered in 'Squire McCarron's court this afternoon by John Biddle, through his attorney, Hollis E. Grosshans. It is an attachment suit in which J. C. McSpadden, a contractor, is the defendant.

Biddle claims that the contractor owes him $43.20 for some labor performed. It seems that no one disputes that Biddle has that amount due him, but there is a dispute as to who owes it. John Rinehart, the leveryman, it is said, has the money in his possession and has given notice that he will hold on to it until Biddle pays him $7 with interest on a note.

The plaintiff will attempt to prove that he was hired by McSpadden and that therefore McSpadden is responsible for the payment and not Rinehart. Biddle, it is said, does not deny giving his note to Rinehart for $7, and gives as a reason for not paying it that Rinehart failed to fulfill his agreement which was in regard to shafts for a buggy.

FOUND A SKULL

Boys Made Ghastly Discovery Among Rubbish in Thompson's Lane.

A human skull was found yesterday afternoon in Thompson's lane by four boys, Frank Conkle, Roy Green, Willie Wright and James Rich, who were playing among a pile of rubbish. The skull was taken to police headquarters last evening and a large number of people have carefully examined the ghastly find.

It is very small and is thought to be the skull of a woman or a child.

The petition now being circulated among the patrons of the Calcutta street car line asking for better service is directed to the city council instead of the car company, as stated by another newspaper. There are now more than 150 names attached to the petition and it will likely be presented to the council at its meeting Tuesday night. The petitioners ask council to compel the car company to improve the service.

POTTERS MADE VOTES COUNT

NOTABLE VICTORIES GAINED

From a Staff Correspondent

Trenton, N. J., November 8.—The administration of the affairs of the county and municipal governments will be placed in the hands of men closely allied with the pottery industry in this city. The Republicans carried the county by about 1,500 majority, electing Judge William M. Lanning for congress over Col. Louis Perrine. Democratic ideas of a reduction in the tariff did not appeal to the potters. The majority of the labor unions also opposed Perrine because of his attitude toward union labor while president of the Trenton Passenger Railway company. Perrine, during the panic of 1893 reduced the wages of his employes and openly opposed all attempts on the part of his men to form a union.

The stiffest fight that has ever been waged in the history of Mercer county was in the contest for sheriff, between Thomas H. Thrapp, Republican, and Joseph S Hoff, Democrat. Thrapp won by a majroity of 73. There is some talk of the Democrats contesting. Mr. Thrapp is president of the Eureka Flint and Spar company and a large stockholder in several potteries.

Charles H. Baker, president of the Ideal Pottery company, was elected county clerk over E. Fruman Hooper, the Democratic candidate, by a plurality of 1,579.

In the assembly contest Thomas Colclough, foreman of Thomas Maddock & Sons and at present councilman from the Thirteenth ward, was elected along with the other two Republican candidates.

James Braithwaite, one of the vice presidents of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, was re-elected excise commissioner after a close fight.

For the first time the Eighth ward, which is one of the potting districts of Trenton, elected a Democratic councilman. Nicholas Kanz owes his

FOUND A SKULL

Boys Made Ghastly Discovery Among Rubbish in Thompson's Lane.

A human skull was found yesterday afternoon in Thompson's lane by four boys, Frank Conkle, Roy Green, Willie Wright and James Rich, who were playing among a pile of rubbish. The skull was taken to police headquarters last evening and a large number of people have carefully examined the ghastly find.

It is very small and is thought to be the skull of a woman or a child.

The petition now being circulated among the patrons of the Calcutta street car line asking for better service is directed to the city council instead of the car company, as stated by another newspaper. There are now more than 150 names attached to the petition and it will likely be presented to the council at its meeting Tuesday night. The petitioners ask council to compel the car company to improve the service.

POTTERS MADE VOTES COUNT

Took a Decisive Part in the Election at Trenton on Tuesday.

NOTABLE VICTORIES GAINED

From a Staff Correspondent

Trenton, N. J., November 8.—The administration of the affairs of the county and municipal governments will be placed in the hands of men closely allied with the pottery industry in this city. The Republicans carried the county by about 1,500 majority, electing Judge William M. Lanning for congress over Col. Louis Perrine. Democratic ideas of a reduction in the tariff did not appeal to the potters. The majority of the labor unions also opposed Perrine because of his attitude toward union labor while president of the Trenton Passenger Railway company. Perrine, during the panic of 1893 reduced the wages of his employes and openly opposed all attempts on the part of his men to form a union.

The stiffest fight that has ever been waged in the history of Mercer county was in the contest for sheriff, between Thomas H. Thrapp, Republican, and Joseph S Hoff, Democrat. Thrapp won by a majroity of 73. There is some talk of the Democrats contesting. Mr. Thrapp is president of the Eureka Flint and Spar company and a large stockholder in several potteries.

Charles H. Baker, president of the Ideal Pottery company, was elected county clerk over E. Fruman Hooper, the Democratic candidate, by a plurality of 1,579.

In the assembly contest Thomas Colclough, foreman of Thomas Maddock & Sons and at present councilman from the Thirteenth ward, was elected along with the other two Republican candidates.

James Braithwaite, one of the vice presidents of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, was re-elected excise commissioner after a close fight.

For the first time the Eighth ward, which is one of the potting districts of Trenton, elected a Democratic councilman. Nicholas Kanz owes his

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

LUCKY RUNAWAY.

George Horner, bench boss in the biscuit end at the Buckeye, had quite an experience Thursday morning in a runaway. He was driving to his work from his home near Calcutta, and his horse became frightened and started to run, soon getting beyond his control. At Dead Man's lane he was thrown from the buggy but escaped without a scratch. The horse continued its flight on into town. Neither the horse or the buggy were injured and Mr. Horner considers it a very lucky runaway.

MRS. McKEEVER RETIRES.

Mrs. May McKeever, forelady of the glost warehouse at the Standard, has resigned her position and will retire from the business. During her term of service Mrs. McKeever has been an efficient forelady and popular with her crew, who will deeply regret her leaving them. Her able successor will be her sister, Miss Frances Peddicord, at present employed at a pottery in another city.

LOSS AND GAIN.

It is stated that since the shortage of kilnmen was noted and arrangements made to fill that shortage at least 45 apprentices were advanced from the kiln-drawing crews at the different shops. Local No. 9 will be strengthened by the addition of those 45 apprentices, giving a membership of at least 525. No. 17 will have its ranks depleted correspondingly.

CLAY HANDS HOPEFUL.

There was a slight interruption yesterday of the steady work at the Standard. In the morning the wheels of the gas engine that supplies the power to the jiggers refused to run and it was eleven o'clock before the ailment was effectually doctored. The jiggermen and almost all the other clay hands took the day off.

GOES TO SEBRING.

Andrew McCormick, who has been helping temporarily as finisher at the Goodwin pottery, has received an offer from Sebring as dish maker and he has concluded to accept it. He will leave for that town Monday. Mr. McCormick is one of the best in the business and Sebring is fortunate in securing him.

MOVING TO BARBERTON.

Mrs. Mary Rigby and daughters, Gertrude, of the decorating room at the Dresden, and Millie, of the decorating room at the Union, will leave this city next week to locate in Barberton. Both of the young ladies have excellent situations in the big pottery there.

NEW DIPPER AT GOODWIN'S.

Harry C. Gardner, of Beaver Falls, Pa., has located in this city and is to be found at the Goodwin, where he is holding a position as dipper, succeeding Charles Green, who moved to Toronto. Mr. Gardner is an affable gentleman and will prove to be popular with pottery men.

GREEN HAS RESIGNED.

Mr. Charles Green, well known among the pottery men, has resigned his position as dipper at Goodwin's, and has taken a similiar position with the Toronto China company. His departure from this city will be regretted by all his friends and associates.

IN THE BUSINESS AGAIN.

Thomas Hancock, will known in pottery circles all over the district, and who has been out of the business for quite a lengthy period, started Friday at Goodwin's, as a ground layer in the decorating department. He will be universally welcomed back to the business.

WILL LOCATE HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pedmore, of Sebring, will move to this city early next week and will take a house in Gardendale. Mr. Pedmore is a well known decorating kilnman and it is understood will be employed at D. E. McNicol's.

SYSTEM NOT PERFECT.

The new sprinkling system at the Dresden was given a trial and it was found that many of the pipes were leaking. To remove the pipes it is thought will delay the crew placing them, and the work will hardly be completed for at least three weeks.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Barney Carr starts Monday as presser at the Standard.

Tom O'Rourke started this week as presser at the Standard.

John Wines, of the biscuit end at Goodwin's, has been off sick this week.

Miss Maude Highfield has accepted a situation in the decorating room at the Standard.

Miss Nellie Bennett, a taker-off in the dipping department at Goodwin's, has resigned.

William Blake, the well known presser, has accepted a situation with the Pioneer at Wellsville.

Misses Annie Carney and Rachel Jones, dressers at the Standard, are working out their notice.

Misses Annie Ward and Stella Muncey, of the decorating room at Goodwin's, are Pittsburg visitors today.

Miss Annie Maley, of the East Liverpool, entertained a number of her friends Thursday evening at her home on Fifth street.

Misses Sarah Turner and Clara Tice, of the dipping department at Goodwin's, will spend Sunday with friends at New Cumberland.

Lewis Shively and Mott Magaley, warehouse boys at the Standard, have resigned and were succeeded by Harry Anderson and D. Hinds.

Edward Court, who has been working as kiln drawer at the K. T. & K., has gone in the biscuit end at Goodwin's, as apprentice kilnhand.

Miss Mary Conlay, the rubber for the printer at the Standard, was unable to work yesterday, owing to sickness and the printer was compelled to take a vacation.

E. V. Reed, boss odd man at Goodwin's, is the boss walnut picker in town. He has now about twenty barrels stored away for the winter, all of which he gathered himself.

George Barnhart, L. G. Moffatt, Frank Robinson and David Knight and Misses Jennie and Laura Pool, are taking a holiday today and are spending it over back of Chester, persimmon hunting.

Thomas Hancock, a dipper, and John Bucey, a helper in the dipping department at the Standard, are making a trip to Pittsburg today. They have their cameras along and expect to get some fine views.

BOAT STEALING CASE

A Trial at Steubenville in Which East Liverpool Men Appear as Witnesses.

Steubenville, November 8.—Rand Culver, who is charged with stealing a boat, is having his inning in court. He is fighting the charge against him with the aid of E. E. Erskine and Nelson Miller, but so far only the witnesses for the state have been heard, some of whom were brought from East Liverpool, where the authorities refused to prosecute the case. The man who owned the boat was on the stand and an effort is being made to show that Culver was one of the men who took the boat from its moorings at East Liverpool. So far none of the defendant's witnesses have been heard, but some interesting developments are expected, and it is possible that an alibi will be proven.

If Culver is not convicted he must face a charge of shooting with intent to kill or wound, as he was indicted on this charge also, having, it is alleged, open fire on the officers at Brilliant. Culver denies this and claims to have held his revolver in his hand without shooting.

When Culver's case is ended, his comrade, Peter Slavinsky, will be tried on the same charges, larceny and shooting with intent to kill or wound. Both Culver and Slavinsky claim that they got off a freight train near Brilliant, and went to the river where there was a fire. The boat was moored nearby and to get clear water they walked into it. It was while they were camping near the boat that the officers swooped down upon them, and a general shooting scrape was the result, Slavinsky being shot in the shoulder.

PLOWING WITH ELEPHANTS

Barnum's Reply to the Farmer Who Asked Whether It Would Pay.

It may be said of P. T. Barnum that he was the major domo or lord of laughter and fun, the protean dispenser of amusement. How well he became known through this function one curious incident certifies. Some years before he died an obscure person in some remote part of Asia wrote a letter, which he dropped in the postoffice near him, directed to "Mr. Barnum, America." The letter reached its destination without an hour's delay. The great showman unaffectedly enjoyed being known from the very beginning of his celebrity, and when he found his celebrity was a tremendous factor in his success he did everything that he could think of to extend the exploitation of his name. This was not to nourish vain imaginings or because he felt exalted. It was to promote business.

Around his successive homes at Bridgeport, Conn., he was fond of putting something that suggested a show. Queerly marked cattle, the sacred cow or an elephant was frequently among the stock to be noticed in his fields. On one occasion he had an elephant engaged in plowing on the sloping hill where it could be plainly seen by the passengers on the New Haven and Hartford railroad, an agricultural innovation that he knew would get notice of some sort in every newspaper in the country. It was even said that he received letters from farmers far and wide asking how much hay one elephant ate and if it was more profitable to plow with an elephant than with horses or oxen. His replies were invariably frank and were of this purport: If you have a large museum in New York and a great railway sends trains full of passengers within eyeshot of the performance, it will pay, and pay well, but if you have no such institution then horses and oxen will prove more economical.—Joel Benton in Century.

The Sea Trout.

The gamest of salt water fish, after the striped bass, is the weakfish, or sea trout. The sport of angling for them is generally enhanced because, feeding as they generally do near the surface, it is possible to fish for them with light tackle. The best places to find them in the vicinity of New York are Jamaica bay, the southwestern shore of Staten Island and the mouth of the Shrewsbury river. While they have been caught weighing upward of twenty pounds, a six or ten pounder is a good size, and the average will only run from one to two and a half. There is never any doubt when a weakfish bites. He does not nibble around the hook, but takes the bait at one fair swoop and then starts off with it like a limited express with time to make up. He is a shy fish, and the man who uses a small line, light leaders and snells to his hook and keeps quiet while fishing is the one who is apt to have the best luck.—Country Life In America.

When Jackson Dined!

While the dinner hour still clings to the noontime among country people it has advanced in the cities until now it occurs at any time between noon and midnight. And that reminds us, says the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, of one of the many stories about Colonel Davy Crockett. While he was a member of congress and was at his home in Tennessee some one asked him about the dinner hour in Washington. He said the common people ate dinner at 12, the next above them at 1, the merchants at 2, the representatives at 3, the senators at 4, members of the cabinet at 5 and the vice president at 6. "But when does the president dine?" "What! Old Hickory?" said Crockett, anxious to fix a time that would suit his idea of Jackson's greatness. "Well, he don't eat till next day!"

All That Was Necessary.

"You must abandon all business cares for the future," says the physician.

"But I fear that I have not yet accumulated sufficient money," protests the multimillionaire.

"Sufficient?" repeats the doctor. "Why, my dear sir, you have enough money to pay physicians' fees for the rest of your life!"—Baltimore American.

Rented the Enemy.

In some of the London courts there are private dining rooms reserved for the exclusive use of the legal fraternity. Into one of these rooms one day there bustled a gaunt female who on being courteously approached by a junior counsel flatly declined to leave. Thereupon an unblushing Q. MINNIE DUPREE, SUCCESSFUL STAR.

The Dainty Little Actress Scores In the Pretty Comedy, "A Rose o' Plymouth Town."

A sweet, simple story of a little Plymouth settlement under Captain Miles Standish is told in "A Rose o' Plymouth Town." As Rose de la Noye, Minnie Dupree appeared for the first time as a star and was almost overcome at the warmth of the reception accorded her. Miss Dupree has often evidenced her ability before a New York audience, but the first night of a starring venture must be a trying time. The hearty sympathy of a friendly audience was attested, and the little actress was most gracious in her appreciation. She "made good" and was fascinating in her rendition of the role of Rose de la Noye. She played naturally, and, as she impersonated a French girl, who was unlike the real Puritans, she was permitted to show much brightness and piquancy, which in those saintly days in her demure surroundings were something of a shock.

The play is not a great one, nor will it place its authors, Beulah Marie Dix and Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland, on the top rung of the ladder of fame. But it is interesting, bright, clean, pure and affords pleasing diversion for an evening. Mothers may take their daughters and not be afraid to talk of the play afterward, and that is certainly unique in these days.

The cast was good, the setting beautiful and the details timely in every respect, except for the too up to date slipper Miriam wears, which is removed by Philippe and seen by the audience. Trifles like this jar in other wise suitable surroundings. Guy Bates Post was not good as the hero, Garrett Foster, and I could not help wishing that the part had been given to Bennet Sturgis, who instead was cast for John Margeson. The handsomer man and to my mind the better actor should have been the hero, and Mr. Post has a sinister face which would convey the bad man better. When he says he loves Rose, his looks belie him. Mrs. Sol Smith and Augustus Cook, respectively as Aunt Resolute Story and Miles Standish, left nothing to be desired. The others of the cast were competent and assisted the success of a delightful whole.

Broadway has at least one play based on a motive that is not only unique, but refreshingly, genuinely human. This is "Mrs. Jack," one of the season's successes. Mrs. Jack is a big, wholesome, breezy western woman, who has just inherited as the action opens the millions of Jack Banastar, from whom she has been separated. Mr. Jack, it is intimated, was impossible as a husband, but with all his faults he was a good fellow, and Mrs. Jack determines to be "a consistent widow." Early in the first act she arrives at the Banastar mansion in New York and immediately horrifies Jack's snobbish sister by announcing that she intends to spend Jack's money just as Jack would have spent it. This she proceeds to do. All of Jack's old retainers and followers, among them an ex-prizefighter, a bad actor and an unrecognized Irish aunt, Mrs. Jack takes under her wing. She invites them to dinner with her aristocratic sister-in-law. She carries out all of Jack's promises. Society snubs and ridicules her, and she laughs at society. All of this makes possible a series of delicious comedy situations which are unhackneyed, thoroughly wholesome and, above all, intensely human.

MINNIE DUPREE AS ROSE DE LA NOYE.

David Baxter, the eminent young Scotch basso, has been secured for a concert tour in this country. Mr. Baxter has never before visited America, but he is known in Europe as one of the greatest artists in his line now before the public. He was born in Dundee and educated at the university there for the profession of engineering. A strong predilection for music, however, decided him to cultivate his talent, and his success on the concert stage was immediate and pronounced. He was the only bass engaged to sing at the great Scotch concert at the time of the coronation in London. Mr. Baxter has an immense repertory for recital, oratorio and concert appearances. Besides the exclusively Scotch programmes of which he makes a specialty, Handel, Mozart, Gluck, Franz, Verdi, Schubert, Schumann and Tschaikowsky are among the composers upon whom he draws. He is said to have a mellow, flexible, musical voice of great compass. MARY A. BARTOW.

Society and Companionship.

The privilege of having some one with whom we may exchange a few rational words every day, as Emerson phrases it, is the choicest gift in life. We are rich in society and yet poor in companionship. In the overflow of chatter we are starved for conversation. Social life is so largely an affair of representation, it inclines so largely to the spectacular and to what its chroniclers designate as "social functions," that the element of conversational intercourse is almost eliminated. Yet, primarily, is not that the supreme object of all friendly meeting? When we reduce to first principles this complex thing called living, do we not go to our friend solely to talk with him? Do we not invite him solely that we may exchange ideas and compare views on subjects of mutual interest? Still, as things go, people meet all through a season in the midst of groups and throngs—at dinners, receptions, entertainments of all kinds—without exchanging one word in the way of true intercourse.—Exchange.

Swift Was a Dunce at School.

Not only philosophers and divines, but some of the most trenchant satirists and brilliant humorists were dull enough as boys. It has been said of Swift in his best days that "he displayed either the blasting lightning of satire or the lambent and meteorlike caricatures of frollesome humor." And yet this vigorous disputant was considered a fit subject for a fool's cap at school. Afterward at the Dublin university "he was by scholars esteemed a blockhead," who was denied his degree on his first application and obtained it with great difficulty on the second.—London Standard.

Trifles like this jar in otherwise suitable surroundings. Guy Bates Post was not good as the hero, Garrett Foster, and I could not help wishing that the part had been given to Bennet Sturgis, who instead was cast for John Margeson. The handsomer man and to my mind the better actor should have been the hero, and Mr. Post has a sinister face which would convey the bad man better. When he says he loves Rose, his looks belie him. Mrs. Sol Smith and Augustus Cook, respectively as Aunt Resolute Story and Miles Standish, left nothing to be desired. The others of the cast were competent and assisted the success of a delightful whole.

Broadway has at least one play based on a motive that is not only unique, but refreshingly, genuinely human. This is "Mrs. Jack," one of the season's successes. Mrs. Jack is a big, wholesome, breezy western woman, who has just inherited as the action opens the millions of Jack Banastar, from whom she has been separated. Mr. Jack, it is intimated, was impossible as a husband, but with all his faults he was a good fellow, and Mrs. Jack determines to be "a consistent widow." Early in the first act she arrives at the Banastar mansion in New

MINNIE DUPREE AS ROSE DE LA NOYE.

York and immediately horrifies Jack's snobbish sister by announcing that she intends to spend Jack's money just as Jack would have spent it. This she proceeds to do. All of Jack's old retainers and followers, among them an ex-prizefighter, a bad actor and an unrecognized Irish aunt, Mrs. Jack takes under her wing. She invites them to dinner with her aristocratic sister-in-law. She carries out all of Jack's promises. Society snubs and ridicules her, and she laughs at society. All of this makes possible a series of delicious comedy situations which are unhackneyed, thoroughly wholesome and, above all, intensely human.

David Baxter, the eminent young Scotch basso, has been secured for a concert tour in this country. Mr. Baxter has never before visited America, but he is known in Europe as one of the greatest artists in his line now before the public. He was born in Dundee and educated at the university there for the profession of engineering. A strong predilection for music, however, decided him to cultivate his talent, and his success on the concert stage was immediate and pronounced. He was the only bass engaged to sing at the great Scotch concert at the time of the coronation in London. Mr. Baxter has an immense repertory for recital, oratorio and concert appearances. Besides the exclusively Scotch programmes of which he makes a specialty, Handel, Mozart, Gluck, Franz, Verdi, Schubert, Schumann and Tschaikowsky are among the composers upon whom he draws. He is said to have a mellow, flexible, musical voice of great compass. MARY A. BARTOW.

Society and Companionship.

The privilege of having some one with whom we may exchange a few rational words every day, as Emerson phrases it, is the choicest gift in life. We are rich in society and yet poor in companionship. In the overflow of chatter we are starved for conversation. Social life is so largely an affair of representation, it inclines so largely to the spectacular and to what its chroniclers designate as "social functions," that the element of conversational intercourse is almost eliminated. Yet, primarily, is not that the supreme object of all friendly meeting? When we reduce to first principles this complex thing called living, do we not go to our friend solely to talk with him? Do we not invite him solely that we may exchange ideas and compare views on subjects of mutual interest? Still, as things go, people meet all through a season in the midst of groups and throngs—at dinners, receptions, entertainments of all kinds—without exchanging one word in the way of true intercourse.—Exchange.

Swift Was a Dunce at School.

Not only philosophers and divines, but some of the most trenchant satirists and brilliant humorists were dull enough as boys. It has been said of Swift in his best days that "he displayed either the blasting lightning of satire or the lambent and meteorlike caricatures of frolicsome humor." And yet this vigorous disputant was considered a fit subject for a fool's cap at school. Afterward at the Dublin university "he was by scholars esteemed a blockhead," who was denied his degree on his first application and obtained it with great difficulty on the second.—London Standard.

NOV. 15, THE LAST DAY

For Free Medical Services.

Owing to the vast number of invalids who have availed themselves of the free service proposition, the British Doctors find they will be compelled to withdraw their generous offer on the above date. Over two hundred grateful persons have taken advantage of the doctors' free offer, which is sufficient evidence that persons suffering with chronic diseases know they can receive better results under the care of specialists who have had lifelong experience in their treatment alone.

All professional services and minor surgical operations are entirely free for three months (medicines excepted) to those calling for treatment before November 15th

All forms of male and female weakness, catarrh and catarrhal deafness, diseases of the heart, stomach, nervous system, lungs and blood. Rheumatism, cancer and rectal diseases are cured rapidly by the new treatment.

One of the unexpected results of the extension of the rural free delivery service is the discontinuance of postoffices in the smaller rural communities. As a result of the extensions of the service last year 1,903 postoffices were discontinued, effecting a saving in the salaries of postmasters aggregating $116,807. Thousands of farmers now have no reason for going to town once or twice a week, yet their contact with the world of industrial and intellectual activity is more intimate and direct than it used to be.

The bureau of forestry in its latest report shows that there are now in the United States 54 forest preserves, embracing more than 60,000,000 acres. This is a gain of 14,000,000 acres over the preceding report and is most encouraging. Government, in its effort to encourage scientific forestry and to prevent needless waste of woodland, is doing a most important work and should meet with the hearty co-operation of states, municipalities, societies and individuals.

The United States senate is likely to be the scene of a fight like that which kept Roberts out of the house. Smoot, a Utah Mormon and an alleged polygamist, is practically conceded election to the senate. Plans are already being formulated to keep him from being seated. The senate, ever jealous of its reputation, ought to see that no man becomes a member of that body who is not willing to obey all the laws of the United States.

If Chinese government reports are to be believed, the Boxers are meeting the fate they have invited. But a Chinese report that tells the truth is about as rare as a November strawberry. China will have to maintain a firm hand and keep her official headsman busy if she wants to retrieve her lost reputation and prove that she has a government that can govern.

A cable message, sent around the world by a Boston man, reached him 39 hours and 20 minutes after it started. As it went through Western Union hands a considerable portion of the distance the cable companies should not bear all the blame for the slowness.

Chairman Garber, of the Ohio Democratic committee, calls John R. McLean a Benedict Arnold. The McLean forces call Tom Johnson a traitor. Slowly the reading public is getting at the truth, but Democratic harmony is still a remote and barren ideality.

James K. Jones is confident that Democratic victory for 1904 is in the air. So it is; in the "hot air" of his imagination. James K. is the man whom the inventive genius who wants to extract sunbeams from cucumbers ought to employ.

Dr. Harper observes that the church is "alienating the rich." If this is true it is a less calamity than alienating the poor would be. Give it a strong hold on the humble and religion would be abundantly able to take care of itself.

Purity of English in official documents is being advocated by one of the corporation counsel of the city of New York. This is all very well, but in other lines purity would be much better, if the metropolis could get it.

A few people in Ohio would rather run the great risks of smallpox than the small risks of vaccination, but the law and the medical fraternity give them no support in their untenable position.

If one-half of the Wabash railroads which the newspaper correspondents are projecting in this vicinity ever materialize a glut of freight in Ohio ought to be an absolute impossibility.

A Kansas pastor used a phonograph to produce sacred music at a funeral. Here appears to be a useful hint to churches whose choirs engage in strikes and strife.

Colonel William J. Bryan is now reported to be worth $100,000. Predicting calamity for profit has not been, like his political career, a complete failure.

Gubernatorial candidates in the Republican party in Ohio are becoming numerous enough to supply the demand for the whole country.

Quay is again talking of retiring from politics. It will be observed that he always uses the future tense when engaged in that sort of talk.

Count Boni de Castellane has been ruled out of the French chamber of deputies. His reputation has not suffered, as he had none left.

With Colorado, Montana, Nebraska and Idaho back in the Republican fold, where are the silver states?

A gratifying feature of the election returns is that Senator Mason finds no trace of comfort in them.

Hyams Well Equipped For Doing It Right, Promptly And Reasonably.

One of the best equipped and most up-to-date plumbing establishments in this section of the state has lately been opened in East Liverpool, and all progressive residents are to be congratulated in consequence.

We refer to the spanking new concern of D. J. Hyams, in 161 Summit Lane, just off of Market, street, in the most densely populated section of the city. The stock of supplies for gas, steam and hot water fitting is new and absolutely unlimited, the building is new and the management is courteous and thoroughly conversant with the needs and demands of the public in this line.

Mr. Hyams is no stranger to the East Liverpool people, having been at the head of the plumbing and steam fitting department of one of the largest establishments in East Liverpool. As is the rule in every case, when a mechanic becomes a thorough master of his art he can better serve the trade when doing business for himself. This is precisely what Mr. Hyams has accomplished, and his storeroom and workshop is second to none.

Being a practical man in every sense of the word, Mr. Hyams has surrounded himself with a class of workmen who are perfect masters of their trade, and can be trusted in any emergency. Thus equipped the concern is in a position to meet the demands of the builders in a thorough and acceptable manner, no matter how large the contract, and as positive proof of this Mr. Hyams asks only to be given a chance to demonstrate the fact by being permitted to figure on your work.

election not so much to his own popularity as to a concerted movement on the part of the potters to defeat Thomas Baddley, his opponent.

In the strike of 1893 Baddley, a pottery worker, refused to go out with the rest of the men.

George Tunnicliffe, the Republican councilman of the Twelfth ward, for many years has had charge of the decorating shop at the Greenwood pottery.

John Brian who, along with Kanz, will represent the Eighth ward, is a member of the Elite Pottery company, and recently a stockholder in the Keystone pottery.

Pottery, lamp and glass establishments are all fairly supplied with business. This is particularly true of the potteries. Several of them are working nights. Practically everything new this season in crockery, whether in shape or decorative effect, has been a winner. The hotel china trade never before attained such proportions and the makers of porcelain, white granite and C. C. goods are busier by far than last season.

The local pottery owners are looking forward for a visit from Edward Stewart, a government agent, who is now on his rounds inspecting industries throughout the country.

The organization of a department of clay working and ceramics at Rutgers college, as provided for by the legislative enactment appropriating $12,000 for the purpose, has been put in charge of Cullen W. Parmelee, instructor in chemistry, during the year, and is rapidly advancing under his supervision. A suitable building has been constructed, a kiln erected, and complete apparatus for the manufacture of tile, brick and pottery purchased. Moreover, a laboratory for the study of the clay worker's problems is being equipped. Two seniors have already begun work in the department, and it is expected that everything will be in working order by November 15.

It is reported here that George Shroppshire, a former Trenton potter, has resigned his position with one of the Wheeling potteries to become director of the decorating department of a large glass and lamp factory in Lancaster, Pa.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is putting in new sidings in the rear of the Greenwood potteries.

The Masonic celebration of the sesqui-centennial of General George Washington's initiation as a Free and Accepted Mason, in Philadelphia, was marked by the presentation of handsome souvenir plates to the guests. The plates were made by the Mercer Pottery company, and were designed by John Pope, superintendent of the art department of the Mercer pottery. The border is an exact reproduction of a dinner set given George Washington by the Society of Cincinnati. It is considered one of the best specimens of Deft or blue ware extant. The blue used is pronounced equal to the the best from England.

CREAMERY LITIGATION

Dispute Over the Dungannon Establishment's Affairs Reaches Circuit Court.

Lisbon, November 8.—(Special.)—The case of the Dungannon Co-Operative Creamery company, in which a dissolution of the corporation is asked, was presented to the circuit court yesterday by Attorney J. M. Dickinson. A petition was filed in 1901 by more than one-fifth of the stockholders, asking that the corporation be dissolved. It was further set forth that the company was getting deeper in debt, having then an indebtedness of over $800, while the capital stock was only $3,600.

A dissolution of the company, it was held, would injure no public interest. The court of common pleas appointed a referee in the matter, who took testimony covering several hundred pages, giving a financial statement. The judge of common pleas court refused to appoint a receiver.

POTTERS MADE VOTES COUNT

election not so much to his own popularity as to a concerted movement on the part of the potters to defeat Thomas Baddley, his opponent.

In the strike of 1893 Baddley, a pottery worker, refused to go out with the rest of the men.

George Tunnicliffe, the Republican councilman of the Twelfth ward, for many years has had charge of the decorating shop at the Greenwood pottery.

John Brian who, along with Kanz, will represent the Eighth ward, is a member of the Elite Pottery company, and recently a stockholder in the Keystone pottery.

Pottery, lamp and glass establishments are all fairly supplied with business. This is particularly true of the potteries. Several of them are working nights. Practically everything new this season in crockery, whether in shape or decorative effect, has been a winner. The hotel china trade never before attained such proportions and the makers of porcelain, white granite and C. C. goods are busier by far than last season.

The local pottery owners are looking forward for a visit from Edward Stewart, a government agent, who is now on his rounds inspecting industries throughout the country.

The organization of a department of clay working and ceramics at Rutgers college, as provided for by the legislative enactment appropriating $12,000 for the purpose, has been put in charge of Cullen W. Parmelee, instructor in chemistry, during the year, and is rapidly advancing under his supervision. A suitable building has been constructed, a kiln erected, and complete apparatus for the manufacture of tile, brick and pottery purchased. Moreover, a laboratory for the study of the clay worker's problems is being equipped. Two seniors have already begun work in the department, and it is expected that everything will be in working order by November 15.

It is reported here that George Shroppshire, a former Trenton potter, has resigned his position with one of the Wheeling potteries to become director of the decorating department of a large glass and lamp factory in Lancaster, Pa.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is putting in new sidings in the rear of the Greenwood potteries.

The Masonic celebration of the sesqui-centennial of General George Washington's initiation as a Free and Accepted Mason, in Philadelphia, was marked by the presentation of handsome souvenir plates to the guests. The plates were made by the Mercer Pottery company, and were designed by John Pope, superintendent of the art department of the Mercer pottery. The border is an exact reproduction of a dinner set given George Washington by the Society of Cincinnati. It is considered one of the best specimens of Deft or blue ware extant. The blue used is pronounced equal to the the best from England.

CREAMERY LITIGATION

Dispute Over the Dungannon Establishment's Affairs Reaches Circuit Court.

Lisbon, November 8.—(Special.)—The case of the Dungannon Co-Operative Creamery company, in which a dissolution of the corporation is asked, was presented to the circuit court yesterday by Attorney J. M. Dickinson. A petition was filed in 1901 by more than one-fifth of the stockholders, asking that the corporation be dissolved. It was further set forth that the company was getting deeper in debt, having then an indebtedness of over $800, while the capital stock was only $3,600.

A dissolution of the company, it was held, would injure no public interest. The court of common pleas appointed a referee in the matter, who took testimony covering several hundred pages, giving a financial statement. The judge of common pleas court refused to appoint a receiver.

VIEW OF TORONTO

AND ITS MAYOR, WHO IS ALSO AN M. E. PREACHER.

Sells Sewing Machines And Real Estate And Fines Saloonists Without Mercy.

A staff correspondent of the Cleveland Press thus writes up Toronto and its ministerial mayor: This is one of those Ohio river towns that extend "three miles along the river and as far back as you can see." They are built on shelves near the river level, and the view back from the stream, owing to the hills, ranges from two to six blocks. A busy population of 4,500, thriving industries and a promised oil boom are all matters of civil pride, but the crowning glory of Toronto is the most versatile mayor in Ohio.

The crown rests lightly, yet firmly, upon the blond locks of Charles E. Miller. He has been mayor since a year ago last spring. He is a licensed minister of the Methodist church, and often serves as a temporary substitute for regular pastors. He is president of the Northeastern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's association. He sings in the choir of the First M. E. church. He holds membership in Toronto Volunteer Hose company No. 2. He is a member of a real estate firm. He also sells sewing machines. All of these honors, occupations and diversions have been crowded into 33 years.

Whether it be a fire, religious revival, business boom or an affair of state, Mayor Miller is to be found in the forefront.

His comparative youth and religious tendencies caused a good deal of a scare when the Republicans swept him into office last year. He has, however, avoided the sensational, and has given the town a conservative, able administration. He doubled the police force, and it now consists of two men. He placed the force in uniform. Saloonists were for a long time careful to observe the law, but finally became careless as to the hours for closing. When arraigned before the young mayor they got the maximum penalty—$50 fine. They protested that the penalty was excessive, but that they could stand monthly fine of about $25. Miller said he proposed to make it unprofitable to keep open outside of legal hours, and that the limit of $50 would be the standard fine. That discouraged the saloonists, and they have threatened to make a political rumpus when Miller runs again next spring. The threat does not seem to worry him. He will seek indorsement because of the progress and economy that have marked his administration.

H. H. Shirer, professor of pedagogics in Heidelberg university, Tiffin, has been chosen to succeed Joseph H. Byers as secretary of the board of state charities. Byers on December 1 will become warden of the intermediate penitentiary of Indiana. He has made a splendid official. He succeeded his father upon his death as secretary of the board. The position has been in the family for many years.

State Printer Mark Slater has returned from Dayton and has announced upon Congressman Nevin's authority that the latter will be a candidate for governor next year. He will begin his canvass at once and will be the first to enter the field. He was a candidate for governor in the convention which nominated Judge Nash, and was third in the race, Harry Daugherty, the brilliant young leader of Fayette, being second.

The Democratic state central committee will meet in this city early in January and undertake the herculean task of reorganizing and rejuvenating the party. Tracers have been sent out to gather in the fragments of the party which have been scattered to the four winds, and if enough can be recovered an attempt will be made to go through the motion of opposing the Republicans in next year's campaign.

Special Counsel Smith M. Bennett is at work on a brief which he will submit in the case of Clayton against the state, involving the right of the Mansfield reformatory managers to transfer prisoners to the penitentiary. The case will be heard on November 10.

A very wholesome oyster supper was served last evening in the city hall, under the auspices of the Knights of the Maccabees, Advance tent, No. 501, from 4:30 to 8 p. m. The supper tickets were 25 cents. A large crowd enjoyed the repast and a neat sum was cleared by the lodge.

A large crowd attended, the greater portion being East Liverpool people. Several from New Cumberland also attended. From the dance and the supper the lodge made considerable money and will now be able to get out of debt.

J. H. Morehead, A. D. Matteson, E. W. Riddle, T. J. Blackwood and J. H. Hill comprised the committee on arrangements for the affair and were very successful. The street railway furnished extra cars.

A Good Thing for Wellsville.

The county commissioners arrived in this city at noon yesterday, and after inspecting the new road made by Anderson Bros. accepted it. The new road is one of the best improvements that this city has had for several years. It runs from Steubenville street, near the intersection of Twenty-third street, around the hill to the Flat school house, where it joins the old Irondale county road. It is a new outlet for the city and will be the means of bringing many country people into the town who have heretofore gone elsewhere.

AND ITS MAYOR, WHO IS ALSO AN M. E. PREACHER.

Sells Sewing Machines And Real Estate And Fines Saloonists Without Mercy.

A staff correspondent of the Cleveland Press thus writes up Toronto and its ministerial mayor: This is one of those Ohio river towns that extend "three miles along the river and as far back as you can see." They are built on shelves near the river level, and the view back from the stream, owing to the hills, ranges from two to six blocks. A busy population of 4,500, thriving industries and a promised oil boom are all matters of civil pride, but the crowning glory of Toronto is the most versatile mayor in Ohio.

The crown rests lightly, yet firmly, upon the blond locks of Charles E. Miller. He has been mayor since a year ago last spring. He is a licensed minister of the Methodist church, and often serves as a temporary substitute for regular pastors. He is president of the Northeastern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's association. He sings in the choir of the First M. E. church. He holds membership in Toronto Volunteer Hose company No. 2. He is a member of a real estate firm. He also sells sewing machines. All of these honors, occupations and diversions have been crowded into 33 years.

Whether it be a fire, religious revival, business boom or an affair of state, Mayor Miller is to be found in the forefront.

His comparative youth and religious tendencies caused a good deal of a scare when the Republicans swept him into office last year. He has, however, avoided the sensational, and has given the town a conservative, able administration. He doubled the police force, and it now consists of two men. He placed the force in uniform. Saloonists were for a long time careful to observe the law, but finally became careless as to the hours for closing. When arraigned before the young mayor they got the maximum penalty—$50 fine. They protested that the penalty was excessive, but that they could stand monthly fine of about $25. Miller said he proposed to make it unprofitable to keep open outside of legal hours, and that the limit of $50 would be the standard fine. That discouraged the saloonists, and they have threatened to make a political rumpus when Miller runs again next spring. The threat does not seem to worry him. He will seek indorsement because of the progress and economy that have marked his administration.

H. H. Shirer, professor of pedagogics in Heidelberg university, Tiffin, has been chosen to succeed Joseph H. Byers as secretary of the board of state charities. Byers on December 1 will become warden of the intermediate penitentiary of Indiana. He has made a splendid official. He succeeded his father upon his death as secretary of the board. The position has been in the family for many years.

State Printer Mark Slater has returned from Dayton and has announced upon Congressman Nevin's authority that the latter will be a candidate for governor next year. He will begin his canvass at once and will be the first to enter the field. He was a candidate for governor in the convention which nominated Judge Nash, and was third in the race, Harry Daugherty, the brilliant young leader of Fayette, being second.

The Democratic state central committee will meet in this city early in January and undertake the herculean task of reorganizing and rejuvenating the party. Tracers have been sent out to gather in the fragments of the party which have been scattered to the four winds, and if enough can be recovered an attempt will be made to go through the motion of opposing the Republicans in next year's campaign.

Special Counsel Smith M. Bennett is at work on a brief which he will submit in the case of Clayton against the state, involving the right of the Mansfield reformatory managers to transfer prisoners to the penitentiary. The case will be heard on November 10.

Lost

The Use of Arm. Heart Trouble.

Could Not Eat, Sleep or Walk.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Entirely.

"If it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Remedies I would not be here to write this letter. Two years ago last June I lost the use of my left arm, could not use it and could only move it with the help of my right hand. My heart was so weak I could not sleep nights for smothering spells. I was out of sorts all over and could eat nothing. I grew so weak that I could not walk without staggering like a drunken man and my home doctor said he could do nothing for me. I was in so much pain I was almost wild. I could not take morphine nor opium as they made me worse. So I got to thinking about Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and the more I thought about it the more I wanted to try them. I wrote to the Dr. Miles Medical Co. for advice which I followed to the letter. I can say today that I am glad I did as I am a well woman now; can work and can walk two or three miles and not mind it. I can also use my arm again as well as ever. You do not know how thankful I am for those grand medicines Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nervine. I think Dr. Miles' Remedies are the best in the world, and if I should get sick again I should take the same course. The remedies also helped my daughter Vida so wonderfully that I should have written you before to thank you, but I wanted to be sure that the cure was permanent, which I now know to be the case."—Mrs. Frank Loomis, Allen, Mich.

Lost

Could Not Eat, Sleep or Walk.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Entirely.

"If it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Remedies I would not be here to write this letter. Two years ago last June I lost the use of my left arm, could not use it and could only move it with the help of my right hand. My heart was so weak I could not sleep nights for smothering spells. I was out of sorts all over and could eat nothing. I grew so weak that I could not walk without staggering like a drunken man and my home doctor said he could do nothing for me. I was in so much pain I was almost wild. I could not take morphine nor opium as they made me worse. So I got to thinking about Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and the more I thought about it the more I wanted to try them. I wrote to the Dr. Miles Medical Co. for advice which I followed to the letter. I can say today that I am glad I did as I am a well woman now; can work and can walk two or three miles and not mind it. I can also use my arm again as well as ever. You do not know how thankful I am for those grand medicines Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nervine. I think Dr. Miles' Remedies are the best in the world, and if I should get sick again I should take the same course. The remedies also helped my daughter Vida so wonderfully that I should have written you before to thank you, but I wanted to be sure that the cure was permanent, which I now know to be the case."—Mrs. Frank Loomis, Allen, Mich.

FAMOUS GOODWOOD.

Something About a Historic English Race Course.

The Goodwood race course is quite unique. It is a long way from a station and is not near any town, says the London Tatler. It is on a hill the top of which is shaped like a horseshoe, the space between the two horns being represented by a deep ravine. The course runs round the horseshoe, the start being at the end of one horn and the finish at the end of the other. The result of this is that the equestrians who on other courses contrive to see both start and finish by the simple process of riding across while the race is in progress cannot do so at Goodwood. They must elect which they will see and remain there. On the other hand, the course is very easy to follow with glasses.

The races as an institution are comparatively modern, but there must have been hunt races and matches on this course since the days of William III., when we hear of the Goodwood hunt as in existence. In 1800, however, the then Duke of Richmond made a new course, which is practically the present one. In 1801 the course was completed, and in order to celebrate this a regular meeting was got up by the duke with the assistance of the hunt and some officers of the Sussex militia and yeomanry, and prizes to the value of about £1,000 were put up. This meant a good sum in those days. This was the first Goodwood meeting of importance, and from that year it became an annual event.

A Walking Fern.

Most ferns are confirmed travelers. New fern leaves grow out from the underground roots some distance away from the old plant. The average observer scarcely notices this, but there is a native fern that steps off at so lively a pace that its odd habit has long furnished one of the unceasing entertainments of the woods. The walking fern often carpets ledges and tops of shaded rocks. The slender, tufted leaf fronds are singularly unfernlike in appearance. They squirm about and "walk" by declining their taper tips to the soil and taking root there and growing. In time clusters of new leaf fronds spring from such rooted tips. By and by some of these, too, bite the earth and, taking root, start still other colonies, which in turn will continue the progress again and again. Naturally, with the lapse of time, the connection between the older tufts and the younger becomes broken, yet one sometimes finds series of three or four linked together, representing as many steps in the pretty ramble.—Country Life In America.

A Hint to Mothers of Small Children.

Mrs. Joshua Nutter, of Swiftwater, N. H., says: "When our dealer did not have Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in stock we used another preparation in treating our children, but it did little or no good. We have used this remedy for colds and croup with the highest success, and do not feel safe without it in the house." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always cures and is pleasant and safe to take. SMART HEADGEAR FOR THE CHILDREN

Woolen Hats and Caps That May Be Knitted or Crocheted by Skillful Fingers

IT is often difficult to know what Christmas present to give to an infant. A warm hat is always serviceable. To make one are required three ounces of single white Berlin wool, a bone crochet needle size 10, two knitting needles size 10, three yards ribbon.

Commence in the center of the crown with 4 chain, join to form a ring, work into it 18 treble stitches.

Second Round.—Two double crochet into each treble, taking the 2 back loops of each stitch.

BABY'S HAT.

Third Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Fourth Round.—Two d. c. into each treble.

Fifth Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Sixth Round.—One d. c. into each treble.

Seventh Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Eighth Round.—Two d. c. into first stitch, 1 into second stitch, repeat.

Ninth Round.—One treble into each. This forms the top of crown; next work another piece exactly like it for the inside, lay the two parts together (the wrong sides together) and work 1 round of treble, taking the two top loops of each part together; next round, in treble, missing every third stitch. This contracts the crown a little and makes it set a little full over the border; work 3 more rounds of treble without any decrease.

For the loop border cast on 12 stitches, knit 1 plain row.

Second row, slip first stitch * with the second stitch, wind the wool three times round the two first fingers of the left hand, third stitch, wind the wool three times round the first finger only, repeat from * until last stitch, which is knitted plain.

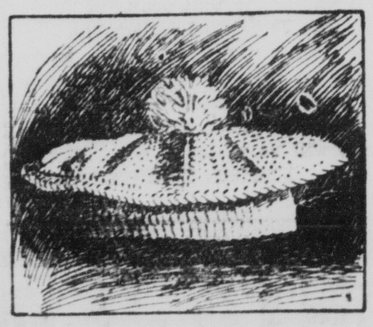

Third row plain.

Fourth Row.—Knit in loops, putting the wool round one finger over the long loops and round two fingers over the short loops. Work 60 rows of loops and cast off, join and sew round the hat over the 4 rounds of treble. Make a pretty tuft for the center of the crown; crochet 2 lengths of chain with double wool; make a tassel for each end; tie into loops and arrange on the left side of hat with loops of ribbon. Sew half a yard of ribbon on each side for the strings.

For an older child's Tam O'Shanter commence to crochet at center of crown with 6 chain, join to form a ring, into it work 12 double crochet, next 4 rounds of d. c., always working 2 into each alternate stitch and always taking both top loops of each stitch.

Fifth Round.—Without any increase.

Sixth Round.—Two d. c. into every fourth stitch; repeat these 2 rounds 4

times. Next work 8 rounds without any increase, making 23 in all; this forms the crown of cap.

Twenty-fourth Round.—One d. c. into each stitch of twenty-second round. Doing this forms the edge and has the appearance of cording.

The next three rounds pass over every third stitch and take back loops only of stitches.

Six rounds without any increase.

Next Round.—All treble stitches, taking both top loose of each stitch in previous row. Two more rounds of treble are worked and finished. Make a tuft for center of crown by winding the wool 100 times round two fingers, tie and cut to form a half ball. Sew to the center of crown, draw in all ends, and the "tam" is completed.

PINGPONG PINCUSHION.

Up to Date Adaptation of a Very Useful and Appropriate Gift.

The friend who is devoted to pingpong will be amused to find among his or her presents on Christmas morning the funny little figure shown in the sketch. The body of the Chinaman is a sausagelike bag stuffed with sawdust or emery powder. His robe is of flowered silk lined with plain silk like that which appears on the bands. His head is a celluloid pingpong ball, upon which features are drawn with india ink or painted with water colors. His cue is made of horsehair, which is glued to the top of his head. The head itself is glued to the body. Pins and needles are to be fastened in the robe.

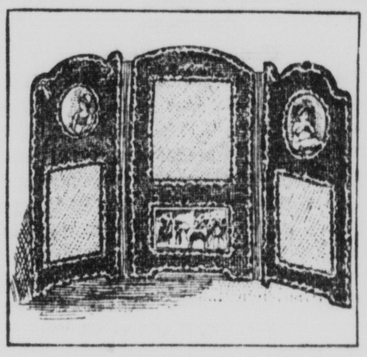

PINGPONG PINCUSHION

Another fancy for pins is the doll pincushion. Choose an ordinary china doll about five inches in height, with movable arms and legs and a sweet face and plenty of pretty curly hair. Dress the dainty little lady in her long clothes. Four strips of fine white flannel 2 inches wide and 8 inches long must be carefully buttonholed round the edges, then firmly fastened round the baby doll's waist. Into these are placed needles, white pins, black pins and safety pins. Then comes the baby's dress, which is made of two strips of dainty ribbon about 3 inches wide and 10 inches long—one strip for the front and one for the back, held in position by baby ribbon. It is hung up by a loop of ribbon.

SCREEN FOR PHOTOGRAPHS

An Excellent Gift For Those Who Have a Large Stock of Pictures.

As every one has on hand more photographs than can be provided for, anything in the shape of a frame is certain to be a valued Christmas gift. The screen photograph holder is made of strawboard covered with silk or satin, which is embroidered with floss or gold or silver thread. The panels are cut large enough to accommodate one cabinet photograph and one carte de visite. The outline of each panel is sketched on the strawboard before it is cut. On the inner side of each panel is pasted a sheet of white glazed paper. The cover is of light material on the inside and of some darker shade of the same color on the outside. Three edges of the back and front of each panel are stitched together on the machine. The lower part is left open that the silk, when turned right side out, may be slipped over the strawboard. When the cover is in place, the lower edge is finished with a narrow hem, but is not sewed together. A silk cord may be used as a frame for the openings cut for the photographs. The pictures are slipped into place from below.

DUCK LAUNDRY BAG.

Many Useful Souvenirs May Be Fashioned of Duck, Drill or Holland.

A simple and inexpensive holiday gift is a laundry bag of strong duck. A little girl can make one for her mother, for the instruction is so simple that it needs no experienced hand to cut it out, stitch it together or line it with the linen embroidery cotton. The lively Chinaman on one side of the bag is stamped on the duck. A casing is run along the upper part of the bag, and through this passes an ornamental cord for a drawstring. The open top is neatly hemmed. The most convenient dimensions for such a bag are 27 by 18 inches.

LAUNDRY BAG.

A shoe bag can be made of duck or of brown holland or blue drill, cut in a strip 28 inches long by 8 wide. Fold over to make the bag and leave five inches at one end to form the flap. Bind the edges with ribbon or turn them in and finish with a border of buttonholing or featherstitching. Work the initials of the recipient on the lid and make two buttonholes, which are to fasten to two buttons sewed in position to meet them on the bag. Then work the word "Shoes" in large letters across the bag. If the bag be blue drill, embroider in white; if of holland, embroider in blue or pink. If you bind the edges with ribbon, choose the ribbon to match the embroidery cotton. This size of bag holds only one pair of shoes. For a larger size cut the same length, 28 inches, and make the width 16 or 24 inches. Make up with divisions of featherstitching at intervals of eight inches, so that each pair of shoes is kept in a separate compartment. The flap falls over the entire width, with a buttonhole to fasten in the center of each compartment.

The business man will appreciate a good leather pocketbook, with several compartments and a place for stamps. It should be as thin and as strong as possible.

ODD CHRISTMAS CARDS.

Something Which Amateur Photographers Can Make.

What prettier idea than that our Christmas cards should be enriched with photographs of scenes familiar to sender and recipient alike, especially when sending to friends in some foreign country? Much individuality may be expressed in arrangements of still life, bric-a-brac, fruit, etc. Flowers and plants always make pretty compositions, but it is best to choose seasonable ones, such as Christmas roses, holly, mistletoe, etc. The result aimed at is to secure a decorative quality in the work. This may be either in the photograph itself, as in the case of flowers, grasses, etc., or it may be introduced by accessory work, such as borders or other ornamentation in pen and ink or wash. Very pretty effects may be obtained by using two photographs in combination, one as a background to the other. A group of views arranged in some novel manner would also afford scope for much originality.

A simple border can easily be added to any photograph and will give a finish to the picture, but where there have been much labor and time spent in decorative work the best plan is to rephotograph the whole to any size desired and then print off the number of copies to send away.

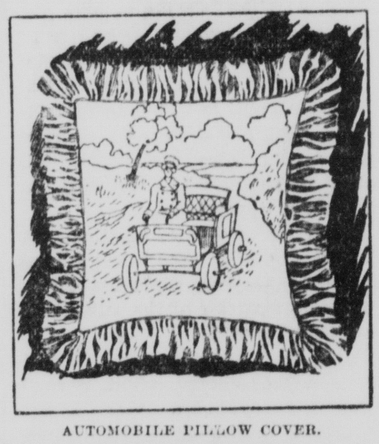

Lettering must be carefully done and a style of type chosen which harmonizes best with the general character of the card.

AN AUTOMOBILE PILLOW.

Design Which Is Suitable For a Cushion Cover of Any Material.

Sofa pillows incased in fancy covers are acceptable holiday gifts. The cost of the feathers or the down required to mold these comforts into shape is considerable, and many families who would gladly increase their cushion supply cannot afford to do so.

Cushions whose covers bear embroidered automobiles are considered particularly up to date. They are suitable for libraries or dining rooms. If the dealer in fancy work cannot stamp the cloth with such a pattern, save from a newspaper or a magazine an automobiling scene and with carbon paper transfer the picture to the fabric. Then outline the design with floss.

A cushion cover of this sort may be made of denim, linen or silk. A ruffle consisting of a double fold of the material should be gathered to a moderate fullness and then stitched between the covers.

A plush cushion cover would look handsome with appliques of gold, and an ivory satin one would look lovely in the exquisite blue Japanese embroidery. The pattern can be worked or painted and the machine made handsome by gold and silver embroideries on it. Cushions are quite things of beauty, and they really are not expensive.

A Gift For Grandma.

What gift could be nicer for grandmother than the dainty tie shown in the sketch? It may be embroidered on black or white net or black or white silk muslin. Net is more easily embroidered and is therefore preferable. If the foundation is silk net, use fine silk embroidery floss and a fine silk ribbon for making the knots. The flowers are done with silk thread. The ribbon should be used for making the edges.

Health Of Women

Health and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood. Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removes such troubles.

Case of this Prominent Chicago Woman Should Give Everyone Confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to add my testimonial to the great number who are today praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Three years ago I broke down from excessive physical and mental strain. I was unable to secure proper rest, also lost my appetite, and I became so nervous and irritable too that my friends trembled and I was unable to attend to my work. Our physician prescribed for me, but as I did not seem to improve, I was advised to go away. I could neither spare the time nor money, and was very much worried when, fortunately, one of my club friends called. She told me how she had been cured of ovarian troubles, and how like my symptoms were to hers, seven bottles of your medicine cured her, and she insisted that I take some.

"I did so, and am glad that I followed her advice. Within six weeks I was a different woman, strong and robust in health, and have been so ever since.

"A number of my friends who have been troubled with ailments peculiar to our sex have taken your compound, and have also been greatly benefited." — MISS ELIZABETH DALEY, 270 Loomis St., Chicago, Ill. President of the St. Ruth's Court, Order of Foresters, Catholic.

What is left for the women of America, after reading such letters as we publish, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends, when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely the experience of hundreds of thousands of women, whom the Compound has cured, should convince all women.

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these cures of thousands of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—stick to the medicine that you know is the Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness.

Mullah Is Advancing.

Berbera, East Africa, Nov. 8.—The Mullah is profiting by the delay in the start of the British expedition. He has advanced to within a few miles of Bohotle. FAMOUS GOODWOOD.

Something About a Historic English Race Course.

The Goodwood race course is quite unique. It is a long way from a station and is not near any town, says the London Tatler. It is on a hill the top of which is shaped like a horseshoe, the space between the two horns being represented by a deep ravine. The course runs round the horseshoe, the start being at the end of one horn and the finish at the end of the other. The result of this is that the equestrians who on other courses contrive to see both start and finish by the simple process of riding across while the race is in progress cannot do so at Goodwood. They must elect which they will see and remain there. On the other hand, the course is very easy to follow with glasses.

The races as an institution are comparatively modern, but there must have been hunt races and matches on this course since the days of William III., when we hear of the Goodwood hunt as in existence. In 1800, however, the then Duke of Richmond made a new course, which is practically the present one. In 1801 the course was completed, and in order to celebrate this a regular meeting was got up by the duke with the assistance of the hunt and some officers of the Sussex militia and yeomanry, and prizes to the value of about £1,000 were put up. This meant a good sum in those days. This was the first Goodwood meeting of importance, and from that year it became an annual event.

A Walking Fern.

Most ferns are confirmed travelers. New fern leaves grow out from the underground roots some distance away from the old plant. The average observer scarcely notices this, but there is a native fern that steps off at so lively a pace that its odd habit has long furnished one of the unceasing entertainments of the woods. The walking fern often carpets ledges and tops of shaded rocks. The slender, tufted leaf fronds are singularly unfernlike in appearance. They squirm about and "walk" by declining their taper tips to the soil and taking root there and growing. In time clusters of new leaf fronds spring from such rooted tips. By and by some of these, too, bite the earth and, taking root, start still other colonies, which in turn will continue the progress again and again. Naturally, with the lapse of time, the connection between the older tufts and the younger becomes broken, yet one sometimes finds series of three or four linked together, representing as many steps in the pretty ramble.—Country Life In America.

A Hint to Mothers of Small Children.

Mrs. Joshua Nutter, of Swiftwater, N. H., says: "When our dealer did not have Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in stock we used another preparation in treating our children, but it did little or no good. We have used this remedy for colds and croup with the highest success, and do not feel safe without it in the house." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always cures and is pleasant and safe to take. SMART HEADGEAR FOR THE CHILDREN

Woolen Hats and Caps That May Be Knitted or Crocheted by Skillful Fingers

IT is often difficult to know what Christmas present to give to an infant. A warm hat is always serviceable. To make one are required three ounces of single white Berlin wool, a bone crochet needle size 10, two knitting needles size 10, three yards ribbon.

Commence in the center of the crown with 4 chain, join to form a ring, work into it 18 treble stitches.

Second Round.—Two double crochet into each treble, taking the 2 back loops of each stitch.

BABY'S HAT.

Third Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Fourth Round.—Two d. c. into each treble.

Fifth Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Sixth Round.—One d. c. into each treble.

Seventh Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Eighth Round.—Two d. c. into first stitch, 1 into second stitch, repeat.

Ninth Round.—One treble into each. This forms the top of crown; next work another piece exactly like it for the inside, lay the two parts together (the wrong sides together) and work 1 round of treble, taking the two top loops of each part together; next round, in treble, missing every third stitch. This contracts the crown a little and makes it set a little full over the border; work 3 more rounds of treble without any decrease.

For the loop border cast on 12 stitches, knit 1 plain row.

Second row, slip first stitch * with the second stitch, wind the wool three times round the two first fingers of the left hand, third stitch, wind the wool three times round the first finger only, repeat from * until last stitch, which is knitted plain.

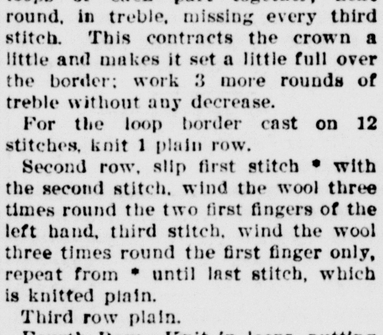

Third row plain.

Fourth Row.—Knit in loops, putting the wool round one finger over the long loops and round two fingers over the short loops. Work 60 rows of loops and cast off, join and sew round the hat over the 4 rounds of treble. Make a pretty tuft for the center of the crown; crochet 2 lengths of chain with double wool; make a tassel for each end; tie into loops and arrange on the left side of hat with loops of ribbon. Sew half a yard of ribbon on each side for the strings.

For an older child's Tam O'Shanter commence to crochet at center of crown with 6 chain, join to form a ring, into it work 12 double crochet, next 4 rounds of d. c., always working 2 into each alternate stitch and always taking both top loops of each stitch.

Fifth Round.—Without any increase.

Sixth Round.—Two d. c. into every fourth stitch; repeat these 2 rounds 4

times. Next work 8 rounds without any increase, making 23 in all; this forms the crown of cap.

Twenty-fourth Round.—One d. c. into each stitch of twenty-second round. Doing this forms the edge and has the appearance of cording.

The next three rounds pass over every third stitch and take back loops only of stitches.

Six rounds without any increase.

Next Round.—All treble stitches, taking both top loose of each stitch in previous row. Two more rounds of treble are worked and finished. Make a tuft for center of crown by winding the wool 100 times round two fingers, tie and cut to form a half ball. Sew to the center of crown, draw in all ends, and the "tam" is completed.

PINGPONG PINCUSHION.

Up to Date Adaptation of a Very Useful and Appropriate Gift.

The friend who is devoted to pingpong will be amused to find among his or her presents on Christmas morning the funny little figure shown in the sketch. The body of the Chinaman is a sausagelike bag stuffed with sawdust or emery powder. His robe is of flowered silk lined with plain silk like that which appears on the bands. His head is a celluloid pingpong ball, upon which features are drawn with india ink or painted with water colors. His cue is made of horsehair, which is glued to the top of his head. The head itself is glued to the body. Pins and needles are to be fastened in the robe.

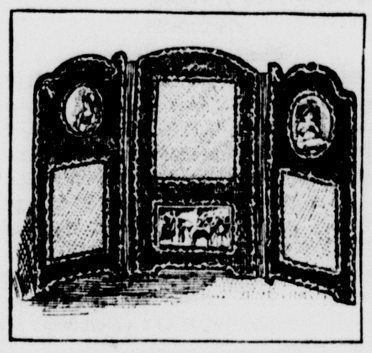

PINGPONG PINCUSHION

Another fancy for pins is the doll pincushion. Choose an ordinary china doll about five inches in height, with movable arms and legs and a sweet face and plenty of pretty curly hair. Dress the dainty little lady in her long clothes. Four strips of fine white flannel 2 inches wide and 8 inches long must be carefully buttonholed round the edges, then firmly fastened round the baby doll's waist. Into these are placed needles, white pins, black pins and safety pins. Then comes the baby's dress, which is made of two strips of dainty ribbon about 3 inches wide and 10 inches long—one strip for the front and one for the back, held in position by baby ribbon. It is hung up by a loop of ribbon.

SCREEN FOR PHOTOGRAPHS

An Excellent Gift For Those Who Have a Large Stock of Pictures.

As every one has on hand more photographs than can be provided for, anything in the shape of a frame is certain to be a valued Christmas gift. The screen photograph holder is made of strawboard covered with silk or satin, which is embroidered with floss or gold or silver thread. The panels are cut large enough to accommodate one cabinet photograph and one carte de visite. The outline of each panel is sketched on the strawboard before it is cut. On the inner side of each panel is pasted a sheet of white glazed paper. The cover is of light material on the inside and of some darker shade of the same color on the outside. Three edges of the back and front of each panel are stitched together on the machine. The lower part is left open that the silk, when turned right side out, may be slipped over the strawboard. When the cover is in place, the lower edge is finished with a narrow hem, but is not sewed together. A silk cord may be used as a frame for the openings cut for the photographs. The pictures are slipped into place from below.

DUCK LAUNDRY BAG.

Many Useful Souvenirs May Be Fashioned of Duck, Drill or Holland.

A simple and inexpensive holiday gift is a laundry bag of strong duck. A little girl can make one for her mother, for the instruction is so simple that it needs no experienced hand to cut it out, stitch it together or line it with the linen embroidery cotton. The lively Chinaman on one side of the bag is stamped on the duck. A casing is run along the upper part of the bag, and through this passes an ornamental cord for a drawstring. The open top is neatly hemmed. The most convenient dimensions for such a bag are 27 by 18 inches.

LAUNDRY BAG.

A shoe bag can be made of duck or of brown holland or blue drill, cut in a strip 28 inches long by 8 wide. Fold over to make the bag and leave five inches at one end to form the flap. Bind the edges with ribbon or turn them in and finish with a border of buttonholing or featherstitching. Work the initials of the recipient on the lid and make two buttonholes, which are to fasten to two buttons sewed in position to meet them on the bag. Then work the word "Shoes" in large letters across the bag. If the bag be blue drill, embroider in white; if of holland, embroider in blue or pink. If you bind the edges with ribbon, choose the ribbon to match the embroidery cotton. This size of bag holds only one pair of shoes. For a larger size cut the same length, 28 inches, and make the width 16 or 24 inches. Make up with divisions of featherstitching at intervals of eight inches, so that each pair of shoes is kept in a separate compartment. The flap falls over the entire width, with a buttonhole to fasten in the center of each compartment.

The business man will appreciate a good leather pocketbook, with several compartments and a place for stamps. It should be as thin and as strong as possible.

ODD CHRISTMAS CARDS.

Something Which Amateur Photographers Can Make.

What prettier idea than that our Christmas cards should be enriched with photographs of scenes familiar to sender and recipient alike, especially when sending to friends in some foreign country? Much individuality may be expressed in arrangements of still life, bric-a-brac, fruit, etc. Flowers and plants always make pretty compositions, but it is best to choose seasonable ones, such as Christmas roses, holly, mistletoe, etc. The result aimed at is to secure a decorative quality in the work. This may be either in the photograph itself, as in the case of flowers, grasses, etc., or it may be introduced by accessory work, such as borders or other ornamentation in pen and ink or wash. Very pretty effects may be obtained by using two photographs in combination, one as a background to the other. A group of views arranged in some novel manner would also afford scope for much originality.

A simple border can easily be added to any photograph and will give a finish to the picture, but where there have been much labor and time spent in decorative work the best plan is to rephotograph the whole to any size desired and then print off the number of copies to send away.

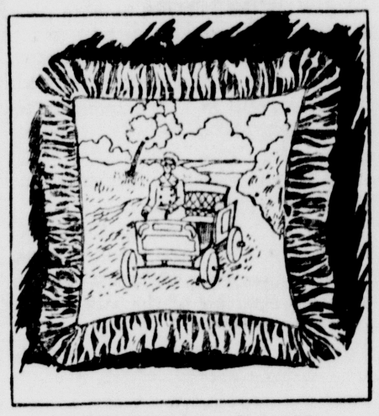

Lettering must be carefully done and a style of type chosen which harmonizes best with the general character of the card.

AN AUTOMOBILE PILLOW.

Design Which Is Suitable For a Cushion Cover of Any Material.

Sofa pillows incased in fancy covers are acceptable holiday gifts. The cost of the feathers or the down required to mold these comforts into shape is considerable, and many families who would gladly increase their cushion supply cannot afford to do so.

Cushions whose covers bear embroidered automobiles are considered particularly up to date. They are suitable for libraries or dining rooms. If the dealer in fancy work cannot stamp the cloth with such a pattern, save from a newspaper or a magazine an automobiling scene and with carbon paper transfer the picture to the fabric. Then outline the design with floss.

A cushion cover of this sort may be made of denim, linen or silk. A ruffle consisting of a double fold of the material should be gathered to a moderate fullness and then stitched between the covers.

A plush cushion cover would look handsome with appliques of gold, and an ivory satin one would look lovely in the exquisite blue Japanese embroidery. The pattern can be worked or painted and the machine made handsome by gold and silver embroideries on it. Cushions are quite things of beauty, and they really are not expensive.

A Gift For Grandma.

What gift could be nicer for grandmother than the dainty tie shown in the sketch? It may be embroidered on black or white net or black or white silk muslin. Net is more easily embroidered and is therefore preferable. If the foundation is silk net, use fine silk embroidery floss and a fine silk ribbon for making the knots. The flowers are done with silk thread. The ribbon should be used for making the edges.

End Was Near

Blood Wine Snatched Him from Jaws of Death. Senator Hanson's Glowing Tribute.

We often learn of marvelous surgical operations—of a man having his stomach removed, or of a missing vertebra being replaced by a silver one in the spine, and of other wonderful feats, and we read of them with open-mouthed astonishment. Yet when an equally miraculous recovery is made from some terrible disease—by the use of a medicine—people do not give the medicine equal credit. "Blood Wine" has performed some truly magical cures—cures of diseases that baffled physicians for years. When a man suffer for years, loses his strength, flesh, endurance; wastes away from stout manhood to a frail skeleton, and at last is saved by the use of a medicine, shouldn't credit be given to that medicine? Shouldn't such a result prove its value? Shouldn't such positive proof speak stronger than words? Read the experience of Wm. S. Bowie, of Charlestown, Mass.:

"For a number of years I suffered with chronic diarrhoea (any one who has had it for one day only, knows what a terrible disease it is). It sapped my strength, and changed me from a strong, healthy man to a frail, puny fellow. I would gladly have given $500.00 for a cure. Physicians doctored me until I was almost sick of seeing them come. They did me no good. I grew worse and worse, until death stared me in the face. I was absolutely hopeless. With a great deal of prejudice I was one day talked into trying 'Blood Wine.' To my great surprise I found it helped me. I stuck to it regularly, following directions, and in time it cured me entirely. I cannot express my gratitude in the limits of a letter, but will say that I know it saved my life, and that I think it the greatest medicine in the world."

A great many physicians buy "Blood Wine" in large quantities for their patients. A great many hospitals and dispensaries use it. Intelligent people who are familiar with its origin, who know the theory upon which it cures disease, by its great and peculiar action upon the blood, take it in preference to anything else. Ex-Senator Hanson, of Massachusetts, whose home is in Lowell, Mass., has this to say of "Blood Wine":

"I think 'Blood Wine' is a wonderful medicine. The effect that it has on a debilitated system is almost beyond comprehension, and I don't believe there is a disease of the blood, or a disease produced by a condition of the blood that it will not eradicate. I have kept it in my family since its first introduction into this country, and consider it just as much a necessity as flour or sugar."

Senator Hanson is a man who wouldn't have anything but the best. He is a man of great executive ability, and a very active brain. He uses "Blood Wine" right along to keep his brain clear and active, and his body free from ache or pain. Thousands of people do the same. "Blood Wine" never disappoints. If you are in bad health and you take "Blood Wine," you are just as sure to feel better as the sun is sure to rise and set. It cures disease by working on the blood. Blood is life, and "Blood Wine" eradicates all the elements of disease from the blood that rob us of life.

FREE BLOOD TEST.

If you want your blood examined by an expert bacteriologist, you can have it done free of charge by sending your name to the Louis Daudelin Co., Worcester, Mass., for free particulars. Take advantage of it at once. "Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle.

MRS. HELENA BLAU,

Young Milwaukee Society Woman.

Mrs. Helena Blau.

TEN thousand cured women have written to tell how Wine of Cardui bestows the blessing of health on every woman who takes it, rich and poor alike. Mrs. Helena Blau, No. 123 Seventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis., is one of the young women whom Wine of Cardui has rescued from a life of suffering. She writes:

"Wine of Cardui is certainly 'worn out' women's best friend and I am pleased to give my experience with it. A few months ago I caught a severe cold, having been out in inclement weather, which settled all over me, particularly in the abdomen. I was in almost constant pain. I consulted a physician and took his medicine for a month and without any relief. I then decided I would try your medicine and it was a lucky day for me when I did so. I noticed a change in a few days and felt encouraged to continue taking Wine of Cardui, and my patience was rewarded, for in two weeks my pains had left me and I felt like a new woman."

The woman who has suffered from female weakness should do anything within reason to secure health. Wine of Cardui is the medicine that appeals to reasonable women—women who hold operations and cutting in horror—women who know that Nature is the best physician. Wine of Cardui gives women back their health by giving Nature a chance to build up the wasted and diseased tissue. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow and Nature, when relieved of the drains or of the poisons in the system, makes the functional organs strong and healthy again.

Any woman who is silently suffering untold pains because she is too sensitive to undergo a physician's examination and treatment can find no excuse for not securing relief when Wine of Cardui is offered to her. There is no publicity to deter her. She can take Wine of Cardui in the privacy of her home, with as much assurance of a final cure as though a dozen doctors recommended it. Many physicians do recommend Wine of Cardui to their patients.

Why not get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

FAST BEING MADE A BIG RAILROAD

Lake Erie, Alliance and Wheeling to Be Extended 50 Miles Further.

WILL THEN REACH FAIRPORT

The Line Passes Through Five Coal Districts And the Company Has Leases On Large Tracts of Valuable Coal Lands.

The shareholders of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling railroad have just made the first inspection trip over their property. Since May, 1901, the line has undergone general changes. The track has been improved and the road bed has been ballasted. New bridges have been put in and new rails have been laid until the road is in good shape both for freight and passenger traffic. The enormous coal land tapped is alone sufficient to furnish the company a most excellent future and to this end millions will be spent for extensions and betterments next year.

The road is a merger of the old Alliance & Northern, running from Phalanx to Alliance, the Ohio River & Lake Erie from Alliance to Bergholz and the right of way belonging to a company known as the Cleveland & Wheeling. The consolidation was effected in 1900, and with the extension built south of Bergholz during the last year, the road is about ninety miles long. The old Alliance & Northern line has been overhauled completely and four miles of new track have been laid north of Alliance. Nine miles of new track has been laid out of Alliance and eighteen miles of new road have been built from Bergholz to Hopedale the point where the Cleveland & Wheeling right of way commences. From Hopedale several miles have been completed to a point about three miles below Piney Fork. It is the intention to build to Dillonvale connection is made with the road into Wheeling later. At Dillonvale connections is made with the Wheeling & Lake Erie so that entrance by connection can soon be furnished.

It is announced that next the principal work to be done will be the extension from Phalanx to Fairport, a distance of fifty miles. Preliminary plans for this work are now under way. One hundred and seventy-five acres have been purchased for dock facilities at Fairport and necessary provisions have been made for rights of way. The cost of building this line, together with other improvements of next year, will amount to several million dollars. When the line is completed the entire trackage will be about 155 miles. It will then connect with the great trunk lines, crossing the Lake Shore and Nickel Plate, besides the Erie, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wheeling & Lake Erie, and the proposed route of the Wabash. The attitude of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling is friendly, it is understood, to these lines, but will remain independent of all.

The route of this north and south line passes through five coal districts, containing about 50,000 acres. The company which owns the road is the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling Coal company, which owns 9,000 acres of coal land. Two thousand acres of this amount have been leased by the Jefferson Coal company, and this, together with other mammoth tracts, make an estimated total of 400,000,000 tons of coal in the immediate territory of the railroad. This amount is figured from the acreage of coal-producing property, and it is estimated that it will require 2,000 years to mine the product at the rate of twenty-five car loads a day, though the present rate is higher than this.

ARRESTED AND FINED

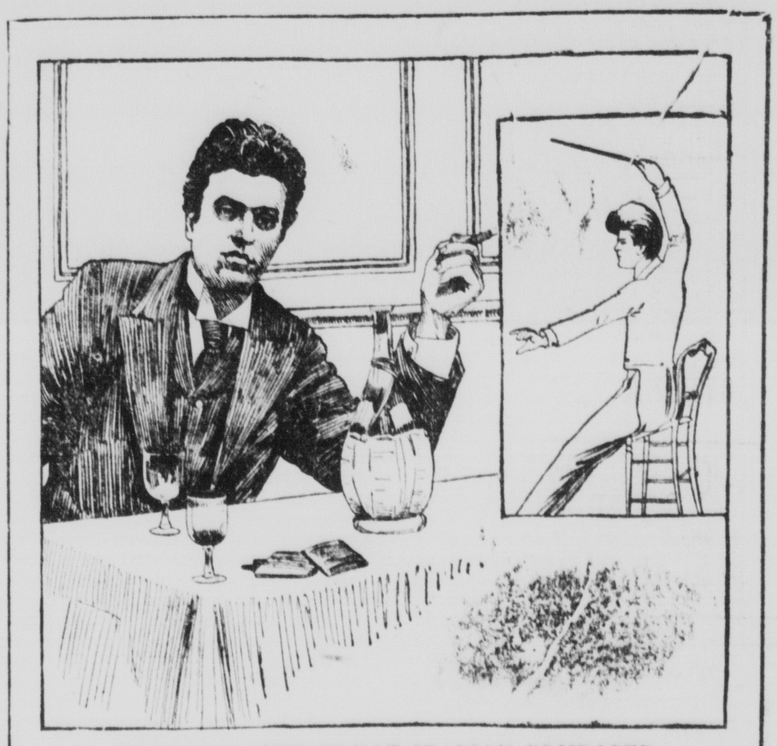

Funkhouser, of Shantytown, Accused of Insulting a Woman. Pleaded Guilty.

As a result of his rantings in the shantyboat district between Market and Jackson streets Thursday evening Frank Funkhouser was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Mahoney and taken before 'Squire McCarron.

The warrant for his arrest was sworn to by Mrs. Elizabeth Knapp, who charged him with insulting her. She stated that he for a time acted as though he intended to attempt personal violence, and he relented upon firing a volume of insulting remarks at her. So angry was Mrs. Knapp that she could not wait until daybreak yesterday morning to find an officer to make out the necessary papers for the man's arrest. Before dawn she applied at the home of Officer Dawson and started to tell her story, but he would not listen and she turned in another direction.

Going to the mayor's office, she met with a cold reception, being told that if she wanted any one prosecuted she would have to produce money enough to secure the costs. As a last resort she went to a 'squire's court and had the papers issued.

Officer Mahoney arrested the man at the depot and took him before the 'squire, who fined him $1 and costs upon his offering a plea of guilty.

POLICE WANT HIM

A Degraded Brute or a Crazy Man Frightens Women And Children.

An unknown man for a week or more has been wanted by the police. A description of the brute has been given to the officers, but as yet they have been unable to locate a person tallying with it. Every evening it is said that the man stations himself on a street between Market and Washington streets and while school children are passing behaves most disgracefully. Several little girls were so badly frightened on Friday evening that when they reached their homes they were unable for an hour or more to explain to their parents the cause.

A woman was insulted by the man Thursday evening and she reported the matter to an older brother, who started out in search of the vile character, but after hunting for an hour or more was unsuccessful. It is said that the man is past 50 years of age and that he is long a resident of the city. The children whom he has frightened think him a crazy person and say he follows them every night.

COULD NOT PROVE IT

And F. Wright, Who Charged Sullivan With Theft, Failed to Produce Enough Evidence.

Concluding that he could not produce evidence that would convict Thomas Sullivan, an erstwhile resident of Pittsburg, but living in East Liverpool for several months, of the larceny of a valuable piece of coin, F. Wright, a stranger in the city, appeared at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon at the time set for Sullivan's trial and withdrew the charge. Before doing so, however, he was required to pay the costs incurred by preferring the charge.

The mayor released Sullivan from the jail upon his promise to not be found again in bad company and his offer to clean the cells of the city prison. Wright stated, when he withdrew the charge, that he was with Sullivan Thursday night, but owing to the fact that there were also several others with him he could not prove that Sullivan was the guilty party. Sullivan was charged with stealing a souvenir worth $20 from Wright in a saloon on Market street.

A Report of Chinese Viceroy Give Details of Boxer Outbreak.

THIRTEEN WERE BEHEADED.

Tells of Attack on Chen Tu—Battle Raged All Night—Some Elements of Discord Still Exist—Not Much to Be Feared, However.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 8.—Mail advices received from the Orient include official reports from Kuei Chun, ex-viceroy of Sze Chuan, detailing the recent Boxer outbreak there. After relating the incidents leading up to the destruction of the churches in the two districts and the murder of many native converts, the report says:

"Several regiments of troops were sent to the disturbed places, and, besides slaying two or three hundred of the insurgents, succeeded in capturing several, who were brought to Cheng Tu and decapitated.

"Between 5,000 and 6,000 Boxers assembled in Hwa Yang Hsien, Chin Tang Hsien and Shien Chou, where they occupied the market towns and killed as many captains of the train bands as they could get hold of. A small force was sent to the Boxers to exhort them to disperse. I did not take stringent measures on this occasion because I feared that among the Boxers there might be many famine stricken inhabitants, who were not disposed to do evil, but were simply misled by the Boxers. A fight followed and 200 Boxers were killed and the others were driven back. Many entrenched themselves and the force sent was obliged to return."

The report continues describing the disaffection throughout the province, which prevented garrisons being transferred, and then tells of the attack on Cheng Tu, where three regiments and 600 banner men had been assembled for defense. The Boxers attacked the imperial troops in the outskirts of Cheng Tu and a hot battle followed, which lasted for a whole night, with the result that between 400 and 500 rebels were slain, about 1,000 were dispersed and the rest retreated to Ching Tang Hsien, where they burned the churches and put many natives to death. When the imperial troops were dispatched to Ching Tang Hsien, the Boxers proceeded to Hsuao Ching Ping, where they joined forces with other insurgents. A battle was fought there and 300 Boxers were put to the sword. Defeated there, the Boxers fled to the hills at Suchiawan, where they found refuge for the time being, but reinforcements of imperial troops arrived and marched against the rebels in Suchiawan from three different directions, slaying about 1,400 of them and capturing 13 alive, who were beheaded on the spot, after undergoing a formal trial.

Concluding the report, the viceroy says:

"Although there still exists elements of disorder, there is not much to be feared from the Boxers, because all of the rebel chiefs have been exterminated."

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 8.—Mail advices received from the Orient include official reports from Kuei Chun, ex-viceroy of Sze Chuan, detailing the recent Boxer outbreak there. After relating the incidents leading up to the destruction of the churches in the two districts and the murder of many native converts, the report says:

"Several regiments of troops were sent to the disturbed places, and, besides slaying two or three hundred of the insurgents, succeeded in capturing several, who were brought to Cheng Tu and decapitated.

"Between 5,000 and 6,000 Boxers assembled in Hwa Yang Hsien, Chin Tang Hsien and Shien Chou, where they occupied the market towns and killed as many captains of the train bands as they could get hold of. A small force was sent to the Boxers to exhort them to disperse. I did not take stringent measures on this occasion because I feared that among the Boxers there might be many famine stricken inhabitants, who were not disposed to do evil, but were simply misled by the Boxers. A fight followed and 200 Boxers were killed and the others were driven back. Many entrenched themselves and the force sent was obliged to return."

The report continues describing the disaffection throughout the province, which prevented garrisons being transferred, and then tells of the attack on Cheng Tu, where three regiments and 600 banner men had been assembled for defense. The Boxers attacked the imperial troops in the outskirts of Cheng Tu and a hot battle followed, which lasted for a whole night, with the result that between 400 and 500 rebels were slain, about 1,000 were dispersed and the rest retreated to Ching Tang Hsien, where they burned the churches and put many natives to death. When the imperial troops were dispatched to Ching Tang Hsien, the Boxers proceeded to Hsuao Ching Ping, where they joined forces with other insurgents. A battle was fought there and 300 Boxers were put to the sword. Defeated there, the Boxers fled to the hills at Suchiawan, where they found refuge for the time being, but reinforcements of imperial troops arrived and marched against the rebels in Suchiawan from three different directions, slaying about 1,400 of them and capturing 13 alive, who were beheaded on the spot, after undergoing a formal trial.

Concluding the report, the viceroy says:

"Although there still exists elements of disorder, there is not much to be feared from the Boxers, because all of the rebel chiefs have been exterminated."

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW

Unusually Large Fall Distribution---Complaint of Slow Freight Movement.

REDUCTION IN TIN PLATES

Shortage of Coke Interferes With Furnaces—Tone of Structural Iron Market Slightly Easier, With Demand Good.

New York, Nov. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Trade and industry are making steady progress, reports from all sections of the country containing evidences of wholesome development. An unusually large fall distribution occurred and current transactions in heavier goods are liberal, considering the mildness of the season. Complaints of slow freight movement are still heard, testifying to the enormous volume of business handled by the railways, which report earnings for October 4.8 per cent larger than last year and 14.2 per cent above 1900. It is the exception when manufacturing plants have not contracts assuring activity for many months and annual inventories will be taken with difficulty, owing to importunate customers. Prices of commodities, proportioned to consumption, as shown by Dun's index number, declined about 1 per cent during October, $99,579, comparing with $100,648. The decrease occurred in meats and fuel, mainly the latter.

The only development of note in the iron and steel market has been the 10 per cent reduction in price of tin plates to take effect Dec. 1. While some change was anticipated, the trade was not prepared for so large a cut. If the recent lowering of price lists in certain sections of the market should stimulate foreign trade, there will be occasion for gratification, as some exceptional export movement is needed to offset the heavy imports of pig iron and billets. Many furnaces have been compelled to bank because of the poor receipts of coke, and there is little evidence of improvement in the railway situation, motive power being utterly inadequate.

Contracts run far into the future in structural material for bridges and buildings, while plates are sought by car works and ship yards. High premiums are still paid for prompt delivery, but most shipments are on old contracts placed at regular list prices. Recent enlargement of facilities has greatly increased production in many lines, which explains the slightly easier tone of the market as a whole, but there is no evidence of diminished demand nor unsound conditions.

Some declines in the raw material did not produce any lower offering prices for cotton goods, although it made buyers all the more anxious to delay placing contracts. As a result the movement is only for immediate requirements, and there are complaints that old orders are not being filled according to contract. Export orders are limited.

REVOLUTION COLLAPSING.

Venezuela Rebels Retreat—Attributed to Shortage of Ammunition. Generals Disagree.

La Victoria, Venezuela, Nov. 8.—News has been received here concerning the retreat of the revolutionary forces. It is to the effect that on the night of Nov. 1 the revolutionists withdrew from their positions near La Victoria and San Mateo because they were without ammunition. The fact that the rebels lacked cartridges caused a disagreement between General Matos and General Rolando, which was followed by hot words. General Rolando declared that the shortage of ammunition was the fault of General Matos and that if the success of the revolution was endangered by this condition, General Matos alone was responsible. He said that all was lost and with his followers, about 3,200 men, he withdrew from the main body of the rebels in the direction of Alta Gracia. It is reported that General Rolando proclaimed "Elmocho" Hernandez as the leader of the revolution.

It is difficult to understand the apparent sudden and complete collapse of the revolutionary movement. But a few days ago the rebels seemed to be upon the eve of victory, while yesterday their cause seemed absolutely lost.

PRESIDENT STICKNEY TESTIFIED

Declares Before Interstate Commerce Commission That Railroads Do Not Desire to Injure Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—President A. B. Stickney, of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company, was the first witness at the second day's session of the interstate commerce commission yesterday. Mr. Stickney's testimony was to the effect that while there was an apparently large disparity between the rates on live stock and the finished product, yet the conditions of transportation made the two rates almost equal.

President Stickney declared that all rates are established on a basis of an absolutely free market, and the intention of the railroad company is not to hurt Chicago or to build up Kansas City. The rate of 18½ cents on packing house products, he said was made after negotiations with large shippers, and while the Great Western had secured the best rate it could arrange, yet the one now established is not unreasonable. He further asserted that the live stock rate, all things considered, is not out of proportion to the other. He closed his testimony by stating that rates should be based on the cost of service and not on the value of the property hauled.

W. B. Biddle, freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe road, who was the next witness, took issue with President Stickney in regard to rates on live stock. He began by stating that the rates established by his company on packing house products are the same as those of the Great Western road, while on live stock it is only 12 cents, compared with 23½ cents, as charged by the Great Western line. The witness said that the cost of both was about equal, and that railroad men generally recognize that rates should be higher on the finished product than on live stock.

WALL STREET IRREGULAR.

Dealings Small and Professional—Decline In Bank Reserves.

New York, Nov. 8.—The irregular tone of the market continued yesterday. The level of prices was above Thursday night for the greater part of the day, but the advances were exceedingly spotty, and were not well maintained. In the late dealings, as was the case Thursday, the efforts of professional operators to realize profits on the early advance wiped out the advance and the market closed weak, with net losses sprinkled all through the list. No important gains were left at the close. The dealings were smaller than Thursday and were even more strictly professional. The operations could not be said to represent any conviction on the speculative outlook, but were simply the result of the efforts of professional traders to find a current of prices for the purpose of making a turn.

Sugar was a drag on the market throughout and its final dip of 2⅝ was an influence in the general weakness. The stiffening of the call money rate at the last and the promise of a poor bank statement were contributory factors to the reaction. A decline in bank reserves for the week of upwards of $3,000,000 is indicated. New York exchange at Chicago rose 10 cents to 20 cents discount. Additional reports of a decreasing tendency in the net earnings of railroads had to be faced. Among the early points of strength the soft coalers were conspicuous.

Constipation Makes Bad Blood.

MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CURES CONSTIPATION

Constipation is the rotting and decaying of undigested food in the alimentary canal. Disease germs arise from this festering mass, which find their way into the blood. The blood becomes impure and shortly the entire system gives way to the unhealthy condition.

You cannot cure a case like this by taking pills or other common cathartics. A laxative will not do. A blood medicine is ineffective. Mull's Grape Tonic is a gentle and mild laxative in addition to being a blood-making and strength-giving tonic which immediately builds up the wasted body and makes rich, red blood that carries its health-giving strength to every tissue at every heart beat.

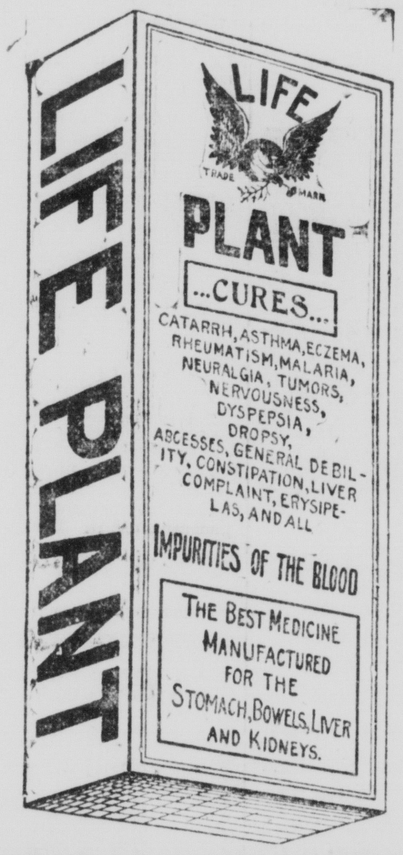

Mull's Grape Tonic is made of pure crushed fruit juices and is sold under a positive guarantee.

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW

Unusually Large Fall Distribution---Complaint of Slow Freight Movement.

REDUCTION IN TIN PLATES

Shortage of Coke Interferes With Furnaces—Tone of Structural Iron Market Slightly Easier, With Demand Good.

Prices of commodities, proportioned to consumption, as shown by Dun's index number, declined about 1 per cent during October, $99.579, comparing with $100,648. The decrease occurred in meats and fuel, mainly the latter.

The only development of note in the iron and steel market has been the 10 per cent reduction in price of tin plates to take effect Dec. 1. While some change was anticipated, the trade was not prepared for so large a cut. If the recent lowering of price lists in certain sections of the market should stimulate foreign trade, there will be occasion for gratification, as some exceptional export movement is needed to offset the heavy imports of pig iron and billets. PRESIDENT STICKNEY TESTIFIED

Declares Before Interstate Commerce Commission That Railroads Do Not Desire to Injure Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—President A. B. Stickney, of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company, was the first witness at the second day's session of the interstate commerce commission yesterday. Mr. Stickney's testimony was to the effect that while there was an apparently large disparity between the rates on live stock and the finished product, yet the conditions of transportation made the two rates almost equal.

W. B. Biddle, freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe road, who was the next witness, took issue with President Stickney in regard to rates on live stock. He began by stating that the rates established by his company on packing house products are the same as those of the Great Western road, while on live stock it is only 12 cents, compared with 23½ cent. as charged by the Great Western line. The witness said that the cost of both was about equal, and that railroad men generally recognize that rates should be higher on the finished product than on live stock.

WALL STREET IRREGULAR.

Dealings Small and Professional—Decline In Bank Reserves.

New York, Nov. 8.—The irregular tone of the market continued yesterday. The level of prices was above Thursday night for the greater part of the day, but the advances were exceedingly spotty, and were not well maintained. In the late dealings, as was the case Thursday, the efforts of professional operators to realize profits on the early advance wiped out the advance and the market closed weak, with net losses sprinkled all through the list. No important gains were left at the close. The dealings were smaller than Thursday and were even more strictly professional. The operations could not be said to represent any conviction on the speculative outlook, but were simply the result of the efforts of professional traders to find a current of prices for the purpose of making a turn.

Sugar was a drag on the market throughout and its final dip of 2⅝ was an influence in the general weakness. The stiffening of the call money rate at the last and the promise of a poor bank statement were contributory factors to the reaction. A decline in bank reserves for the week of upwards of $3,000,000 is indicated. New York exchange at Chicago rose 10 cents to 20 cents discount. Additional reports of a decreasing tendency in the net earnings of railroads had to be faced. Among the early points of strength the soft coalers were conspicuous.

Constipation Makes Bad Blood.

MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CURES CONSTIPATION

Constipation is the rotting and decaying of undigested food in the alimentary canal. Disease germs arise from this festering mass, which find their way into the blood. The blood becomes impure and shortly the entire system gives way to the unhealthy condition.

You cannot cure a case like this by taking pills or other common cathartics. A laxative will not do. A blood medicine is ineffective. Mull's Grape Tonic is a gentle and mild laxative in addition to being a blood-making and strength-giving tonic which immediately builds up the wasted body and makes rich, red blood that carries its health-giving strength to every tissue at every heart beat.

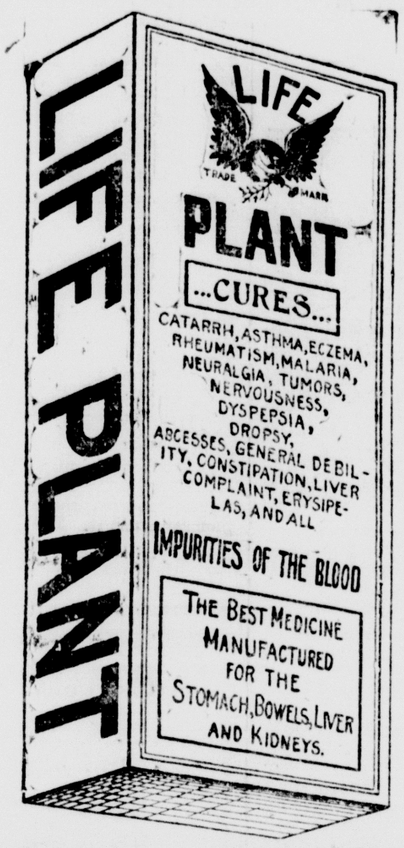

Mull's Grape Tonic is made of pure crushed fruit juices and is sold under a positive guarantee.

OUR NATIVE TREES

... By ...

THOMAS H. MACBRIDE, Ph. D.,

Professor of Botany, Iowa State University.

III.—Longevity of Trees.

FROM what has been said in the preceding chapters it might be presumed that there is no end to the growth and development of a tree. By its very structure the tree is a thing of life wound up to run on forever. It winds itself up, the cambium renewing itself year after year. As Wordsworth puts it, a tree is—

A living thing
Produced too slowly ever to decay,
Of form and aspect too magnificent
To be destroyed.

Dr. Holmes touches the subject more lightly, but to the same effect:

In fact, there's nothing that keeps its youth,
As I'm informed, but a tree and truth.

Nevertheless trees are not immortal, some of them far enough from it. They have their limitations, constitutional even, and share ultimately the fate of all terrestrial things.

In the first place, most trees die by violence, by accident of one sort or other. In battle with the wind and storm the tree by its very form is at great mechanical disadvantage. This disadvantage increases with every added inch of height or width. Other things being equal, it is only a question of time, in an exposed position at least, until by the very circumstance of growth the tree gives to the wind a leverage sure to be disastrous. The long branch or even the lengthening top may snap beneath an unusual weight of ice or snow. The loss to the tree is threefold. It loses the part destroyed, which is bad enough. It loses equipoise, the balance which between all its parts the slow progress of the years has brought about, and in so far becomes more certain of destruction in some later storms. But, worse than all, the tree is wounded with a lesion that late or never heals, most likely never. Decay ensues, the tree becomes hollow, and presently the fragile shell, even though living, sinks into ruin.

It is interesting here to note the adaptations in the form and habit of trees, the adaptations by means of which unfavorable meteoric conditions are more successfully resisted. For instance, all trees, especially when developed in isolation, have broad, far spreading bases. If developed together, the forest itself has an expanded base, and the trees protect each other. The deciduous leaved trees throw down their leaves at the approach of winter, and thus strip for the battle with snow and ice, which would otherwise crush their branches to the earth. The cone bearers, old fashioned trees that they are, hold their foliage, part of it, it is true, but note its peculiar character and the position it assumes. There is nowhere in the world a prettier adaptation than the sparse, fringed needles of the pine, through which the wind and storm may whistle, or the drooping, taper, fingerlike branches of the spruce or fir, shedding the falling snowflakes. In all the trees the branches themselves are specially constructed to meet the onset of the blast. Trees shed not their leaves alone, but their twigs, only a comparatively few surviving to carry forward the limb's extension. Compare the cottonwood, on which the twigs are few; the elm even, or the oak, where their number is very small when contrasted with the number started; the coffee bean tree, on which there is scarcely one. Indeed, we may say in general that if a tree be closely studied its form will accurately proclaim the conditions by which it has all along been surrounded. The whole tree is an adaptation to its environment.

But, in the second place, the longevity of trees seems to a great extent purely a matter of habit. Some trees are short lived by habit, naturally short lived, as we might say. The broad leaved aspen, for instance, lives, at least in many parts of the country, but a few decades, in Iowa hardly thirty years. Such trees seem to reach a certain maturity and then die for no appreciable reason. Some oaks have similar constitutional tendencies. The black oaks are said to be less enduring than the white oaks. Some species of the black oak group die at fifty to seventy years. The oaks of Europe are apparently longer lived than those of North America. The famous oak at Cozes, in southern France, is certainly more than 1,000 years old. Cæsar may have stood beside it.

We reckon a tree's years by the number of its rings as seen upon its section. Every year, certain as the succession of seedtime and harvest, witnesses for the tree the increment of vernal and autumnal wood, so that in case of a fallen tree or of a tree any part of whose section can be seen we may count the rings of growth and know with very great exactness the number of its years. The only exceptions are found in the case of very young shoots or trees, where sometimes more than one ring is formed in a single year. So also on older trees after accidental loss of foliage a second feeble ring is sometimes added. But as a rule the rings of a tree are as its years.

By counting thus the rings on a section and comparing the radius, half the tree's diameter, we easily obtain the thickness of the average annual increase and so may estimate the age of other trees of the same sort whose diameter is known. Thus, in the case of the French oak referred to, a block eighteen inches thick, taken about ten feet from the ground, shows 200 annual rings. As the diameter of the tree at that level is about thirty feet, the tree is evidently about 2,000 years old. The interior of this tree, which was perfectly sound, has been shaped into a dining room, where around a center table twelve hungry travelers may be served at once. As the tree attains such hoary age the rate of growth becomes ever slower. The amount of efficient foliage is generally proportionately smaller, while the surface over which the annual accumulation must be spread is wider year by year. There lies before us the section of an oak which in seventy-five years attained a diameter of one foot. The next inch of the radius, counting outward, cost the labor of twenty-five years, so that the increase in diameter at the last was less than a line a year. Dr. Gray estimates the growth of our southern cypress after the first three or four hundred years to be no more than one-third of a line per annum.

It is easy, therefore, for us to believe that very large trees are very old. Some of the great trees in California have been cut down to make grapevine stakes, and on their stumps the rings have been counted. On one the number rises to 2,200. Nay, more, John Muir tells us that in the King's river forest he counted 4,000 rings on a single stump!

But the oldest tree on the continent is thought to be the Oaxaca cypress. The circumference of the tree is given at 112 feet as the minimum. Putting the annual increment in diameter at a line a year, which is certainly far in excess of the truth, we have 5,124 years as the age of the Oaxaca tree. To appreciate this let any one get down his history of the world and see to what date this number carries him back in historic time.

Perhaps the most curious and wonderful illustration of the longevity of trees is that referred to by Dr. Gray in his essay on this particular subject. A dragon tree stands on the island of Tenerife which has been known and made matter of record since 1402. Its structure is different from that of our common trees and its growth exceedingly slow; in fact, in the 500 years since its discovery it has changed almost not at all. In the year 1819 it was badly wrecked by storm and once again in the year 1869. But it still continues to grow, its surviving branches "still annually crowned, as they have been each returning autumn perhaps for hundreds of centuries, with its beautiful clusters of white lilylike blossoms, emblems of the eternal youth of nature."

"Hundreds of centuries" means a very old tree, no doubt far surpassing in age any other living thing upon the planet. Our California giants are old, but forty-five centuries doubtless transcend the springing of the oldest; the cypresses of Mexico are old, but fifty centuries measure the antiquity of these. The dragon tree alone is perennial, approximating the immortality which the structure of our ordinary trees suggests, but never may secure.

Value of Live Oak Wood.

Live oak takes a beautiful polish and is preferable in every way to the antique oak as a hard wood for finishing and for cabinet making. It has when first polished a richer luster, with handsomer veining, than birdseye maple, and it would become darker and richer with every day that passed. For every purpose for which any of the known hard woods is employed this oak is available, and it has a distinct beauty different from yet fully equaling any of the rest. Live oak trees should not be cut down and burned simply because they are in the way, as has been the case in many instances in former times. Where these trees grow, in fact, it would be cheaper for the owners of the land to import and burn coal rather than to sacrifice them. Many western settlers cut down their black walnut groves for stove wood and then live to see black walnut become worth almost its weight in gold.

Famous Trees.

General Brisbin has a chapter on famous trees of the world which is full of curious information. The African baobab is known to reach the age of over 5,000 years. At Chapultepec, Mexico, is a large cypress under which Cortes and his troops rested. In the garden of Semiramis, at Babylon, is a willow supposed to have been there when the queen was alive. The Neustadt linden was 800 years old when it was wrecked in 1832. England has oaks 3,000 years old. A walnut tree at Balaklava, 1,200 years old, is owned by five families, who gather from it annually about 100,000 nuts. The Wadsworth oak, at Genesee, N. Y., is 500 years old and twenty-seven feet in circumference at the base.

Napoleon and His Mother.

Soon after Napoleon's assumption of the imperial purple he chanced to meet his mother in the gardens of St. Cloud. He was surrounded by courtiers and half playfully held out his hand for her to kiss. "Not so, my son," she gravely replied, at the same time presenting her hand in return; "it is your duty to kiss the hand of her who gave you life."—Chambers' Journal.

DOUBTFUL RUMORS

And Still Scores of East Liverpool People Accept Them as Facts.

The published statement of some stranger residing in a far-away place may be true enough, but it is generally accepted as a doubtful rumor. How can it be verified? The testimony which follows is convincing proof because it comes from a resident of East Liverpool.

Mrs. William James, who lives at 283 Third street, says: "I was troubled off and on for eight years with a weakness of back and kidneys, a dull, aching pain across my loins up under my shoulder blades and rheumatic pains in my right shoulder. The trouble affected my nervous system, causing a frequent flattering of the heart and shortness of breath. I generally resorted to porous plasters, but the relief was only temporary. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, obtaining instant relief and finally a cure."

A CARIBBEAN FLEET

WHY PERMANENT NAVAL FORCE IS NEEDED IN THOSE WATERS.

Turbulent Republics Endanger Lives and Property of United States Citizens—Plans of the Navy Department.

Uncle Sam is soon to have a permanent fleet of warships in the Caribbean sea. In fact, the preliminaries have already been arranged, and Rear Admiral Coghlan, second in command of the north Atlantic squadron, has been ordered to proceed to the West Indies on his flagship, the Olympia.

While formal orders for a formation of a West Indies division of the north Atlantic squadron have not been issued, the dispatch of a flag officer to those waters practically amounts to the same thing. In naval circles it is understood that after the winter maneuvers of the north Atlantic squadron in the West Indies are at an end a fleet will be permanently established there under command of Rear Admiral Coghlan.

The sending of Rear Admiral Coghlan with his flagship to the West Indies is the result of Secretary Moody's determination to afford better protection for American interests in a locality where protection is likely to be needed at any time. Heretofore the United States naval representation in the West Indies has proved inadequate to meet the demands for ships which have come from various quarters simultaneously, and the navy department has decided to keep a force in the Caribbean able to cope with a single, double or triple call, as the case may be.

For the present and until the fleet is organized the Olympia will be stationed at some central point to watch developments in each of the turbulent republics which border the Caribbean. The threatened outbreak between Great Britain and Venezuela promises fresh complications in the latter country, and renewed outbreaks in Haiti are possible at any moment.

The warlike proclivities of the Central American and West Indies peoples have always been a source of much annoyance to Uncle Sam. Business conditions in those countries are continually being disturbed, often at great loss to United States citizens, who have not infrequently been imprisoned and even killed.

Rebellions and counter rebellions are of almost monthly occurrence, and the navy department has had almost as much active service in looking after the interests of United States citizens in those countries as it had in crushing the fleets of Spain.

At the present moment hundreds of American marines are doing duty in Colombia, and hundreds more will probably be landed before quiet is restored. It is this continual turmoil and disorder that have impelled Secretary Moody to establish a fleet in Caribbean waters, where it will be in the vicinity of the unsettled republics and ready to go at a moment's notice to the seat of trouble, which seems to be always on tap.

Rear Admiral Joseph O. Coghlan, who will have all the warships in the West Indies waters under his control, was with Admiral Dewey at the memorable fight in Manila bay. He was then in command of the cruiser Raleigh, which gave a good account of herself in the fight.

After his return to this country he was in temporary trouble because of an alleged insult to the German emperor. Shortly after he landed in New York he was entertained at a public dinner and regaled the company by singing, "Hoch, der Kaiser." The emperor is said to have protested, and for a time Admiral (then Captain) Coghlan was ordered to some inconsequential duty on the Pacific coast.

This did not last long, however, and Captain Coghlan last summer was advanced to the rank of rear admiral and made second in command of the north Atlantic squadron. He took part in the recent naval maneuvers on the New England coast and Long Island sound.

Besides his flagship, the Olympia, Admiral Coghlan will have under his command the San Francisco, Cincinnati, Montgomery, Marietta and Panther, which are now in those waters. Later the Raleigh, Detroit and Machias will be attached to the squadron. Rear Admiral Coghlan will act independently of the commander of the north Atlantic squadron.

OUR NATIVE TREES

... By ...

THOMAS H. MACBRIDE, Ph. D.,
Professor of Botany, Iowa State University.

III.—Longevity of Trees.

FROM what has been said in the preceding chapters it might be presumed that there is no end to the growth and development of a tree. By its very structure the tree is a thing of life wound up to run on forever. It winds itself up, the cambium renewing itself year after year. As Wordsworth puts it, a tree is—

A living thing
Produced too slowly ever to decay,
Of form and aspect too magnificent
To be destroyed.

Dr. Holmes touches the subject more lightly, but to the same effect:

In fact, there's nothing that keeps its youth,
As I'm informed, but a tree and truth.

Nevertheless trees are not immortal, some of them far enough from it. They have their limitations, constitutional even, and share ultimately the fate of all terrestrial things.

In the first place, most trees die by violence, by accident of one sort or other. In battle with the wind and storm the tree by its very form is at great mechanical disadvantage. This disadvantage increases with every added inch of height or width. Other things being equal, it is only a question of time, in an exposed position at least, until by the very circumstance of growth the tree gives to the wind a leverage sure to be disastrous. The long branch or even the lengthening top may snap beneath an unusual weight of ice or snow. The loss to the tree is threefold. It loses the part destroyed, which is bad enough. It loses equipoise, the balance which between all its parts the slow progress of the years has brought about, and in so far becomes more certain of destruction in some later storms. But, worse than all, the tree is wounded with a lesion that late or never heals, most likely never. Decay ensues, the tree becomes hollow, and presently the fragile shell, even though living, sinks into ruin.

It is interesting here to note the adaptations in the form and habit of trees, the adaptations by means of which unfavorable meteoric conditions are more successfully resisted. For instance, all trees, especially when developed in isolation, have broad, far spreading bases. If developed together, the forest itself has an expanded base, and the trees protect each other. The deciduous leaved trees throw down their leaves at the approach of winter, and thus strip for the battle with snow and ice, which would otherwise crush their branches to the earth. The cone bearers, old fashioned trees that they are, hold their foliage, part of it, it is true, but note its peculiar character and the position it assumes. There is nowhere in the world a prettier adaptation than the sparse, fringed needles of the pine, through which the wind and storm may whistle, or the drooping, taper, fingerlike branches of the spruce or fir, shedding the falling snowflakes. In all the trees the branches themselves are specially constructed to meet the onset of the blast. Trees shed not their leaves alone, but their twigs, only a comparatively few surviving to carry forward the limb's extension. Compare the cottonwood, on which the twigs are few; the elm even, or the oak, where their number is very small when contrasted with the number started; the coffee bean tree, on which there is scarcely one. Indeed, we may say in general that if a tree be closely studied its form will accurately proclaim the conditions by which it has all along been surrounded. The whole tree is an adaptation to its environment.

But, in the second place, the longevity of trees seems to a great extent purely a matter of habit. Some trees are short lived by habit, naturally short lived, as we might say. The broad leaved aspen, for instance, lives, at least in many parts of the country, but a few decades, in Iowa hardly thirty years. Such trees seem to reach a certain maturity and then die for no appreciable reason. Some oaks have similar constitutional tendencies. The black oaks are said to be less enduring than the white oaks. Some species of the black oak group die at fifty to seventy years. The oaks of Europe are apparently longer lived than those of North America. The famous oak at Cozes, in southern France, is certainly more than 1,000 years old. Cæsar may have stood beside it.

We reckon a tree's years by the number of its rings as seen upon its section. Every year, certain as the succession of seedtime and harvest, witnesses for the tree the increment of vernal and autumnal wood, so that in case of a fallen tree or of a tree any part of whose section can be seen we may count the rings of growth and know with very great exactness the number of its years. The only exceptions are found in the case of very young shoots or trees, where sometimes more than one ring is formed in a single year. So also on older trees after accidental loss of foliage a second feeble ring is sometimes added. But as a rule the rings of a tree are as its years.

By counting thus the rings on a section and comparing the radius, half the tree's diameter, we easily obtain the thickness of the average annual increase and so may estimate the age of other trees of the same sort whose diameter is known. Thus, in the case of the French oak referred to, a block eighteen inches thick, taken about ten feet from the ground, shows 200 annual rings. As the diameter of the tree at that level is about thirty feet, the tree is evidently about 2,000 years old. The interior of this tree, which was perfectly sound, has been shaped into a dining room, where around a center table twelve hungry travelers may be served at once. As the tree attains such hoary age the rate of growth becomes ever slower. The amount of efficient foliage is generally proportionately smaller, while the surface over which the annual accumulation must be spread is wider year by year. There lies before us the section of an oak which in seventy-five years attained a diameter of one foot. The next inch of the radius, counting outward, cost the labor of twenty-five years, so that the increase in diameter at the last was less than a line a year. Dr. Gray estimates the growth of our southern cypress after the first three or four hundred years to be no more than one-third of a line per annum.

It is easy, therefore, for us to believe that very large trees are very old. Some of the great trees in California have been cut down to make grapevine stakes, and on their stumps the rings have been counted. On one the number rises to 2,200. Nay, more, John Muir tells us that in the King's river forest he counted 4,000 rings on a single stump!

But the oldest tree on the continent is thought to be the Oaxaca cypress. The circumference of the tree is given at 112 feet as the minimum. Putting the annual increment in diameter at a line a year, which is certainly far in excess of the truth, we have 5,124 years as the age of the Oaxaca tree. To appreciate this let any one get down his history of the world and see to what date this number carries him back in historic time.

Perhaps the most curious and wonderful illustration of the longevity of trees is that referred to by Dr. Gray in his essay on this particular subject. A dragon tree stands on the island of Tenerife which has been known and made matter of record since 1402. Its structure is different from that of our common trees and its growth exceedingly slow; in fact, in the 500 years since its discovery it has changed almost not at all. In the year 1819 it was badly wrecked by storm and once again in the year 1869. But it still continues to grow, its surviving branches "still annually crowned, as they have been each returning autumn perhaps for hundreds of centuries, with its beautiful clusters of white lilylike blossoms, emblems of the eternal youth of nature."

"Hundreds of centuries" means a very old tree, no doubt far surpassing in age any other living thing upon the planet. Our California giants are old, but forty-five centuries doubtless transcend the springing of the oldest; the cypresses of Mexico are old, but fifty centuries measure the antiquity of these. The dragon tree alone is perennial, approximating the immortality which the structure of our ordinary trees suggests, but never may secure.

Value of Live Oak Wood.

Live oak takes a beautiful polish and is preferable in every way to the antique oak as a hard wood for finishing and for cabinet making. It has when first polished a richer luster, with handsomer veining, than birdseye maple, and it would become darker and richer with every day that passed. For every purpose for which any of the known hard woods is employed this oak is available, and it has a distinct beauty different from yet fully equaling any of the rest. Live oak trees should not be cut down and burned simply because they are in the way, as has been the case in many instances in former times. Where these trees grow, in fact, it would be cheaper for the owners of the land to import and burn coal rather than to sacrifice them. Many western settlers cut down their black walnut groves for stove wood and then live to see black walnut become worth almost its weight in gold.

Famous Trees.

General Brisbin has a chapter on famous trees of the world which is full of curious information. The African baobab is known to reach the age of over 5,000 years. At Chapultepec, Mexico, is a large cypress under which Cortes and his troops rested. In the garden of Semiramis, at Babylon, is a willow supposed to have been there when the queen was alive. The Neustadt linden was 800 years old when it was wrecked in 1832. England has oaks 3,000 years old. A walnut tree at Balaklava, 1,200 years old, is owned by five families, who gather from it annually about 100,000 nuts. The Wadsworth oak, at Genesee, N. Y., is 500 years old and twenty-seven feet in circumference at the base.

Napoleon and His Mother.

Soon after Napoleon's assumption of the imperial purple he chanced to meet his mother in the gardens of St. Cloud. He was surrounded by courtiers and half playfully held out his hand for her to kiss. "Not so, my son," she gravely replied, at the same time presenting her hand in return; "it is your duty to kiss the hand of her who gave you life."—Chambers' Journal.

DOUBTFUL RUMORS

And Still Scores of East Liverpool People Accept Them as Facts.

The published statement of some stranger residing in a far-away place may be true enough, but it is generally accepted as a doubtful rumor. How can it be verified? The testimony which follows is convincing proof because it comes from a resident of East Liverpool.

Mrs. William James, who lives at 283 Third street, says: "I was troubled off and on for eight years with a weakness of back and kidneys, a dull, aching pain across my loins up under my shoulder blades and rheumatic pains in my right shoulder. The trouble affected my nervous system, causing a frequent fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. I generally resorted to porous plasters, but the relief was only temporary. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, obtaining instant relief and finally a cure."

A CARIBBEAN FLEET

WHY PERMANENT NAVAL FORCE IS NEEDED IN THOSE WATERS.

Turbulent Republics Endanger Lives and Property of United States Citizens—Plans of the Navy Department.

Uncle Sam is soon to have a permanent fleet of warships in the Caribbean sea. In fact, the preliminaries have already been arranged, and Rear Admiral Coghlan, second in command of the north Atlantic squadron, has been ordered to proceed to the West Indies on his flagship, the Olympia.

While formal orders for a formation of a West Indies division of the north Atlantic squadron have not been issued, the dispatch of a flag officer to those waters practically amounts to the same thing. In naval circles it is understood that after the winter maneuvers of the north Atlantic squadron in the West Indies are at an end a fleet will be permanently established there under command of Rear Admiral Coghlan.

The sending of Rear Admiral Coghlan with his flagship to the West Indies is the result of Secretary Moody's determination to afford better protection for American interests in a locality where protection is likely to be needed at any time. Heretofore the United States naval representation in the West Indies has proved inadequate to meet the demands for ships which have come from various quarters simultaneously, and the navy department has decided to keep a force in the Caribbean able to cope with a single, double or triple call, as the case may be.

For the present and until the fleet is organized the Olympia will be stationed at some central point to watch developments in each of the turbulent republics which border the Caribbean. The threatened outbreak between Great Britain and Venezuela promises fresh complications in the latter country, and renewed outbreaks in Haiti are possible at any moment.

The warlike proclivities of the Central American and West Indies peoples have always been a source of much annoyance to Uncle Sam. Business conditions in those countries are continually being disturbed, often at great loss to United States citizens, who have not infrequently been imprisoned and even killed.

Rebellions and counter rebellions are of almost monthly occurrence, and the navy department has had almost as much active service in looking after the interests of United States citizens in those countries as it had in crushing the fleets of Spain.

At the present moment hundreds of American marines are doing duty in Colombia, and hundreds more will probably be landed before quiet is restored. It is this continual turmoil and disorder that have impelled Secretary Moody to establish a fleet in Caribbean waters, where it will be in the vicinity of the unsettled republics and ready to go at a moment's notice to the seat of trouble, which seems to be always on tap.

Rear Admiral Joseph Q. Coghlan, who will have all the warships in the West Indies waters under his control, was with Admiral Dewey at the memorable fight in Manila bay. He was then in command of the cruiser Raleigh, which gave a good account of herself in the fight.

After his return to this country he was in temporary trouble because of an alleged insult to the German emperor. Shortly after he landed in New York he was entertained at a public dinner and regaled the company by singing, "Hoch, der Kaiser." The emperor is said to have protested, and for a time Admiral (then Captain) Coghlan was ordered to some inconsequential duty on the Pacific coast.

This did not last long, however, and Captain Coghlan last summer was advanced to the rank of rear admiral and made second in command of the north Atlantic squadron. He took part in the recent naval maneuvers on the New England coast and Long Island sound.

Besides his flagship, the Olympia, Admiral Coghlan will have under his command the San Francisco, Cincinnati, Montgomery, Marietta and Panther, which are now in those waters. Later the Raleigh, Detroit and Machias will be attached to the squadron. Rear Admiral Coghlan will act independently of the commander of the north Atlantic squadron.

IDENTIFICATION FAILS

Jeweler Nemser Unable to Identify Mason as Man Who Pawned Watch.

COVENOR CRANE INTERESTED.

Visited Scene of Waverly Murder. Colored Suspect Released—Iron Bar Found at Edge of Pond When Water Is Drawn Off.

Boston, Nov. 8.—In the developments of the day in the Mason case, which has puzzled the police of Boston since Miss Clara A. Morton was struck down and killed in Waverly last Saturday, there are several striking details. No further evidence however, has been adduced which tends to incriminate in the case Alan G. Mason, the member of a prominent family, who is under arrest on the charge of murder. In fact, the police are inclined to the belief that Mason stood out clearer in the light of an innocent man, because of the failure of Joseph Nemser the West End jeweler, to identify Mason as the man who had offered for sale Miss Morton's watch last Saturday night.

An important detail in connection with the disposal of the watches was the establishment last night that the signatures on the checks kept on file by the jeweler in identification of the persons who offered him the articles were written by one and the same person. This confirms the story that the two women were murdered by the same man.

Another late incident was the arrest on suspicion last night at Watertown of a young mulatto. He was brought here, but Jeweler Nemser failed to identify him. The man was released.

So serious has the case become that Governor Crane has interested himself and looked over the scene of the murder while on a visit yesterday to Waverly.

An iron bar was found yesterday at the edge of Handyside pond, in Waverly, to which, it is claimed by some, the murderer of Saturday night went to wash his hands. The bar is two feet long and a little rusty. It was on the edge of the pond and the drawing off of the water brought it to light.

Cuba Sends Instruction to Minister.

Havana, Nov. 8—President Palma is authority for the statement that instructions regarding the drawing up of the commercial treaty between Cuba and the United States have been sent to the Cuban minister at Washington, Senor Quesada. Senor Palma says he has every reason to believe that Senor Quesada was in consultation last Monday with Secretary Hay with regard to this treaty.

Government Contracts Recommended.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 8.—Major Dan Kingman, the government engineer at the Cleveland port, will recommend to the chief of engineers at Washington that the L. P. & J. A. Smith company, of this city, be given the contract for completing the main entrance to the harbor and that Hughes Bros. & Bangs, of Syracuse, N. Y., be given the contract for completing the eastern extension of the breakwater.

Chicago Switchmen Balloting on Proposition—Will Involve 8,000 Men.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Balloting was in progress last night to decide whether the switchmen employed in Chicago by 18 of the principal railroads centering here shall go on strike. A proposition was submitted to the railroads some time ago by the men, asking a wage increase of 5 cents an hour. The railroad officials last night offered to compromise by paying an increase of 2½ cents an hour to helpers and 3½ cents to foremen. The switchmen asked for time to consider the proposition. Meantime a vote of the men was being taken to ascertain whether a majority favor accepting or favored going on strike. More than 8,000 men are involved. The result of the vote will not be known until some time today.

Maker of "Cardiff Giant" Dead.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—John J. Sampson, the last survivor of the famous "Cardiff Giant" humbug, died in this city yesterday. Mr. Sampson had no part in the exhibition of the giant, but assisted in the making of the figure. He was a marble cutter, and worked at his trade in carving the giant. One of his sons said yesterday that his father always said that the work was done in a barn located near Lincoln park, in this city.

Opera House on Fire.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—The Grand opera house, one of Nashville's leading play houses, was on fire last night and probably will be a total loss.

The powder puff may help to hide the ravages of time but it avails little to hide the ravages of disease. When the face is disfigured by eruptions, the treatment must go below the surface to the blood, which is corrupt and impure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disfiguring eruptions which are caused by impure blood. It cures scrofulous sores, erysipelas, boils, pimples, eczema, salt-rheum and other eruptive diseases which impure blood breeds and feeds.

"I was troubled with eczema from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," writes Mrs. Ella Quick, of Cass City, Tuscola Co., Mich. "Could not walk at times nor wear my shoes. Thought there was no help for me—at least the doctor said there was none. I went to see friends at Christmas time and there heard of the good that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery had done for them, and was advised to try it at once. For fear that I might neglect it my friend sent to the village and got a bottle and made me promise that I would take it. I had been getting worse all the time. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and ten vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and used 'All-Healing Salve,' which made a complete cure. It was slow, but sure. I was taking the medicine about eight months.

"I would say to all who read this: try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before wasting time and money."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

TO EXCLUDE CUBAN CHILDREN.

Board So Decides—Will Be Returned to Cuba on November 13.

New York, Nov. 8.—Counsel representing Mrs. Tingley, of Point Loma Cal., in the case of the 11 Cuban children detained at this port, withdrew from the investigation yesterday. One of the lawyers said Mrs. Tingley would have nothing more to do with the inquiry, but would hold Mr. Gerry and V. M. Davis of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children personally responsible for the children.

After hearing a number of witnesses who testified as to the character of Mrs. Tingley, the board of inquiry, sitting at Ellis Island, decided unanimously in favor of excluding the children. Their report was given to the commissioner of immigration and an order was issued under which the children will be sent back to Cuba on the Ward line steamer sailing Nov. 13. The commissioner of immigration afterwards stated that he did not expect an appeal would be taken.

Visited Scene of Waverly Murder. Colored Suspect Released—Iron Bar Found at Edge of Pond When Water Is Drawn Off.

Boston, Nov. 8.—In the developments of the day in the Mason case, which has puzzled the police of Boston since Miss Clara A. Morton was struck down and killed in Waverly last Saturday, there are several striking details. No further evidence however, has been adduced which tends to incriminate in the case Alan G. Mason, the member of a prominent family, who is under arrest on the charge of murder. In fact, the police are inclined to the belief that Mason stood out clearer in the light of an innocent man, because of the failure of Joseph Nemser the West End jeweler, to identify Mason as the man who had offered for sale Miss Morton's watch last Saturday night.

An important detail in connection with the disposal of the watches was the establishment last night that the signatures on the checks kept on file by the jeweler in identification of the persons who offered him the articles were written by one and the same person. This confirms the story that the two women were murdered by the same man.

Another late incident was the arrest on suspicion last night at Watertown of a young mulatto. He was brought here, but Jeweler Nemser failed to identify him. The man was released.

So serious has the case become that Governor Crane has interested himself and looked over the scene of the murder while on a visit yesterday to Waverly.

An iron bar was found yesterday at the edge of Handyside pond, in Waverly, to which, it is claimed by some, the murderer of Saturday night went to wash his hands. The bar is two feet long and a little rusty. It was on the edge of the pond and the drawing off of the water brought it to light.

Cuba Sends Instruction to Minister.

Havana, Nov. 8—President Palma is authority for the statement that instructions regarding the drawing up of the commercial treaty between Cuba and the United States have been sent to the Cuban minister at Washington, Senor Quesada. Senor Palma says he has every reason to believe that Senor Quesada was in consultation last Monday with Secretary Hay with regard to this treaty.

MAY GO OUT ON STRIKE.

Chicago Switchmen Balloting on Proposition—Will Involve 8,000 Men.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Balloting was in progress last night to decide whether the switchmen employed in Chicago by 18 of the principal railroads centering here shall go on strike. A proposition was submitted to the railroads some time ago by the men, asking a wage increase of 5 cents an hour. The railroad officials last night offered to compromise by paying an increase of 2½ cents an hour to helpers and 3½ cents to foremen. The switchmen asked for time to consider the proposition. Meantime a vote of the men was being taken to ascertain whether a majority favor accepting or favored going on strike. More than 8,000 men are involved. The result of the vote will not be known until some time today.

Maker of "Cardiff Giant" Dead.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—John J. Sampson, the last survivor of the famous "Cardiff Giant" humbug, died in this city yesterday. Mr. Sampson had no part in the exhibition of the giant, but assisted in the making of the figure. He was a marble cutter, and worked at his trade in carving the giant. One of his sons said yesterday that his father always said that the work was done in a barn located near Lincoln park, in this city.

Opera House on Fire.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—The Grand opera house, one of Nashville's leading play houses, was on fire last night and probably will be a total loss.

The powder puff may help to hide the ravages of time but it avails little to hide the ravages of disease. When the face is disfigured by eruptions, the treatment must go below the surface to the blood, which is corrupt and impure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disfiguring eruptions which are caused by impure blood. It cures scrofulous sores, erysipelas, boils, pimples, eczema, salt-rheum and other eruptive diseases which impure blood breeds and feeds.

"I was troubled with eczema from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," writes Mrs. Ella Quick, of Cass City, Tuscola Co., Mich. "Could not walk at times nor wear my shoes. Thought there was no help for me—at least the doctor said there was none. I went to see friends at Christmas time and there heard of the good that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery had done for them, and was advised to try it at once. For fear that I might neglect it my friend sent to the village and got a bottle and made me promise that I would take it. I had been getting worse all the time. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and ten vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and used 'All-Healing Salve,' which made a complete cure. It was slow, but sure. I was taking the medicine about eight months.

"I would say to all who read this; try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before wasting time and money."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

TO EXCLUDE CUBAN CHILDREN.

Board So Decides—Will Be Returned to Cuba on November 13.

New York, Nov. 8.—Counsel representing Mrs. Tingley, of Point Loma Cal., in the case of the 11 Cuban children detained at this port, withdrew from the investigation yesterday. One of the lawyers said Mrs. Tingley would have nothing more to do with the inquiry, but would hold Mr. Gerry and V. M. Davis of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children personally responsible for the children.

After hearing a number of witnesses who testified as to the character of Mrs. Tingley, the board of inquiry, sitting at Ellis island, decided unanimously in favor of excluding the children. Their report was given to the commissioner of immigration and an order was issued under which the children will be sent back to Cuba on the Ward line steamer sailing Nov. 13. The commissioner of immigration afterwards stated that he did not expect an appeal would be taken.

TWO MORE HOLD-UPS OCCUR LATE AT NIGHT IN THE SAME LOCALITY

W. J. A. Ross Attacked and Clubbed—Henry Welch Meets the Footpads and Routs Them.

Two more holdups occurring in the city within the past three days have been reported. A singular fact in connection with them is that each happened at about 11:30 o'clock at night and they were committed not two blocks apart. Another coincidence is that the daring men in each case used the same ruse in an attempt to throw their intended victims off their guard, asking them for the time of night.

W. J. A. Ross, a well known carpenter of the Calcutta road, was enroute to his home last night and when he reached the dark passage way near the Smith Lumber company's planing mill he was terribly frightened by two men stepping out from a pile of lumber simultaneously and asking: "What time is it, stranger?"

Mr. Ross was so badly scared for the time being that he was unable to answer or act. While he was standing apparently dazed one of the men landed a hard blow on his head. What the man held in his hand is not known. It may have been a club and only have been his fist.

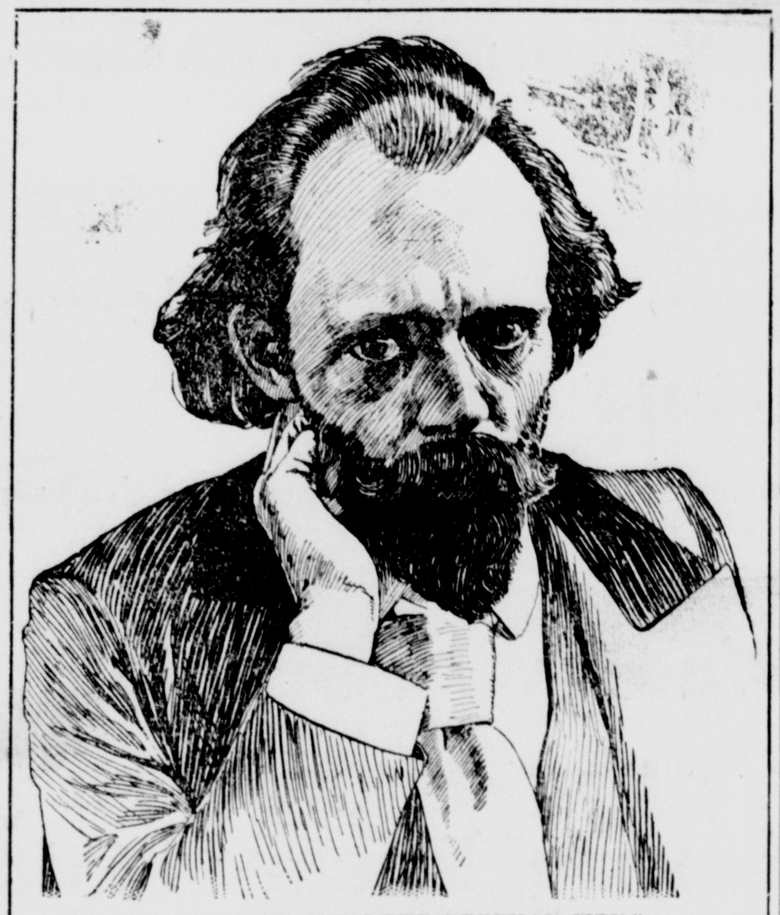

The attacked man saw that the odds were against him and before the villains had time to land on him again, by a quick jump and fleet running, he managed to escape. Into his home he dashed and securing a gun returned to the spot accompanied by his wife, but failed to get a trace of the fellows.

On Thursday night Henry Welsh, a kilnman employed at the K., T. & K., pottery, was also walking toward his home on the Calcutta road when he was accosted by a big man wearing an overcoat and a slouch hat. The man was standing on the north side of Grant street, near the Stewart residence, and when Mr. Welsh approached he sprang out into the middle of the pavement and asked "What time is it?"

If more of the people who have been accosted had dealt with their men as did Mr. Welsh the game would doubtless have been stopped long ago. Instead of reaching for his watch to accommodate the stranger Mr. Welsh said: "I'll show you what time it is," and at the same time reached in his hip pocket for his revolver.

Like a flash the highwayman turned on his heels and went flying down the street. A shot from Mr. Welsh's revolver helped in giving him speed.

Charles Gallagher, a well known newspaper man, was attacked in the same spot where Ross was assaulted, a few weeks ago.

OFFICIAL RETURNS SHOW PLURALITY OF LAYLIN IN EXCESS OF 91,000

The Total Vote of the State Over 800,000—Interesting Controversy Over Congressional Election at Columbus.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, November 8.—The Republican state committee has compiled unofficial returns received from the 88 counties of the state, which are believed to be accurate, which show the Republican plurality for the head of the ticket to be 91,118. A total of 436,669 votes were cast for Laylin, Republican, for secretary of state, and 345,481 for Bigelow, Democrat. The Republicans carried 61 counties by pluralities aggregating 113,809. The remaining 27 counties were carried by the Democrats by pluralities aggregating 22,621. The total vote cast for the two leading parties reaches 782,150, but this does not include the vote cast for the minor party tickets, which when added will swell the grand total to upwards of 800,000. Highland county was carried by the Republicans on the head of the ticket by a majority of one. In Marion county there was a tie for a county office. In Ohio last presidential year Bryan polled the same number of votes as he did in the state the first time he was a candidate for president. State Chairman Dick has assued a bulletin expressing his gratitude to the people for the Republican victory. He praises the Republican papers and also the Democrats who could not endorse Tom Johnson's fallacies. Secretary of State Laylin's corps of clerks are at work tabulating the election returns, but it will be some days before they will complete the job. They are working day and night.

Cyrus Huling, Republican, who was defeated for congress in this district, conferred with Attorney General Sheets yesterday with reference to the validity of the election of his opponent, Judge Badger, who has not resigned from the bench. Botn are of the opinion that his election is illegal, but Huling says he will not accept a certificate of election for the office because he did not receive a majority of the votes cast. The state constitution specifies that judges of the supreme, circuit and common pleas courts shall not hold any other office while on the bench. Badger's friends claim this section only affects state positions and maintain his election is regular. Judge Sheets stated he would not bring suit to prevent issuance of a certificate of election to Judge Badger unless the complainant demanded it, and Huling will not likely resort to this course. Sheets says that if Badger is refused admittance to congress and if Huling will not accept the seat,

CONSTABLE MAY GO INTO CAMP TONIGHT

He Has Levied on Four Cows and May Find It Necessary to Watch Them.

A TENT AND A CAMP FIRE

Will Be Provided And He Will Be Armed to Resist Nocturnal Prowlers During His Lonely Vigil—Origin of a Singular Dilemma.

An attachment suit has been filed in 'Squire McCarron's court in which W. J. McClure, a plasterer, is the plaintiff and Joseph Laughlin, of Beaver, is the defendant. McClure alleges that Laughlin owes him $25 for labor performed and that he refuses to pay any portion of it. The defendant owns considerable property, it is claimed, and there was no little argument between the 'squire and McClure as to what should be attached. However, after long study it was decided that some live stock owned by the defendant would be theeasiest handled, and as a result one spotted cow, worth $20, one red cow worth $15, one spotted cow with horns worth $20, and one black cow, worth $15, are under surveillance.

The kine are in use on a dairy farm a few miles north of this city. Owing to the location Constable Powell, who has the attachment in charge, is having his troubles. He went out to the farm yesterday and made arrangements with the man who is running the dairy to watch the cows last night, giving him in exchange for his work the milk of the animals, but it seems that the man does not favor the plan of continuing the watch. He made objections to keeping an eagle eye open tonight and just what to do the constable does not know. It is a dilemma in which the officer is very seldom placed and one which local officers state has never before occurred in this city. Nevertheless Constable Powell states that he is not to be defeated and announces a novel way of procedure by which he will keep the cows in corral tonight.

If he cannot procure the services again of the dairyman he has decided to drive out to the farm, pitch a tent near the stable, build a camp-fire and watch the herd throughout the hours of darkness. He will be armed to the teeth and prepared to withstand all manner of foes.

The 'squire has set the case for a hearing Tuesday, and if the defendant does not appear then, the cows will be sold at public auction. The constable states that he does not care what disposition is made of the case, just so something is done and done quickly.

WHO OWES THE MONEY?

A Complicated Dispute Over a Small Amount Finds Its Way to Court.

A case promising to cause a legal battle, was entered in 'Squire McCarron's court this afternoon by John Biddle, through his attorney, Hollis E. Grosshans. It is an attachment suit in which J. C. McSpadden, a contractor, is the defendant.

Biddle claims that the contractor owes him $43.20 for some labor performed. It seems that no one disputes that Biddle has that amount due him, but there is a dispute as to who owes it. John Rinehart, the leveryman, it is said, has the money in his possession and has given notice that he will hold on to it until Biddle pays him $7 with interest on a note.

The plaintiff will attempt to prove that he was hired by McSpadden and that therefore McSpadden is responsible for the payment and not Rinehart. Biddle, it is said, does not deny giving his note to Rinehart for $7, and gives as a reason for not paying it that Rinehart failed to fulfill his agreement which was in regard to shafts for a buggy.

THE DRUMMER BOY

Local Post of the G. A. R. Arranging to Presen. the Popular Play.

General Lyon Post No. 44, G. A. R., held its usual rousing weekly meeting last evening. There was a good attendance, and together with the social part considerable business was transacted. Committees were appointed to look after the presentation of "The Drummer Boy," and the reports were received which were gratifying.

The books have been received telling the story of the play, and nearly all of th ecast has been selected. Barring a few exceptions the cast will be composed of those who presented the play so successfully four years ago.

HAD HIM WHERE SHE WANTED HIM

Wife Caused Husband to Be Taken Into Court For Non-Support of a Child.

VISION OF COUNTY JAIL

Caused Him to Express His Willingness to Make Terms, And a Truce Was Patched Up for the Time-Being at Least.

"There is no use in coming to me now. I have listened to your promises long enough. The time has come when you have got to furnish the money or suffer the consequences," were the words that fell on the eager ears of James E. Bratt, when he, like a man imploring for the hand of the one he loves, rushed toward his wife, Mary Bratt, upon her entering 'Squire McCarron's court this morning.

Such a rebuke Bratt evidently did not expect. His face flushed and he came near wilting into a heap on the floor. He had been arrested about 9 o'clock while at work in the Globe pottery by Constable Powell as the result of a warrant being issued by his wife yesterday, charging him with non-support of their minor child, Lester E., aged two and one-half years. The charge specified that he had been guilty of gross neglect of the child since last May.

Mrs. Bratt for a moment would not allow her husband to get in a word edgewise. She took the opportunity of telling him in the presence of others of the way in which he had treated her. Finally she allowed him to speak and he started off with: "I intended to pay for the keeping of the child."

At this in a sneering way she told him that the story was an old one to her and that the money was what she wanted. Realizing that she had him for the first time just exactly where she had longed for, she kept him in suspense for some time longer and seemed to enjoy his discomfort over the explanation made by the 'squire of the enormity of the charge. The justive vividly pointed out the iron bars at the Lisbon jail and the many hard days of labor that can be imposed upon a man for non-support.

Bratt saw through it all and was extremely anxious that his wife compromise the case before the 'squire should order him remanded to a cold cell. Mrs. Bratt at first demanded that he give her $10 every pay day, but when he explained that he only draws $24 a pay and told of the hardships he would be compelled to suffer if she took so much, she relented by allowing him to give an order on his wages for $7 a pay.

The costs in the case were paid and the man released. Mrs. Bratt said that she did not believe her husband would live up to the contract and that the first time he failed to produce the cash she would have him arrested again.

FOUND A SKULL

A human skull was found yesterday afternoon in Thompson's lane by four boys, Frank Conkle, Roy Green, Willie Wright and James Rich, who were playing among a pile of rubbish. The skull was taken to police headquarters last evening and a large number of people have carefully examined the ghastly find.

It is very small and is thought to be the skull of a woman or a child.

The petition now being circulated among the patrons of the Calcutta street car line asking for better service is directed to the city council instead of the car company, as stated by another newspaper. There are now more than 150 names attached to the petition and it will likely be presented to the council at its meeting Tuesday night. The petitioners ask council to compel the car company to improve the service.

POTTERS MADE VOTES COUNT

Took a Decisive Part in the Election at Trenton on Tuesday.

NOTABLE VICTORIES GAINED

From a Staff Correspondent

Trenton, N. J., November 8.—The administration of the affairs of the county and municipal governments will be placed in the hands of men closely allied with the pottery industry in this city. The Republicans carried the county by about 1,500 majority, electing Judge William M. Lanning for congress over Col. Louis Perrine. Democratic ideas of a reduction in the tariff did not appeal to the potters. The majority of the labor unions also opposed Perrine because of his attitude toward union labor while president of the Trenton Passenger Railway company. Perrine, during the panic of 1893 reduced the wages of his employes and openly opposed all attempts on the part of his men to form a union.

The stiffest fight that has ever been waged in the history of Mercer county was in the contest for sheriff, between Thomas H. Thrapp, Republican, and Joseph S Hoff, Democrat. Thrapp won by a majroity of 73. There is some talk of the Democrats contesting. Mr. Thrapp is president of the Eureka Flint and Spar company and a large stockholder in several potteries.

Charles H. Baker, president of the Ideal Pottery company, was elected county clerk over E. Fruman Hooper, the Democratic candidate, by a plurality of 1,579.

In the assembly contest Thomas Colclough, foreman of Thomas Maddock & Sons and at present councilman from the Thirteenth ward, was elected along with the other two Republican candidates.

James Braithwaite, one of the vice presidents of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, was re-elected excise commissioner after a close fight.

For the first time the Eighth ward, which is one of the potting districts of Trenton, elected a Democratic councilman. Nicholas Kanz owes his

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

LUCKY RUNAWAY.

George Horner, bench boss in the biscuit end at the Buckeye, had quite an experience Thursday morning in a runaway. He was driving to his work from his home near Calcutta, and his horse became frightened and started to run, soon getting beyond his control. At Dead Man's lane he was thrown from the buggy but escaped without a scratch. The horse continued its flight on into town. Neither the horse or the buggy were injured and Mr. Horner considers it a very lucky runaway.

MRS. McKEEVER RETIRES.

Mrs. May McKeever, forelady of the glost warehouse at the Standard, has resigned her position and will retire from the business. During her term of service Mrs. McKeever has been an efficient forelady and popular with her crew, who will deeply regret her leaving them. Her able successor will be her sister, Miss Frances Peddicord, at present employed at a pottery in another city.

LOSS AND GAIN.

It is stated that since the shortage of kilnmen was noted and arrangements made to fill that shortage at least 45 apprentices were advanced from the kiln-drawing crews at the different shops. Local No. 9 will be strengthened by the addition of those 45 apprentices, giving a membership of at least 525. No. 17 will have its ranks depleted correspondingly.

CLAY HANDS HOPEFUL.

There was a slight interruption yesterday of the steady work at the Standard. In the morning the wheels of the gas engine that supplies the power to the jiggers refused to run and it was eleven o'clock before the ailment was effectually doctored. The jiggermen and almost all the other clay hands took the day off.

GOES TO SEBRING.

Andrew McCormick, who has been helping temporarily as finisher at the Goodwin pottery, has received an offer from Sebring as dish maker and he has concluded to accept it. He will leave for that town Monday. Mr. McCormick is one of the best in the business and Sebring is fortunate in securing him.

MOVING TO BARBERTON.

Mrs. Mary Rigby and daughters, Gertrude, of the decorating room at the Dresden, and Millie, of the decorating room at the Union, will leave this city next week to locate in Barberton. Both of the young ladies have excellent situations in the big pottery there.

NEW DIPPER AT GOODWIN'S.

Harry C. Gardner, of Beaver Falls, Pa., has located in this city and is to be found at the Goodwin, where he is holding a position as dipper, succeeding Charles Green, who moved to Toronto. Mr. Gardner is an affable gentleman and will prove to be popular with pottery men.

GREEN HAS RESIGNED.

Mr. Charles Green, well known among the pottery men, has resigned his position as dipper at Goodwin's, and has taken a similiar position with the Toronto China company. His departure from this city will be regretted by all his friends and associates.

IN THE BUSINESS AGAIN.

Thomas Hancock, will known in pottery circles all over the district, and who has been out of the business for quite a lengthy period, started Friday at Goodwin's, as a ground layer in the decorating department. He will be universally welcomed back to the business.

WILL LOCATE HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pedmore, of Sebring, will move to this city early next week and will take a house in Gardendale. Mr. Pedmore is a well known decorating kilnman and it is understood will be employed at D. E. McNicol's.

SYSTEM NOT PERFECT.

The new sprinkling system at the Dresden was given a trial and it was found that many of the pipes were leaking. To remove the pipes it is thought will delay the crew placing them, and the work will hardly be completed for at least three weeks.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Barney Carr starts Monday as presser at the Standard.

Tom O'Rourke started this week as presser at the Standard.

John Wines, of the biscuit end at Goodwin's, has been off sick this week.

Miss Maude Highfield has accepted a situation in the decorating room at the Standard.

Miss Nellie Bennett, a taker-off in the dipping department at Goodwin's, has resigned.

William Blake, the well known presser, has accepted a situation with the Pioneer at Wellsville.

Misses Annie Carney and Rachel Jones, dressers at the Standard, are working out their notice.

Misses Annie Ward and Stella Muncey, of the decorating room at Goodwin's, are Pittsburg visitors today.

Miss Annie Maley, of the East Liverpool, entertained a number of her friends Thursday evening at her home on Fifth street.

Misses Sarah Turner and Clara Tice, of the dipping department at Goodwin's, will spend Sunday with friends at New Cumberland.

Lewis Shively and Mott Magaley, warehouse boys at the Standard, have resigned and were succeeded by Harry Anderson and D. Hinds.

Edward Court, who has been working as kiln drawer at the K. T. & K., has gone in the biscuit end at Goodwin's, as apprentice kilnhand.

Miss Mary Conlay, the rubber for the printer at the Standard, was unable to work yesterday, owing to sickness and the printer was compelled to take a vacation.

E. V. Reed, boss odd man at Goodwin's, is the boss walnut picker in town. He has now about twenty barrels stored away for the winter, all of which he gathered himself.

George Barnhart, L. G. Moffatt, Frank Robinson and David Knight and Misses Jennie and Laura Pool, are taking a holiday today and are spending it over back of Chester, persimmon hunting.

Thomas Hancock, a dipper, and John Bucey, a helper in the dipping department at the Standard, are making a trip to Pittsburg today. They have their cameras along and expect to get some fine views.

BOAT STEALING CASE

A Trial at Steubenville in Which East Liverpool Men Appear as Witnesses.

Steubenville, November 8.—Rand Culver, who is charged with stealing a boat, is having his inning in court. He is fighting the charge against him with the aid of E. E. Erskine and Nelson Miller, but so far only the witnesses for the state have been heard, some of whom were brought from East Liverpool, where the authorities refused to prosecute the case. The man who owned the boat was on the stand and an effort is being made to show that Culver was one of the men who took the boat from its moorings at East Liverpool. So far none of the defendant's witnesses have been heard, but some interesting developments are expected, and it is possible that an alibi will be proven.

If Culver is not convicted he must face a charge of shooting with intent to kill or wound, as he was indicted on this charge also, having, it is alleged, open fire on the officers at Brilliant. Culver denies this and claims to have held his revolver in his hand without shooting.

When Culver's case is ended, his comrade, Peter Slavinsky, will be tried on the same charges, larceny and shooting with intent to kill or wound. Both Culver and Slavinsky claim that they got off a freight train near Brilliant, and went to the river where there was a fire. The boat was moored nearby and to get clear water they walked into it. It was while they were camping near the boat that the officers swooped down upon them, and a general shooting scrape was the result, Slavinsky being shot in the shoulder.

PLOWING WITH ELEPHANTS

Barnum's Reply to the Farmer Who Asked Whether It Would Pay.

It may be said of P. T. Barnum that he was the major domo or lord of laughter and fun, the protean dispenser of amusement. How well he became known through this function one curious incident certifies. Some years before he died an obscure person in some remote part of Asia wrote a letter, which he dropped in the postoffice near him, directed to "Mr. Barnum, America." The letter reached its destination without an hour's delay. The great showman unaffectedly enjoyed being known from the very beginning of his celebrity, and when he found his celebrity was a tremendous factor in his success he did everything that he could think of to extend the exploitation of his name. This was not to nourish vain imaginings or because he felt exalted. It was to promote business.

Around his successive homes at Bridgeport, Conn., he was fond of putting something that suggested a show. Queerly marked cattle, the sacred cow or an elephant was frequently among the stock to be noticed in his fields. On one occasion he had an elephant engaged in plowing on the sloping hill where it could be plainly seen by the passengers on the New Haven and Hartford railroad, an agricultural innovation that he knew would get notice of some sort in every newspaper in the country. It was even said that he received letters from farmers far and wide asking how much hay one elephant ate and if it was more profitable to plow with an elephant than with horses or oxen. His replies were invariably frank and were of this purport: If you have a large museum in New York and a great railway sends trains full of passengers within eyeshot of the performance, it will pay, and pay well, but if you have no such institution then horses and oxen will prove more economical.—Joel Benton in Century.

The Sea Trout.

The gamest of salt water fish, after the striped bass, is the weakfish, or sea trout. The sport of angling for them is generally enhanced because, feeding as they generally do near the surface, it is possible to fish for them with light tackle. The best places to find them in the vicinity of New York are Jamaica bay, the southwestern shore of Staten Island and the mouth of the Shrewsbury river. While they have been caught weighing upward of twenty pounds, a six or ten pounder is a good size, and the average will only run from one to two and a half. There is never any doubt when a weakfish bites. He does not nibble around the hook, but takes the bait at one fair swoop and then starts off with it like a limited express with time to make up. He is a shy fish, and the man who uses a small line, light leaders and snells to his hook and keeps quiet while fishing is the one who is apt to have the best luck.—Country Life In America.

When Jackson Dined!

While the dinner hour still clings to the noontime among country people it has advanced in the cities until now it occurs at any time between noon and midnight. And that reminds us, says the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, of one of the many stories about Colonel Davy Crockett. While he was a member of congress and was at his home in Tennessee some one asked him about the dinner hour in Washington. He said the common people ate dinner at 12, the next above them at 1, the merchants at 2, the representatives at 3, the senators at 4, members of the cabinet at 5 and the vice president at 6. "But when does the president dine?" "What! Old Hickory?" said Crockett, anxious to fix a time that would suit his idea of Jackson's greatness. "Well, he don't eat till next day!"

All That Was Necessary.

"You must abandon all business cares for the future," says the physician.

"But I fear that I have not yet accumulated sufficient money," protests the multimillionaire.

"Sufficient?" repeats the doctor. "Why, my dear sir, you have enough money to pay physicians' fees for the rest of your life!"—Baltimore American.

Willing to Co-Operate.

London, Nov. 8.—Prof. G. R. Parkin, of Toronto, who has been charged with putting the Cecil Rhodes scholarship in the United States into effect, has made inquiries at Oxford university as to how the Rhodes scholars will be received. He has ascertained that every one concerned in the matter is ready to co-operate heartily. Each college at Oxford is prepared to take from two to five scholars a year, according to its size

SOME WRITERS.

Bret Harte was a good deal of a recluse, in that respect resembling Hawthorne more than any other man of letters.

Baxter, it is said, kept the manuscript of the "Saint's Everlasting Rest" in his hands for thirteen years, revising and condensing.

Cooper is said to have written "The Spy" in less than six months. Most of his stories were founded on legends well known in his neighborhood.

Longfellow turned out about one volume of poems a year for many years. Nearly four years were required for his translation of "Dante."

The first volume of poems by Alfred Tennyson came out when he was twenty-four. He was forty-one when "In Memoriam" came from the press.

Thomas Moore often wrote a short poem almost impromptu. He consumed over two years in reading and preparing material for "Lalla Rookh" and two years more in writing that inimitable poem.

Routed the Enemy.

In some of the London courts there are private dining rooms reserved for the exclusive use of the legal fraternity. Into one of these rooms one day there bustled a gaunt female who on being courteously approached by a junior counsel flatly declined to leave. Thereupon an unblushing Q. C. looked the lady in the face and expressed his mind. Still she did not budge. Counselor Lockwood then intervened. "I do not think there is anything unseemly in this lady's presence," quoth he. "She wears a gown and—yes, I'm pretty sure that she also wears a wig." The lady went.—London Tatler.

The close of Personal Effort week will be marked by special services at the Second Presbyterian church Sunday evening. The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor has arranged for the services and has secured several well known talkers from the local field to assist.

The service is to begin at th conclusion of the regular Sunday evening meeting and will take the place of the usual preaching service. T. C. Weir, of Toronto; E. D. Moore, of East Liverpool and Mrs. A. D. McCulloch, of Toronto, will deliver appropriate addresses. It is desired by the officers to have a full attendance of the members and the public generally is invited.

Rev. N. M. Crowe's New Home.

Rev. N. M. Crowe, of the Second Presbyterian church, has let the contract for his new home to be erected on the lot he purchased a few weeks ago in the Midway Land company's addition. The house is to be of frame and will contain eight rooms and have all modern conveniences. This is the ninth house under course of erection in this addition in the East End.

Funeral of Christian Craft.

The funeral services of the late Christian Craft were held this afternoon at the home in Oakland and at the St. John's Evangelical church. There was a short service at the home and the body was then taken to the church where additional services were conducted by Rev. J. G. Reinartz. The interment was at Riverview cemetery.

Coming Marriage.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Florence Webb, of Mulberry stret, to Frank Bentempt. The happy event is to take place on Thanksgiving day at the home of the bride. The young couple are employed in the decorating department at the East End pottery and have a host of friends who will extend the heartiest of congratulations.

Guests Departing.

All the guests here for the Swan golden wedding anniversary have returned to their homes, save two, Miss Augusta Swan, of Metropolis, Ill., and Mrs. Tillie Moore, of Newark, O., who will remain a week or more. Rev. W. L. Swan left this morning for Greeneville, and Rev. C. W. Swan for Shreve.

Last Well a Duster.

The last well drilled in on the Link Allison farm in the Hookstown field proved to be a duster. The drill went into the Gordon sand Thursday evening at a depth of about 1,400 feet, and there was not even a showing of oil or gas. It was a great disappointment to John Railes, the owner.

Practicing Every Evening.

The reorganization of the Oakland foot ball team has been effected and they will play their first game next Saturday with the Brunos, of Wellsville. The boys are practicing every night at Columbian park and expect to be in fine condition.

District Deputy D. F. White, of the P. H. C., assisted by A. P. Myler was at Calcutta last evening to do some work on the installation of the circle there. Last night 16 of the forty charter members were initiated.

The Limit.

"Don't you think," said the soulful young thing, "that a ruined old church with the ivy clinging to its crumbling walls comes nearer than anything else to realizing one's ideal of patient resignation?"

"That's what it does," replied the young man with the camera. "I don't know anything that will stand for being photographed half as often."—Exchange.

No Cause For Woe.

Stokes—Speaking of mourning, if your rich uncle were to die, should you put on black?

Bickers—Certainly not. If he left me something handsome, why should I be such a hypocrite as to don the garb of woe? On the other hand, if he left me out of his will, how could I consistently put on mourning for such a curmudgeon?—Boston Transcript.

No Fight.

"Did you know that your political antagonist had cast reflections on your truth and veracity?"

"Yes."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"Nothing. My pride forbids me to fight any one except a gentleman, and a man who calls another a liar is no gentleman."—Washington Star.

An English Author Wrote:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves, — November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable or eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

MINNIE DUPREE, SUCCESSFUL STAR.

A sweet, simple story of a little Plymouth settlement under Captain Miles Standish is told in "A Rose o' Plymouth Town." As Rose de la Noye, Minnie Dupree appeared for the first time as a star and was almost overcome at the warmth of the reception accorded her. Miss Dupree has often evidenced her ability before a New York audience, but the first night of a starring venture must be a trying time. The hearty sympathy of a friendly audience was attested, and the little actress was most gracious in her appreciation. She "made good" and was fascinating in her rendition of the role of Rose de la Noye. She played naturally, and, as she impersonated a French girl, who was unlike the real Puritans, she was permitted to show much brightness and piquancy, which in those saintly days in her demure surroundings were something of a shock.

The play is not a great one, nor will it place its authors, Beulah Marie Dix and Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland, on the top rung of the ladder of fame. But it is interesting, bright, clean, pure and affords pleasing diversion for an evening. Mothers may take their daughters and not be afraid to talk of the play afterward, and that is certainly unique in these days.

The cast was good, the setting beautiful and the details timely in every respect, except for the too up to date slipper Miriam wears, which is removed by Philippe and seen by the audience. Trifles like this jar in otherwise suitable surroundings. Guy Bates Post was not good as the hero, Garrett Foster, and I could not help wishing that the part had been given to Bennet Sturgis, who instead was cast for John Margeson. The handsomer man and to my mind the better actor should have been the hero, and Mr. Post has a sinister face which would convey the bad man better. When he says he loves Rose, his looks belie him. Mrs. Sol Smith and Augustus Cook, respectively as Aunt Resolute Story and Miles Standish, left nothing to be desired. The others of the cast were competent and assisted the success of a delightful whole.

Broadway has at least one play based on a motive that is not only unique, but refreshingly, genuinely human. This is "Mrs. Jack," one of the season's successes. Mrs. Jack is a big, wholesome, breezy western woman, who has just inherited as the action opens the millions of Jack Banastar, from whom she has been separated. Mr. Jack, it is intimated, was impossible as a husband, but with all his faults he was a good fellow, and Mrs. Jack determines to be "a consistent widow." Early in the first act she arrives at the Banastar mansion in New York and immediately horrifies Jack's snobbish sister by announcing that she intends to spend Jack's money just as Jack would have spent it. This she proceeds to do. All of Jack's old retainers and followers, among them an ex-prizefighter, a bad actor and an unrecognized Irish aunt, Mrs. Jack takes under her wing. She invites them to dinner with her aristocratic sister-in-law. She carries out all of Jack's promises. Society snubs and ridicules her, and she laughs at society. All of this makes possible a series of delicious comedy situations which are unhackneyed, thoroughly wholesome and, above all, intensely human.

MINNIE DUPREE AS ROSE DE LA NOYE.

David Baxter, the eminent young Scotch basso, has been secured for a concert tour in this country. Mr. Baxter has never before visited America, but he is known in Europe as one of the greatest artists in his line now before the public. He was born in Dundee and educated at the university there for the profession of engineering. A strong predilection for music, however, decided him to cultivate his talent, and his success on the concert stage was immediate and pronounced. He was the only bass-o engaged to sing at the great Scotch concert at the time of the coronation in London. Mr. Baxter has an immense repertory for recital, oratorio and concert appearances. Besides the exclusively Scotch programmes of which he makes a specialty, Handel, Mozart, Gluck, Franz, Verdi, Schubert, Schumann and Tschaikowsky are among the composers upon whom he draws. He is said to have a mellow, flexible, musical voice of great compass. MARY A. BARTOW.

Society and Companionship.

The privilege of having some one with whom we may exchange a few rational words every day, as Emerson phrases it, is the choicest gift in life. We are rich in society and yet poor in companionship. In the overflow of chatter we are starved for conversation. Social life is so largely an affair of representation, it inclines so largely to the spectacular and to what its chroniclers designate as "social functions," that the element of conversational intercourse is almost eliminated. Yet, primarily, is not that the supreme object of all friendly meeting? When we reduce to first principles this complex thing called living, do we not go to our friend solely to talk with him? Do we not invite him solely that we may exchange ideas and compare views on subjects of mutual interest? Still, as things go, people meet all through a season in the midst of groups and throngs—at dinners, receptions, entertainments of all kinds—without exchanging one word in the way of true intercourse.—Exchange.

Swift Was a Dunce at School.

Not only philosophers and divines, but some of the most trenchant satirists and brilliant humorists were dull enough as boys. It has been said of Swift in his best days that "he displayed either the blasting lightning of satire or the lambent and meteorlike caricatures of frolicsome humor." And yet this vigorous disputant was considered a fit subject for a fool's cap at school. Afterward at the Dublin university "he was by scholars esteemed a blockhead," who was denied his degree on his first application and obtained it with great difficulty on the second.—London Standard.

Owing to the vast number of invalids who have availed themselves of the free service proposition, the British Doctors find they will be compelled to withdraw their generous offer on the above date. Over two hundred grateful persons have taken advantage of the doctors' free offer, which is sufficient evidence that persons suffering with chronic diseases know they can receive better results under the care of specialists who have had lifelong experience in their treatment alone.

All professional services and minor surgical operations are entirely free for three months (medicines excepted) to those calling for treatment before November 15th.

All forms of male and female weakness, catarrh and catarrhal deafness, diseases of the heart, stomach, nervous system, lungs and blood. Rheumatism, cancer and rectal diseases are cured rapidly by the new treatment.

One of the unexpected results of the extension of the rural free delivery service is the discontinuance of postoffices in the smaller rural communities. As a result of the extensions of the service last year 1,903 postoffices were discontinued, effecting a saving in the salaries of postmasters aggregating $116,807. Thousands of farmers now have no reason for going to town once or twice a week, yet their contact with the world of industrial and intellectual activity is more intimate and direct than it used to be.

The bureau of forestry in its latest report shows that there are now in the United States 54 forest preserves, embracing more than 60,000,000 acres. This is a gain of 14,000,000 acres over the preceding report and is most encouraging. Government, in its effort to encourage scientific forestry and to prevent needless waste of woodland, is doing a most important work and should meet with the hearty co-operation of states, municipalities, societies and individuals.

The United States senate is likely to be the scene of a fight like that which kept Roberts out of the house. Smoot, a Utah Mormon and an alleged polygamist, is practically conceded election to the senate. Plans are already being formulated to keep him from being seated. The senate, ever jealous of its reputation, ought to see that no man becomes a member of that body who is not willing to obey all the laws of the United States.

If Chinese government reports are to be believed, the Boxers are meeting the fate they have invited. But a Chinese report that tells the truth is about as rare as a November strawberry. China will have to maintain a firm hand and keep her official headsman busy if she wants to retrieve her lost reputation and prove that she has a government that can govern.

A cable message, sent around the world by a Boston man, reached him 39 hours and 20 minutes after it started. As it went through Western Union hands a considerable portion of the distance the cable companies should not bear all the blame for the slowness.

Chairman Garber, of the Ohio Democratic committee, calls John R. McLean a Benedict Arnold. The McLean forces call Tom Johnson a traitor. Slowly the reading public is getting at the truth, but Democratic harmony is still a remote and barren ideality.

James K. Jones is confident that Democratic victory for 1904 is in the air. So it is; in the "hot air" of his imagination. James K. is the man whom the inventive genius who wants to extract sunbeams from cucumbers ought to employ.

Dr. Harper observes that the church is "alienating the rich." If this is true it is a less calamity than alienating the poor would be. Give it a strong hold on the humble and religion would be abundantly able to take care of itself.

Purity of English in official documents is being advocated by one of the corporation counsel of the city of New York. This is all very well, but in other lines purity would be much better, if the metropolis could get it.

A few people in Ohio would rather run the great risks of smallpox than the small risks of vaccination, but the law and the medical fraternity give them no support in their untenable position.

If one-half of the Wabash railroads which the newspaper correspondents are projecting in this vicinity ever materialize a glut of freight in Ohio ought to be an absolute impossibility.

WINTER IS COMING

YOU WILL WANT YOUR PLUMBING LOOKED AFTER.

Hyams Well Equipped For Doing It Right, Promptly And Reasonably.

One of the best equipped and most up-to-date plumbing establishments in this section of the state has lately been opened in East Liverpool, and all progressive residents are to be congratulated in consequence.

We refer to the spanking new concern of D. J. Hyams, in 161 Summit Lane, just off of Market, street, in the most densely populated section of the city. The stock of supplies for gas, steam and hot water fitting is new and absolutely unlimited, the building is new and the management is courteous and thoroughly conversant with the needs and demands of the public in this line.

Mr. Hyams is no stranger to the East Liverpool people, having been at the head of the plumbing and steam fitting department of one of the largest establishments in East Liverpool. As is the rule in every case, when a mechanic becomes a thorough master of his art he can better serve the trade when doing business for himself. This is precisely what Mr. Hyams has accomplished, and his storeroom and workshop is second to none.

Being a practical man in every sense of the word, Mr. Hyams has surrounded himself with a class of workmen who are perfect masters of their trade, and can be trusted in any emergency. Thus equipped the concern is in a position to meet the demands of the builders in a thorough and acceptable manner, no matter how large the contract, and as positive proof of this Mr. Hyams asks only to be given a chance to demonstrate the fact by being permitted to figure on your work.

election not so much to his own popularity as to a concerted movement on the part of the potters to defeat Thomas Baddley, his opponent.

In the strike of 1893 Baddley, a pottery worker, refused to go out with the rest of the men.

George Tunnicliffe, the Republican councilman of the Twelfth ward, for many years has had charge of the decorating shop at the Greenwood pottery.

John Brian who, along with Kanz, will represent the Eighth ward, is a member of the Elite Pottery company, and recently a stockholder in the Keystone pottery.

Pottery, lamp and glass establishments are all fairly supplied with business. This is particularly true of the potteries. Several of them are working nights. Practically everything new this season in crockery, whether in shape or decorative effect, has been a winner. The hotel china trade never before attained such proportions and the makers of porcelain, white granite and C. C. goods are busier by far than last season.

The local pottery owners are looking forward for a visit from Edward Stewart, a government agent, who is now on his rounds inspecting industries throughout the country.

The organization of a department of clay working and ceramics at Rutgers college, as provided for by the legislative enactment appropriating $12,000 for the purpose, has been put in charge of Cullen W. Parmelee, instructor in chemistry, during the year, and is rapidly advancing under his supervision. A suitable building has been constructed, a kiln erected, and complete apparatus for the manufacture of tile, brick and pottery purchased. Moreover, a laboratory for the study of the clay worker's problems is being equipped. Two seniors have already begun work in the department, and it is expected that everything will be in working order by November 15.

It is reported here that George Shroppshire, a former Trenton potter, has resigned his position with one of the Wheeling potteries to become director of the decorating department of a large glass and lamp factory in Lancaster, Pa.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is putting in new sidings in the rear of the Greenwood potteries.

The Masonic celebration of the sesqui-centennial of General George Washington's initiation as a Free and Accepted Mason, in Philadelphia, was marked by the presentation of handsome souvenir plates to the guests. The plates were made by the Mercer Pottery company, and were designed by John Pope, superintendent of the art department of the Mercer pottery. The border is an exact reproduction of a dinner set given George Washington by the Society of Cincinnati. It is considered one of the best specimens of Deft or blue ware extant. The blue used is pronounced equal to the the best from England.

CREAMERY LITIGATION

Dispute Over the Dungannon Establishment's Affairs Reaches Circuit Court.

Lisbon, November 8.—(Special.)—The case of the Dungannon Co-Operative Creamery company, in which a dissolution of the corporation is asked, was presented to the circuit court yesterday by Attorney J. M. Dickinson. A petition was filed in 1901 by more than one-fifth of the stockholders, asking that the corporation be dissolved. It was further set forth that the company was getting deeper in debt, having then an indebtedness of over $800, while the capital stock was only $3,600.

A dissolution of the company, it was held, would injure no public interest. The court of common pleas appointed a referee in the matter, who took testimony covering several hundred pages, giving a financial statement. The judge of common pleas court refused to appoint a receiver.

The doctor was not at home, being away attending the funeral of Mrs. Rev. E. R. Donehoo in Pittsburg. It is supposed the robbers thought all the family were away.

It will be the duty of these commissioners to employ a civil engineer and go over the roads of the township for the purpose of ascertaining which of them it will be necessary to improve.

A Good Thing for Wellsville.

The county commissioners arrived in this city at noon yesterday, and after inspecting the new road made by Anderson Bros. accepted it. The new road is one of the best improvements that this city has had for several years. It runs from Steubenville street, near the intersection of Twenty-third street, around the hill to the Flat school house, where it joins the old Irondale county road. It is a new outlet for the city and will be the means of bringing many country people into the town who have heretofore gone elsewhere.

VIEW OF TORONTO

AND ITS MAYOR, WHO IS ALSO AN M. E. PREACHER.

Sells Sewing Machines And Real Estate And Fines Saloonists Without Mercy.

A staff correspondent of the Cleveland Press thus writes up Toronto and its ministerial mayor: This is one of those Ohio river towns that extend "three miles along the river and as far back as you can see." They are built on shelves near the river level, and the view back from the stream, owing to the hills, ranges from two to six blocks. A busy population of 4,500, thriving industries and a promised oil boom are all matters of civil pride, but the crowning glory of Toronto is the most versatile mayor in Ohio.

The crown rests lightly, yet firmly, upon the blond locks of Charles E. Miller. He has been mayor since a year ago last spring. He is a licensed minister of the Methodist church, and often serves as a temporary substitute for regular pastors. He is president of the Northeastern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's association. He sings in the choir of the First M. E. church. He holds membership in Toronto Volunteer Hose company No. 2. He is a member of a real estate firm. He also sells sewing machines. All of these honors, occupations and diversions have been crowded into 33 years.

Whether it be a fire, religious revival, business boom or an affair of state, Mayor Miller is to be found in the forefront.

His comparative youth and religious tendencies caused a good deal of a scare when the Republicans swept him into office last year. He has, however, avoided the sensational, and has given the town a conservative, able administration. He doubled the police force, and it now consists of two men. He placed the force in uniform. Saloonists were for a long time careful to observe the law, but finally became careless as to the hours for closing. When arraigned before the young mayor they got the maximum penalty—$50 fine. They protested that the penalty was excessive, but that they could stand monthly fine of about $25. Miller said he proposed to make it unprofitable to keep open outside of legal hours, and that the limit of $50 would be the standard fine. That discouraged the saloonists, and they have threatened to make a political rumpus when Miller runs again next spring. The threat does not seem to worry him. He will seek indorsement because of the progress and economy that have marked his administration.

the only alternative is a special election.

H. H. Shirer, professor of pedagogics in Heidelberg university, Tiffin, has been chosen to succeed Joseph H. Byers as secretary of the board of state charities. Byers on December 1 will become warden of the intermediate penitentiary of Indiana. He has made a splendid official. He succeeded his father upon his death as secretary of the board. The position has been in the family for many years.

State Printer Mark Slater has returned from Dayton and has announced upon Congressman Nevin's authority that the latter will be a candidate for governor next year. He will begin his canvass at once and will be the first to enter the field. He was a candidate for governor in the convention which nominated Judge Nash, and was third in the race, Harry Daugherty, the brilliant young leader of Fayette, being second.

The Democratic state central committee will meet in this city early in January and undertake the herculean task of reorganizing and rejuvenating the party. Tracers have been sent out to gather in the fragments of the party which have been scattered to the four winds, and if enough can be recovered an attempt will be made to go through the motion of opposing the Republicans in next year's campaign.

Special Counsel Smith M. Bennett is at work on a brief which he will submit in the case of Clayton against the state, involving the right of the Mansfield reformatory managers to transfer prisoners to the penitentiary. The case will be heard on November 10.

Lost

The Use of Arm. Heart Trouble.

Could Not Eat, Sleep or Walk.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Entirely.

"If it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Remedies I would not be here to write this letter. Two years ago last June I lost the use of my left arm, could not use it and could only move it with the help of my right hand. My heart was so weak I could not sleep nights for smothering spells. I was out of sorts all over and could eat nothing. I grew so weak that I could not walk without staggering like a drunken man and my home doctor said he could do nothing for me. I was in so much pain I was almost wild. I could not take morphine nor opium as they made me worse. So I got to thinking about Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and the more I thought about it the more I wanted to try them. I wrote to the Dr. Miles Medical Co. for advice which I followed to the letter. I can say today that I am glad I did as I am a well woman now; can work and can walk two or three miles and not mind it. I can also use my arm again as well as ever. You do not know how thankful I am for those grand medicines Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nervine. I think Dr. Miles' Remedies are the best in the world, and if I should get sick again I should take the same course. The remedies also helped my daughter Vida so wonderfully that I should have written you before to thank you, but I wanted to be sure that the cure was permanent, which I now know to be the case."—Mrs. Frank Loomis, Allen, Mich.

FAMOUS GOODWOOD.

Something About a Historic English Race Course.

The Goodwood race course is quite unique. It is a long way from a station and is not near any town, says the London Tatler. It is on a hill the top of which is shaped like a horseshoe, the space between the two horns being represented by a deep ravine. The course runs round the horseshoe, the start being at the end of one horn and the finish at the end of the other. The result of this is that the equestrians who on other courses contrive to see both start and finish by the simple process of riding across while the race is in progress cannot do so at Goodwood. They must elect which they will see and remain there. On the other hand, the course is very easy to follow with glasses.

The races as an institution are comparatively modern, but there must have been hunt races and matches on this course since the days of William III., when we hear of the Goodwood hunt as in existence. In 1800, however, the then Duke of Richmond made a new course, which is practically the present one. In 1801 the course was completed, and in order to celebrate this a regular meeting was got up by the duke with the assistance of the hunt and some officers of the Sussex militia and yeomanry, and prizes to the value of about £1,000 were put up. This meant a good sum in those days. This was the first Goodwood meeting of importance, and from that year it became an annual event.

A Walking Fern.

Most ferns are confirmed travelers. New fern leaves grow out from the underground roots some distance away from the old plant. The average observer scarcely notices this, but there is a native fern that steps off at so lively a pace that its odd habit has long furnished one of the unceasing entertainments of the woods. The walking fern often carpets ledges and tops of shaded rocks. The slender, tufted leaf fronds are singularly unfernlike in appearance. They squirm about and "walk" by declining their taper tips to the soil and taking root there and growing. In time clusters of new leaf fronds spring from such rooted tips. By and by some of these, too, bite the earth and, taking root, start still other colonies, which in turn will continue the progress again and again. Naturally, with the lapse of time, the connection between the older tufts and the younger becomes broken, yet one sometimes finds series of three or four linked together, representing as many steps in the pretty ramble.—Country Life In America.

A Hint to Mothers of Small Children.

Mrs. Joshua Nutter, of Swiftwater, N. H., says: "When our dealer did not have Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in stock we used another preparation in treating our children, but it did little or no good. We have used this remedy for colds and croup with the highest success, and do not feel safe without it in the house." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always cures and is pleasant and safe to take. SMART HEADGEAR FOR THE CHILDREN

Woolen Hats and Caps That May Be Knitted or Crocheted by Skillful Fingers

IT is often difficult to know what Christmas present to give to an infant. A warm hat is always serviceable. To make one are required three ounces of single white Berlin wool, a bone crochet needle size 10, two knitting needles size 10, three yards ribbon.

Commence in the center of the crown with 4 chain, join to form a ring, work into it 18 treble stitches.

Second Round.—Two double crochet into each treble, taking the 2 back loops of each stitch.

BABY'S HAT.

Third Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Fourth Round.—Two d. c. into each treble.

Fifth Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Sixth Round.—One d. c. into each treble.

Seventh Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Eighth Round.—Two d. c. into first stitch, 1 into second stitch, repeat.

Ninth Round.—One treble into each. This forms the top of crown; next work another piece exactly like it for the inside, lay the two parts together (the wrong sides together) and work 1 round of treble, taking the two top loops of each part together; next round, in treble, missing every third stitch. This contracts the crown a little and makes it set a little full over the border; work 3 more rounds of treble without any decrease.

For the loop border cast on 12 stitches, knit 1 plain row.

Second row, slip first stitch * with the second stitch, wind the wool three times round the two first fingers of the left hand, third stitch, wind the wool three times round the first finger only, repeat from * until last stitch, which is knitted plain.

Third row plain.

Fourth Row.—Knit in loops, putting the wool round one finger over the long loops and round two fingers over the short loops. Work 60 rows of loops and cast off, join and sew round the hat over the 4 rounds of treble. Make a pretty tuft for the center of the crown; crochet 2 lengths of chain with double wool; make a tassel for each end; tie into loops and arrange on the left side of hat with loops of ribbon. Sew half a yard of ribbon on each side for the strings.

For an older child's Tam O'Shanter commence to crochet at center of crown with 6 chain, join to form a ring, into it work 12 double crochet, next 4 rounds of d. c., always working 2 into each alternate stitch and always taking both top loops of each stitch.

Fifth Round.—Without any increase.

Sixth Round.—Two d. c. into every fourth stitch; repeat these 2 rounds 4

CROCHETED TAM O'SHANTER.

times. Next work 8 rounds without any increase, making 23 in all; this forms the crown of cap.

Twenty-fourth Round.—One d. c. into each stitch of twenty-second round. Doing this forms the edge and has the appearance of cording.

The next three rounds pass over every third stitch and take back loops only of stitches.

Six rounds without any increase.

Next Round.—All treble stitches, taking both top loose of each stitch in previous row. Two more rounds of treble are worked and finished. Make a tuft for center of crown by winding the wool 100 times round two fingers, tie and cut to form a half ball. Sew to the center of crown, draw in all ends, and the "tam" is completed.

PINGPONG PINCUSHION.

Up to Date Adaptation of a Very Useful and Appropriate Gift.

The friend who is devoted to pingpong will be amused to find among his or her presents on Christmas morning the funny little figure shown in the sketch. The body of the Chinaman is a sausagelike bag stuffed with sawdust or emery powder. His robe is of flowered silk lined with plain silk like that which appears on the bands. His head is a celluloid pingpong ball, upon which features are drawn with india ink or painted with water colors. His cue is made of horsehair, which is glued to the top of his head. The head itself is glued to the body. Pins and needles are to be fastened in the robe.

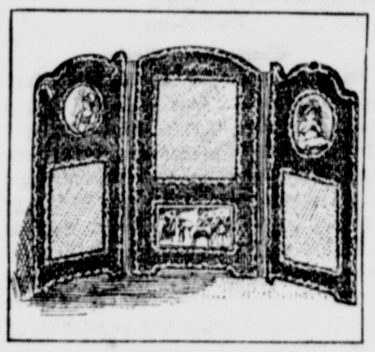

PINGPONG PINCUSHION

Another fancy for pins is the doll pincushion. Choose an ordinary china doll about five inches in height, with movable arms and legs and a sweet face and plenty of pretty curly hair. Dress the dainty little lady in her long clothes. Four strips of fine white flannel 2 inches wide and 8 inches long must be carefully buttonholed round the edges, then firmly fastened round the baby doll's waist. Into these are placed needles, white pins, black pins and safety pins. Then comes the baby's dress, which is made of two strips of dainty ribbon about 3 inches wide and 10 inches long—one strip for the front and one for the back, held in position by baby ribbon. It is hung up by a loop of ribbon.

SCREEN FOR PHOTOGRAPHS

An Excellent Gift For Those Who Have a Large Stock of Pictures.

As every one has on hand more photographs than can be provided for, anything in the shape of a frame is certain to be a valued Christmas gift. The screen photograph holder is made of strawboard covered with silk or satin, which is embroidered with floss or gold or silver thread. The panels are cut large enough to accommodate one cabinet photograph and one carte de visite. The outline of each panel is sketched on the strawboard before it is cut. On the inner side of each panel is pasted a sheet of white glazed paper. The cover is of light material on the inside and of some darker shade of the same color on the outside. Three edges of the back and front of each panel are stitched together on the machine. The lower part is left open that the silk, when turned right side out, may be slipped over the strawboard. When the cover is in place, the lower edge is finished with a narrow hem, but is not sewed together. A silk cord may be used as a frame for the openings cut for the photographs. The pictures are slipped into place from below.

DUCK LAUNDRY BAG.

Many Useful Souvenirs May Be Fashioned of Duck, Drill or Holland.

A simple and inexpensive holiday gift is a laundry bag of strong duck. A little girl can make one for her mother, for the instruction is so simple that it needs no experienced hand to cut it out, stitch it together or line it with the linen embroidery cotton. The lively Chinaman on one side of the bag is stamped on the duck. A casing is run along the upper part of the bag, and through this passes an ornamental cord for a drawstring. The open top is neatly hemmed. The most convenient dimensions for such a bag are 27 by 18 inches.

LAUNDRY BAG.

A shoe bag can be made of duck or of brown holland or blue drill, cut in a strip 28 inches long by 8 wide. Fold over to make the bag and leave five inches at one end to form the flap. Bind the edges with ribbon or turn them in and finish with a border of buttonholing or featherstitching. Work the initials of the recipient on the lid and make two buttonholes, which are to fasten to two buttons sewed in position to meet them on the bag. Then work the word "Shoes" in large letters across the bag. If the bag be blue drill, embroider in white; if of holland, embroider in blue or pink. If you bind the edges with ribbon, choose the ribbon to match the embroidery cotton. This size of bag holds only one pair of shoes. For a larger size cut the same length, 28 inches, and make the width 16 or 24 inches. Make up with divisions of featherstitching at intervals of eight inches, so that each pair of shoes is kept in a separate compartment. The flap falls over the entire width, with a buttonhole to fasten in the center of each compartment.

The business man will appreciate a good leather pocketbook, with several compartments and a place for stamps. It should be as thin and as strong as possible.

ODD CHRISTMAS CARDS.

Something Which Amateur Photographers Can Make.

What prettier idea than that our Christmas cards should be enriched with photographs of scenes familiar to sender and recipient alike, especially when sending to friends in some foreign country? Much individuality may be expressed in arrangements of still life, bric-a-brac, fruit, etc. Flowers and plants always make pretty compositions, but it is best to choose seasonable ones, such as Christmas roses, holly, mistletoe, etc. The result aimed at is to secure a decorative quality in the work. This may be either in the photograph itself, as in the case of flowers, grasses, etc., or it may be introduced by accessory work, such as borders or other ornamentation in pen and ink or wash. Very pretty effects may be obtained by using two photographs in combination, one as a background to the other. A group of views arranged in some novel manner would also afford scope for much originality.

A simple border can easily be added to any photograph and will give a finish to the picture, but where there have been much labor and time spent in decorative work the best plan is to rephotograph the whole to any size desired and then print off the number of copies to send away.

Lettering must be carefully done and a style of type chosen which harmonizes best with the general character of the card.

AN AUTOMOBILE PILLOW.

Design Which Is Suitable For a Cushion Cover of Any Material.

Sofa pillows incased in fancy covers are acceptable holiday gifts. The cost of the feathers or the down required to mold these comforts into shape is considerable, and many families who would gladly increase their cushion supply cannot afford to do so.

Cushions whose covers bear embroidered automobiles are considered particularly up to date. They are suitable for libraries or dining rooms. If the dealer in fancy work cannot stamp the cloth with such a pattern, save from a newspaper or a magazine an automobiling scene and with carbon paper transfer the picture to the fabric. Then outline the design with floss.

A cushion cover of this sort may be made of denim, linen or silk. A ruffle consisting of a double fold of the material should be gathered to a moderate fullness and then stitched between the covers.

A plush cushion cover would look handsome with appliques of gold, and an ivory satin one would look lovely in the exquisite blue Japanese embroidery. The pattern can be worked or painted and the machine made handsome by gold and silver embroideries on it. Cushions are quite things of beauty, and they really are not expensive.

A Gift For Grandma.

What gift could be nicer for grandmother than the dainty tie shown in the sketch? It may be embroidered on black or white net or black or white silk muslin. Net is more easily embroidered and is therefore preferable. If the foundation is silk net, use fine silk embroidery floss and a fine silk ribbon for making the knots. The flowers are done with silk thread. The ribbon should be used for making the edges.

Health and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood. Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removes such troubles.

Case of this Prominent Chicago Woman Should Give Everyone Confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to add my testimonial to the great number who are today praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Three years ago I broke down from excessive physical and mental strain. I was unable to secure proper rest, also lost my appetite, and I became so nervous and irritable too that my friends trembled, and I was unable to attend to my work. Our physician prescribed for me, but as I did not seem to improve, I was advised to go away. I could neither spare the time nor money, and was very much worried when, fortunately, one of my club friends called. She told me how she had been cured of ovarian troubles, and how like my symptoms were to hers, seven bottles of your medicine cured her, and she insisted that I take some.

"I did so, and am glad that I followed her advice. Within six weeks I was a different woman, strong and robust in health, and have been so ever since.

"A number of my friends who have been troubled with ailments peculiar to our sex have taken your compound, and have also been greatly benefited." — MISS ELIZABETH DALEY, 270 Loomis St., Chicago, Ill. President of the St. Ruth's Court, Order of Foresters, Catholic.

What is left for the women of America, after reading such letters as we publish, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends, when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely the experience of hundreds of thousands of women, whom the Compound has cured, should convince all women.

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these cures of thousands of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—stick to the medicine that you know is the Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

SOCIAL EVENTS

PLEASING RECEPTION

Given by Mrs. H. A. McNicol in Honor of Miss Robinson to a Large Number of Friends.

The handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. McNicol last evening, was the scene of one of the most elegant social functions of the season. The party was given in honor of Miss Georgia Robinson, a cousin of Mrs. McNicol.

A large number of guests spent the first part of the evening in card playing, while other guests retired to the adjoining room where Miss Robinson, an accomplished violinist, with Miss Elizabeth Hamil and Mrs. James Rinehart, entertained them with classical, instrumental solos and duets. The music throughout the evening was very much appreciated.

Prizes were awarded to the card-players, the first prize being a handsome cut glass dish, while the consolation prize was one of the late novels beautifully bound.

Later in the evening an elaborate luncheon was served, which re-established the reputation of the hostess as an able caterer of no mean ability. The colors in the dining room, which were predominant in the confections, etc., were green and white. At the close of the luncheon, favors of beautiful large chrysanthemums in pink or white were presented to each guest.

The hostess was elegantly attired in a fashionable combination of black net and black satin ribbon, embellished with a large green chou and the same becoming color at the neck.

It has long been known that Mrs. McNicol possessed remarkable social ability, but it was last evening that she proved herself a most magnificient hostess.

SUCCESSFUL EVERY WAY

The Y. M. C. A. Supper And Flower Show Most Enjoyable as Well as Profitable.

The ladies of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary were again greeted last evening by a large attendance, who did ample justice to the elegant supper served them. Mrs. J. C. Allison and Mrs. E. L. Trimmer, who had charge of the affair, had a most efficient corps of assistants.

The decorations of the flower booth in green and white were very pretty being under the supervision of Mrs Edwin M. Knowles, who is noted for her taste and ability. The flower booth last evening netted the neat sum of $90. The candy booth, which was also prettily arranged, cleared about $30.

Throughout the evening the Peerless Mandolin club entertained the crowd with choice selections. It is thought by the ladies that $300 or $400 was made last evening, the affair being successful in every regard.

Chautauqua Circle.

The Chautauqua circle met last evening at the home of Miss Agnes Jones on Fifth street. The first part of the evening was spent in parliamentary drill, including the organization of mass meetings, which was in charge of Mrs. McKelvey. Later there was a discussion on the "Duke of Wellington" followed by a "Bird's Eye View of Poland." The ladies present were much delighted with the vocal solo by Miss Jones.

Agreeably Entertained.

Mrs. W. H. Vodrey and Miss Mary Vodrey entertained a large number of their friends yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Vodrey, on Fifth and College streets. The afternoon, which was a very enjoyable one, was spent in progressive peanuts, after which a luncheon was served. The hostess may well be congratulated upon the perfection of their appointments.

To Arrange Rummage Sale.

There will be a meeting of the hospital association Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. Monroe Patterson. All the members will be present at 7:30 o'clock. The business of the meeting will be to make final arrangements for the rummage sale to be given on Second street in the Farmer block, for the benefit of the hospital in the near future.

Blood Wine Snatched Him from Jaws of Death. Senator Hanson's Glowing Tribute.

We often learn of marvelous surgical operations—of a man having his stomach removed, or of a missing vertebra being replaced by a silver one in the spine, and of other wonderful feats, and we read of them with open-mouthed astonishment. Yet when an equally miraculous recovery is made from some terrible disease—by the use of a medicine—people do not give the medicine equal credit. "Blood Wine" has performed some truly magical cures—cures of diseases that baffled physicians for years. When a man suffer for years, loses his strength, flesh, endurance; wastes away from stout manhood to a frail skeleton, and at last is saved by the use of a medicine, shouldn't credit be given to that medicine? Shouldn't such a result prove its value? Shouldn't such positive proof speak stronger than words? Read the experience of Wm. S. Bowie, of Charlestown, Mass.:

"For a number of years I suffered with chronic diarrhœa (any one who has had it for one day only, knows what a terrible disease it is). It sapped my strength, and changed me from a strong, healthy man to a frail, puny fellow. I would gladly have given $500.00 for a cure. Physicians doctored me until I was almost sick of seeing them come. They did me no good. I grew worse and worse, until death stared me in the face. I was absolutely hopeless. With a great deal of prejudice I was one day talked into trying 'Blood Wine.' To my great surprise I found it helped me. I stuck to it regularly, following directions, and in time it cured me entirely. I cannot express my gratitude in the limits of a letter, but will say that I know it saved my life, and that I think it the greatest medicine in the world."

A great many physicians buy "Blood Wine" in large quantities for their patients. A great many hospitals and dispensaries use it. Intelligent people who are familiar with its origin, who know the theory upon which it cures disease, by its great and peculiar action upon the blood, take it in preference to anything else. Ex-Senator Hanson, of Massachusetts, whose home is in Lowell, Mass., has this to say of "Blood Wine":

"I think 'Blood Wine' is a wonderful medicine. The effect that it has on a debilitated system is almost beyond comprehension, and I don't believe there is a disease of the blood, or a disease produced by a condition of the blood that it will not eradicate. I have kept it in my family since its first introduction into this country, and consider it just as much a necessity as flour or sugar."

Senator Hanson is a man who wouldn't have anything but the best. He is a man of great executive ability, and a very active brain. He uses "Blood Wine" right along to keep his brain clear and active, and his body free from ache or pain. Thousands of people do the same. "Blood Wine" never disappoints. If you are in bad health and you take "Blood Wine," you are just as sure to feel better as the sun is sure to rise and set. It cures disease by working on the blood. Blood is life, and "Blood Wine" eradicates all the elements of disease from the blood that rob us of life.

FREE BLOOD TEST.

If you want your blood examined by an expert bacteriologist, you can have it done free of charge by sending your name to the Louis Daudelin Co., Worcester, Mass., for free particulars. Remember that nearly all diseases show themselves in the blood. The powerful microscope reveals the germs, impurities and disease like an open book. Never before was such an opportunity offered. Take advantage of it at once. "Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle.

MRS. HELENA BLAU,

Young Milwaukee Society Woman.

Mrs. Helena Blau.

TEN thousand cured women have written to tell how Wine of Cardui bestows the blessing of health on every woman who takes it, rich and poor alike. Mrs. Helena Blau, No. 123 Seventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis., is one of the young women whom Wine of Cardui has rescued from a life of suffering. She writes:

"Wine of Cardui is certainly 'worn out' women's best friend and I am pleased to give my experience with it. A few months ago I caught a severe cold, having been out in inclement weather, which settled all over me, particularly in the abdomen. I was in almost constant pain. I consulted a physician and took his medicine for a month and without any relief. I then decided I would try your medicine and it was a lucky day for me when I did so. I noticed a change in a few days and felt encouraged to continue taking Wine of Cardui, and my patience was rewarded, for in two weeks my pains had left me and I felt like a new woman."

The woman who has suffered from female weakness should do anything within reason to secure health. Wine of Cardui is the medicine that appeals to reasonable women—women who hold operations and cutting in horror—women who know that Nature is the best physician. Wine of Cardui gives women back their health by giving Nature a chance to build up the wasted and diseased tissue. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow and Nature, when relieved of the drains or of the poisons in the system, makes the functional organs strong and healthy again.

Any woman who is silently suffering untold pains because she is too sensitive to undergo a physician's examination and treatment can find no excuse for not securing relief when Wine of Cardui is offered to her. There is no publicity to deter her. She can take Wine of Cardui in the privacy of her home, with as much assurance of a final cure as though a dozen doctors recommended it. Many physicians do recommend Wine of Cardui to their patients.

Why not get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

FAST BEING MADE A BIG RAILROAD

Lake Erie, Alliance and Wheeling to Be Extended 50 Miles Further.

WILL THEN REACH FAIRPORT

The Line Passes Through Five Coal Districts And the Company Has Leases On Large Tracts of Valuable Coal Lands.

The shareholders of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling railroad have just made the first inspection trip over their property. Since May, 1901, the line has undergone general changes. The track has been improved and the road bed has been ballasted. New bridges have been put in and new rails have been laid until the road is in good shape both for freight and passenger traffic. The enormous coal land tapped is alone sufficient to furnish the company a most excellent future and to this end millions will be spent for extensions and betterments next year.

The road is a merger of the old Alliance & Northern, running from Phalanx to Alliance, the Ohio River & Lake Erie from Alliance to Bergholz and the right of way belonging to a company known as the Cleveland & Wheeling. The consolidation was effected in 1900, and with the extension built south of Bergholz during the last year, the road is about ninety miles long. The old Alliance & Northern line has been overhauled completely and four miles of new track have been laid north of Alliance. Nine miles of new track has been laid out of Alliance and eighteen miles of new road have been built from Bergholz to Hopedale, the point where the Cleveland & Wheeling right of way commences. From Hopedale several miles have been completed to a point about three miles below Piney Fork. It is the intention to build to Dillonvale connection is made with the road into Wheeling later. At Dillonvale connections is made with the Wheeling & Lake Erie so that entrance by connection can soon be furnished.

It is announced that next the principal work to be done will be the extension from Phalanx to Fairport, a distance of fifty miles. Preliminary plans for this work are now under way. One hundred and seventy-five acres have been purchased for dock facilities at Fairport and necessary provisions have been made for rights of way. The cost of building this line, together with other improvements of next year, will amount to several million dollars. When the line is completed the entire trackage will be about 155 miles. It will then connect with the great trunk lines, crossing the Lake Shore and Nickel Plate, besides the Erie, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wheeling & Lake Erie, and the proposed route of the Wabash. The attitude of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling is friendly, it is understood, to these lines, but will remain independent of all.

The route of this north and south line passes through five coal districts, containing about 50,000 acres. The company which owns the road is the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling Coal company, which owns 9,000 acres of coal land. Two thousand acres of this amount have been leased by the Jefferson Coal company, and this, together with other mammoth tracts, make an estimated total of 400,000,000 tons of coal in the immediate territory of the railroad. This amount is figured from the acreage of coal-producing property, and it is estimated that it will require 2,000 years to mine the product at the rate of twenty-five car loads a day, though the present rate is higher than this.

ARRESTED AND FINED

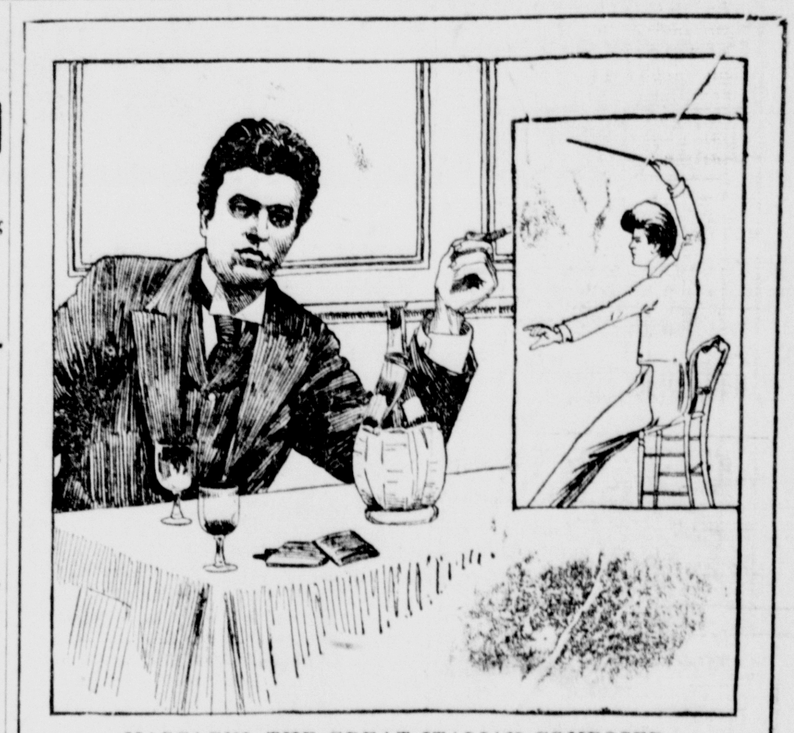

Funkhouser, of Shantytown, Accused of Insulting a Woman. Pleaded Guilty.

As a result of his rantings in the shantyboat district between Market and Jackson streets Thursday evening Frank Funkhouser was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Mahoney and taken before 'Squire McCarron.

The warrant for his arrest was sworn to by Mrs. Elizabeth Knapp, who charged him with insulting her. She stated that he for a time acted as though he intended to attempt personal violence, and he relented upon firing a volume of insulting remarks at her. So angry was Mrs. Knapp that she could not wait until daybreak yesterday morning to find an officer to make out the necessary papers for the man's arrest. Before dawn she applied at the home of Officer Dawson and started to tell her story, but he would not listen and she turned in another direction.

Going to the mayor's office, she met with a cold reception, being told that if she wanted any one prosecuted she would have to produce money enough to secure the costs. As a last resort she went to a 'squire's court and had the papers issued.

Officer Mahoney arrested the man at the depot and took him before the 'squire, who fined him $1 and costs upon his offering a plea of guilty.

POLICE WANT HIM

A Degraded Brute or a Crazy Man Frightens Women And Children.

An unknown man for a week or more has been wanted by the police. A description of the brute has been given to the officers, but as yet they have been unable to locate a person tallying with it. Every evening it is said that the man stations himself on a street between Market and Washington streets and while school children are passing behaves most disgracefully. Several little girls were so badly frightened on Friday evening that when they reached their homes they were unable for an hour or more to explain to their parents the cause.

A woman was insulted by the man Thursday evening and she reported the matter to an older brother, who started out in search of the vile character, but after hunting for an hour or more was unsuccessful. It is said that the man is past 50 years of age and that he is long a resident of the city. The children whom he has frightened think him a crazy person and say he follows them every night.

COULD NOT PROVE IT

And F. Wright, Who Charged Sullivan With Theft, Failed to Produce Enough Evidence.

Concluding that he could not produce evidence that would convict Thomas Sullivan, an erstwhile resident of Pittsburg, but living in East Liverpool for several months, of the larceny of a valuable piece of coin, F. Wright, a stranger in the city, appeared at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon at the time set for Sullivan's trial and withdrew the charge. Before doing so, however, he was required to pay the costs incurred by preferring the charge.

The mayor released Sullivan from the jail upon his promise to not be found again in bad company and his offer to clean the cells of the city prison. Wright stated, when he withdrew the charge, that he was with Sullivan Thursday night, but owing to the fact that there were also several others with him he could not prove that Sullivan was the guilty party. Sullivan was charged with stealing a souvenir worth $20 from Wright in a saloon on Market street.

A Report of Chinese Viceroy Give Details of Boxer Outbreak.

THIRTEEN WERE BEHEADED.

Tells of Attack on Chen Tu—Battle Raged All Night—Some Elements of Discord Still Exist—Not Much to Be Feared, However.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 8.—Mail advices received from the Orient include official reports from Kuei Chun, ex-viceroy of Sze Chuan, detailing the recent Boxer outbreak there. After relating the incidents leading up to the destruction of the churches in the two districts and the murder of many native converts, the report says:

"Several regiments of troops were sent to the disturbed places, and, besides slaying two or three hundred of the insurgents, succeeded in capturing several, who were brought to Cheng Tu and decapitated.

"Between 5,000 and 6,000 Boxers assembled in Hwa Yang Hsien, Chin Tang Hsien and Shien Chou, where they occupied the market towns and killed as many captains of the train bands as they could get hold of. A small force was sent to the Boxers to exhort them to disperse. I did not take stringent measures on this occasion because I feared that among the Boxers there might be many famine stricken inhabitants, who were not disposed to do evil, but were simply misled by the Boxers. A fight followed and 200 Boxers were killed and the others were driven back. Many entrenched themselves and the force sent was obliged to return."

The report continues describing the disaffection throughout the province, which prevented garrisons being transferred, and then tells of the attack on Cheng Tu, where three regiments and 600 banner men had been assembled for defense. The Boxers attacked the imperial troops in the outskirts of Cheng Tu and a hot battle followed, which lasted for a whole night, with the result that between 400 and 500 rebels were slain, about 1,000 were dispersed and the rest retreated to Ching Tang Hsien, where they burned the churches and put many natives to death. When the imperial troops were dispatched to Ching Tang Hsien, the Boxers proceeded to Hsuao Ching Ping, where they joined forces with other insurgents. A battle was fought there and 300 Boxers were put to the sword. Defeated there, the Boxers fled to the hills at Suchiawan, where they found refuge for the time being, but reinforcements of imperial troops arrived and marched against the rebels in Suchiawan from three different directions, slaying about 1,400 of them and capturing 13 alive, who were beheaded on the spot, after undergoing a formal trial.

Concluding the report, the viceroy says:

"Although there still exists elements of disorder, there is not much to be feared from the Boxers, because all of the rebel chiefs have been exterminated."

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW

Unusually Large Fall Distribution---Complaint of Slow Freight Movement.

REDUCTION IN TIN PLATES

Shortage of Coke Interferes With Furnaces—Tone of Structural Iron Market Slightly Easier, With Demand Good.

New York, Nov. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Trade and industry are making steady progress, reports from all sections of the country containing evidences of wholesome development. An unusually large fall distribution occurred and current transactions in heavier goods are liberal, considering the mildness of the season. Complaints of slow freight movement are still heard, testifying to the enormous volume of business handled by the railways, which report earnings for October 4.8 per cent larger than last year and 14.2 per cent above 1900. It is the exception when manufacturing plants have not contracts assuring activity for many months and annual inventories will be taken with difficulty, owing to importunate customers. Prices of commodities, proportioned to consumption, as shown by Dun's index number, declined about 1 per cent during October, $99,579, comparing with $100,648. The decrease occurred in meats and fuel, mainly the latter.

The only development of note in the iron and steel market has been the 10 per cent reduction in price of tin plates to take effect Dec. 1. While some change was anticipated, the trade was not prepared for so large a cut. If the recent lowering of price lists in certain sections of the market should stimulate foreign trade, there will be occasion for gratification, as some exceptional export movement is needed to offset the heavy imports of pig iron and billets. Many furnaces have been compelled to bank because of the poor receipts of coke, and there is little evidence of improvement in the railway situation, motive power being utterly inadequate.

Contracts run far into the future in structural material for bridges and buildings, while plates are sought by car works and ship yards. High premiums are still paid for prompt delivery, but most shipments are on old contracts placed at regular list prices. Recent enlargement of facilities has greatly increased production in many lines, which explains the slightly easier tone of the market as a whole, but there is no evidence of diminished demand nor unsound conditions.

Some declines in the raw material did not produce any lower offering prices for cotton goods, although it made buyers all the more anxious to delay placing contracts. As a result the movement is only for immediate requirements, and there are complaints that old orders are not being filled according to contract. Export orders are limited.

REVOLUTION COLLAPSING.

Venezuela Rebels Retreat—Attributed to Shortage of Ammunition, Generals Disagree.

La Victoria, Venezuela, Nov. 8.—News has been received here concerning the retreat of the revolutionary forces. It is to the effect that on the night of Nov. 1 the revolutionists withdrew from their positions near La Victoria and San Mateo because they were without ammunition. The fact that the rebels lacked cartridges caused a disagreement between General Matos and General Rolando, which was followed by hot words. General Rolando declared that the shortage of ammunition was the fault of General Matos and that if the success of the revolution was endangered by this condition, General Matos alone was responsible. He said that all was lost and with his followers, about 3,200 men, he withdrew from the main body of the rebels in the direction of Alta Gracia. It is reported that General Rolando proclaimed "Elmocho" Hernandez as the leader of the revolution.

It is difficult to understand the apparent sudden and complete collapse of the revolutionary movement. But a few days ago the rebels seemed to be upon the eve of victory, while yesterday their cause seemed absolutely lost.

PRESIDENT STICKNEY TESTIFIED

Declares Before Interstate Commerce Commission That Railroads Do Not Desire to Injure Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—President A. B. Stickney, of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company, was the first witness at the second day's session of the interstate commerce commission yesterday. Mr. Stickney's testimony was to the effect that while there was an apparently large disparity between the rates on live stock and the finished product, yet the conditions of transportation made the two rates almost equal.

President Stickney declared that all rates are established on a basis of an absolutely free market, and the intention of the railroad company is not to hurt Chicago or to build up Kansas City. The rate of 18½ cents on packing house products, he said, was made after negotiations with large shippers, and while the Great Western had secured the best rate it could arrange, yet the one now established is not unreasonable. He further asserted that the live stock rate, all things considered, is not out of proportion to the other. He closed his testimony by stating that rates should be based on the cost of service and not on the value of the property hauled.

W. B. Biddle, freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe road, who was the next witness, took issue with President Stickney in regard to rates on live stock. He began by stating that the rates established by his company on packing house products are the same as those of the Great Western road, while on live stock it is only 12 cents, compared with 23½ cent. as charged by the Great Western line. The witness said that the cost of both was about equal, and that railroad men generally recognize that rates should be higher on the finished product than on live stock.

WALL STREET IRREGULAR.

Dealings Small and Professional—Decline In Bank Reserves.

New York, Nov. 8.—The irregular tone of the market continued yesterday. The level of prices was above Thursday night for the greater part of the day, but the advances were exceedingly spotty, and were not well maintained. In the late dealings, as was the case Thursday, the efforts of professional operators to realize profits on the early advance wiped out the advance and the market closed weak, with net losses sprinkled all through the list. No important gains were left at the close. The dealings were smaller than Thursday and were even more strictly professional. The operations could not be said to represent any conviction on the speculative outlook, but were simply the result of the efforts of professional traders to find a current of prices for the purpose of making a turn.

Sugar was a drag on the market throughout and its final dip of 2⅝ was an influence in the general weakness. The stiffening of the call money rate at the last and the promise of a poor bank statement were contributory factors to the reaction. A decline in bank reserves for the week of upwards of $3,000,000 is indicated. New York exchange at Chicago rose 10 cents to 20 cents discount. Additional reports of a decreasing tendency in the net earnings of railroads had to be faced. Among the early points of strength the soft coalers were conspicuous.

Constipation Makes Bad Blood.

MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CURES CONSTIPATION

Constipation is the rotting and decaying of undigested food in the alimentary canal. Disease germs arise from this festering mass, which find their way into the blood. The blood becomes impure and shortly the entire system gives way to the unhealthy condition.

You cannot cure a case like this by taking pills or other common cathartics. A laxative will not do. A blood medicine is ineffective. Mull's Grape Tonic is a gentle and mild laxative in addition to being a blood-making and strength-giving tonic which immediately builds up the wasted body and makes rich, red blood that carries its health-giving strength to every tissue at every heart beat.

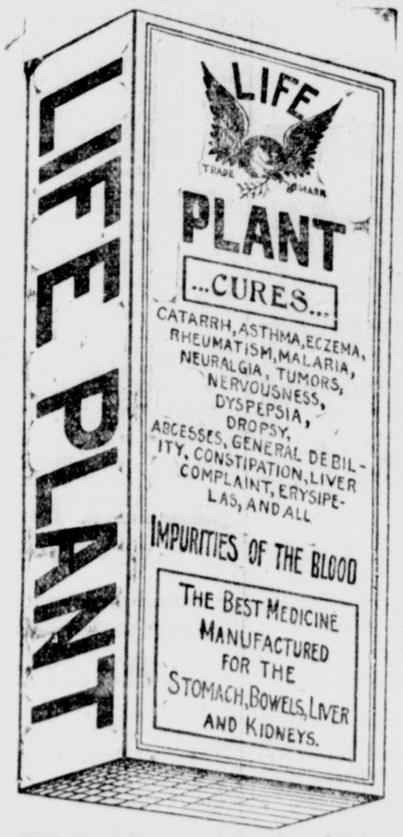

Mull's Grape Tonic is made of pure crushed fruit juices and is sold under a positive guarantee.

OUR NATIVE TREES

... By ...

THOMAS H. MACBRIDE, Ph. D.,
Professor of Botany, Iowa State University.

III.—Longevity of Trees.

FROM what has been said in the preceding chapters it might be presumed that there is no end to the growth and development of a tree. By its very structure the tree is a thing of life wound up to run on forever. It winds itself up, the cambium renewing itself year after year. As Wordsworth puts it, a tree is—

A living thing
Produced too slowly ever to decay,
Of form and aspect too magnificent
To be destroyed.

Dr. Holmes touches the subject more lightly, but to the same effect:

In fact, there's nothing that keeps its youth,
As I'm informed, but a tree and truth.

Nevertheless trees are not immortal, some of them far enough from it. They have their limitations, constitutional even, and share ultimately the fate of all terrestrial things.

In the first place, most trees die by violence, by accident of one sort or other. In battle with the wind and storm the tree by its very form is at great mechanical disadvantage. This disadvantage increases with every added inch of height or width. Other things being equal, it is only a question of time, in an exposed position at least, until by the very circumstance of growth the tree gives to the wind a leverage sure to be disastrous. The long branch or even the lengthening top may snap beneath an unusual weight of ice or snow. The loss to the tree is threefold. It loses the part destroyed, which is bad enough. It loses equipoise, the balance which between all its parts the slow progress of the years has brought about, and in so far becomes more certain of destruction in some later storms. But, worse than all, the tree is wounded with a lesion that late or never heals, most likely never. Decay ensues, the tree becomes hollow, and presently the fragile shell, even though living, sinks into ruin.

It is interesting here to note the adaptations in the form and habit of trees, the adaptations by means of which unfavorable meteoric conditions are more successfully resisted. For instance, all trees, especially when developed in isolation, have broad, far spreading bases. If developed together, the forest itself has an expanded base, and the trees protect each other. The deciduous leaved trees throw down their leaves at the approach of winter, and thus strip for the battle with snow and ice, which would otherwise crush their branches to the earth. The cone bearers, old fashioned trees that they are, hold their foliage, part of it, it is true, but note its peculiar character and the position it assumes. There is nowhere in the world a prettier adaptation than the sparse, fringed needles of the pine, through which the wind and storm may whistle, or the drooping, taper, fingerlike branches of the spruce or fir, shedding the falling snowflakes. In all the trees the branches themselves are specially constructed to meet the onset of the blast. Trees shed not their leaves alone, but their twigs, only a comparatively few surviving to carry forward the limb's extension. Compare the cottonwood, on which the twigs are few; the elm even, or the oak, where their number is very small when contrasted with the number started; the coffee bean tree, on which there is scarcely one. Indeed, we may say in general that if a tree be closely studied its form will accurately proclaim the conditions by which it has all along been surrounded. The whole tree is an adaptation to its environment.

But, in the second place, the longevity of trees seems to a great extent purely a matter of habit. Some trees are short lived by habit, naturally short lived, as we might say. The broad leaved aspen, for instance, lives, at least in many parts of the country, but a few decades, in Iowa hardly thirty years. Such trees seem to reach a certain maturity and then die for no appreciable reason. Some oaks have similar constitutional tendencies. The black oaks are said to be less enduring than the white oaks. Some species of the black oak group die at fifty to seventy years. The oaks of Europe are apparently longer lived than those of North America. The famous oak at Cozes, in southern France, is certainly more than 1,000 years old. Cæsar may have stood beside it.

We reckon a tree's years by the number of its rings as seen upon its section. Every year, certain as the succession of seedtime and harvest, witnesses for the tree the increment of vernal and autumnal wood, so that in case of a fallen tree or of a tree any part of whose section can be seen we may count the rings of growth and know with very great exactness the number of its years. The only exceptions are found in the case of very young shoots or trees, where sometimes more than one ring is formed in a single year. So also on older trees after accidental loss of foliage a second feeble ring is sometimes added. But as a rule the rings of a tree are as its years.

By counting thus the rings on a section and comparing the radius, half the tree's diameter, we easily obtain the thickness of the average annual increase and so may estimate the age of other trees of the same sort whose diameter is known. Thus, in the case of the French oak referred to, a block eighteen inches thick, taken about ten feet from the ground, shows 200 annual rings. As the diameter of the tree at that level is about thirty feet, the tree is evidently about 2,000 years old. The interior of this tree, which was perfectly sound, has been shaped into a dining room, where around a center table twelve hungry travelers may be served at once. As the tree attains such hoary age the rate of growth becomes ever slower. The amount of efficient foliage is generally proportionately smaller, while the surface over which the annual accumulation must be spread is wider year by year. There lies before us the section of an oak which in seventy-five years attained a diameter of one foot. The next inch of the radius, counting outward, cost the labor of twenty-five years, so that the increase in diameter at the last was less than a line a year. Dr. Gray estimates the growth of our southern cypress after the first three or four hundred years to be no more than one-third of a line per annum.

It is easy, therefore, for us to believe that very large trees are very old. Some of the great trees in California have been cut down to make grapevine stakes, and on their stumps the rings have been counted. On one the number rises to 2,200. Nay, more, John Muir tells us that in the King's river forest he counted 4,000 rings on a single stump!

But the oldest tree on the continent is thought to be the Oaxaca cypress. The circumference of the tree is given at 112 feet as the minimum. Putting the annual increment in diameter at a line a year, which is certainly far in excess of the truth, we have 5,124 years as the age of the Oaxaca tree. To appreciate this let any one get down his history of the world and see to what date this number carries him back in historic time.

Perhaps the most curious and wonderful illustration of the longevity of trees is that referred to by Dr. Gray in his essay on this particular subject. A dragon tree stands on the island of Tenerife which has been known and made matter of record since 1402. Its structure is different from that of our common trees and its growth exceedingly slow; in fact, in the 500 years since its discovery it has changed almost not at all. In the year 1819 it was badly wrecked by storm and once again in the year 1869. But it still continues to grow, its surviving branches "still annually crowned, as they have been each returning autumn perhaps for hundreds of centuries, with its beautiful clusters of white lilylike blossoms, emblems of the eternal youth of nature."

"Hundreds of centuries" means a very old tree, no doubt far surpassing in age any other living thing upon the planet. Our California giants are old, but forty-five centuries doubtless transcend the springing of the oldest; the cypresses of Mexico are old, but fifty centuries measure the antiquity of these. The dragon tree alone is perennial, approximating the immortality which the structure of our ordinary trees suggests, but never may secure.

Value of Live Oak Wood.

Live oak takes a beautiful polish and is preferable in every way to the antique oak as a hard wood for finishing and for cabinet making. It has when first polished a richer luster, with handsomer veining, than birdseye maple, and it would become darker and richer with every day that passed. For every purpose for which any of the known hard woods is employed this oak is available, and it has a distinct beauty different from yet fully equaling any of the rest. Live oak trees should not be cut down and burned simply because they are in the way, as has been the case in many instances in former times. Where these trees grow, in fact, it would be cheaper for the owners of the land to import and burn coal rather than to sacrifice them. Many western settlers cut down their black walnut groves for stove wood and then live to see black walnut become worth almost its weight in gold.

Famous Trees.

General Brisbin has a chapter on famous trees of the world which is full of curious information. The African baobab is known to reach the age of over 5,000 years. At Chapultepec, Mexico, is a large cypress under which Cortes and his troops rested. In the garden of Semiramis, at Babylon, is a willow supposed to have been there when the queen was alive. The Neustadt linden was 800 years old when it was wrecked in 1832. England has oaks 3,000 years old. A walnut tree at Balaklava, 1,200 years old, is owned by five families, who gather from it annually about 100,000 nuts. The Wadsworth oak, at Genesee, N. Y., is 500 years old and twenty-seven feet in circumference at the base.

Napoleon and His Mother.

Soon after Napoleon's assumption of the imperial purple he chanced to meet his mother in the gardens of St. Cloud. He was surrounded by courtiers and half playfully held out his hand for her to kiss. "Not so, my son," she gravely replied, at the same time presenting her hand in return; "it is your duty to kiss the hand of her who gave you life."—Chambers' Journal.

DOUBTFUL RUMORS

And Still Scores of East Liverpool People Accept Them as Facts.

The published statement of some stranger residing in a far-away place may be true enough, but it is generally accepted as a doubtful rumor. How can it be verified? The testimony which follows is convincing proof because it comes from a resident of East Liverpool.

Mrs. William James, who lives at 283 Third street, says: "I was troubled off and on for eight years with a weakness of back and kidneys, a dull, aching pain across my loins up under my shoulder blades and rheumatic pains in my right shoulder. The trouble affected my nervous system, causing a frequent fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. I generally resorted to porous plasters, but the relief was only temporary. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, obtaining instant relief and finally a cure."

A CARIBBEAN FLEET

WHY PERMANENT NAVAL FORCE IS NEEDED IN THOSE WATERS.

Turbulent Republics Endanger Lives and Property of United States Citizens—Plans of the Navy Department.

Uncle Sam is soon to have a permanent fleet of warships in the Caribbean sea. In fact, the preliminaries have already been arranged, and Rear Admiral Coghlan, second in command of the north Atlantic squadron, has been ordered to proceed to the West Indies on his flagship, the Olympia.

While formal orders for a formation of a West Indies division of the north Atlantic squadron have not been issued, the dispatch of a flag officer to those waters practically amounts to the same thing. In naval circles it is understood that after the winter maneuvers of the north Atlantic squadron in the West Indies are at an end a fleet will be permanently established there under command of Rear Admiral Coghlan.

The sending of Rear Admiral Coghlan with his flagship to the West Indies is the result of Secretary Moody's determination to afford better protection for American interests in a locality where protection is likely to be needed at any time. Heretofore the United States naval representation in the West Indies has proved inadequate to meet the demands for ships which have come from various quarters simultaneously, and the navy department has decided to keep a force in the Caribbean able to cope with a single, double or triple call, as the case may be.

For the present and until the fleet is organized the Olympia will be stationed at some central point to watch developments in each of the turbulent republics which border the Caribbean. The threatened outbreak between Great Britain and Venezuela promises fresh complications in the latter country, and renewed outbreaks in Haiti are possible at any moment.

The warlike proclivities of the Central American and West Indies peoples have always been a source of much annoyance to Uncle Sam. Business conditions in those countries are continually being disturbed, often at great loss to United States citizens, who have not infrequently been imprisoned and even killed.

Rebellions and counter rebellions are of almost monthly occurrence, and the navy department has had almost as much active service in looking after the interests of United States citizens in those countries as it had in crushing the fleets of Spain.

At the present moment hundreds of American marines are doing duty in Colombia, and hundreds more will probably be landed before quiet is restored. It is this continual turmoil and disorder that have impelled Secretary Moody to establish a fleet in Caribbean waters, where it will be in the vicinity of the unsettled republics and ready to go at a moment's notice to the seat of trouble, which seems to be always on tap.

Rear Admiral Joseph Q. Coghlan, who will have all the warships in the West Indies waters under his control, was with Admiral Dewey at the memorable fight in Manila bay. He was then in command of the cruiser Raleigh, which gave a good account of herself in the fight.

After his return to this country he was in temporary trouble because of an alleged insult to the German emperor. Shortly after he landed in New York he was entertained at a public dinner and regaled the company by singing, "Hoch, der Kaiser." The emperor is said to have protested, and for a time Admiral (then Captain) Coghlan was ordered to some inconsequential duty on the Pacific coast.

This did not last long, however, and Captain Coghlan last summer was advanced to the rank of rear admiral and made second in command of the north Atlantic squadron. He took part in the recent naval maneuvers on the New England coast and Long Island sound.

Besides his flagship, the Olympia, Admiral Coghlan will have under his command the San Francisco, Cincinnati, Montgomery, Marietta and Panther, which are now in those waters. Later the Raleigh, Detroit and Machias will be attached to the squadron. Rear Admiral Coghlan will act independently of the commander of the north Atlantic squadron.

IDENTIFICATION FAILS

Jeweler Nemser Unable to Identify Mason as Man Who Pawned Watch.

COVENOR CRANE INTERESTED.

Visited Scene of Waverly Murder. Colored Suspect Released—Iron Bar Found at Edge of Pond When Water Is Drawn Off.

Boston, Nov. 8.—In the developments of the day in the Mason case, which has puzzled the police of Boston since Miss Clara A. Morton was struck down and killed in Waverly last Saturday, there are several striking details. No further evidence however, has been adduced which tends to incriminate in the case Alan G. Mason, the member of a prominent family, who is under arrest on the charge of murder. In fact, the police are inclined to the belief that Mason stood out clearer in the light of an innocent man, because of the failure of Joseph Nemser the West End jeweler, to identify Mason as the man who had offered for sale Miss Morton's watch last Saturday night.

An important detail in connection with the disposal of the watches was the establishment last night that the signatures on the checks kept on file by the jeweler in identification of the persons who offered him the articles were written by one and the same person. This confirms the story that the two women were murdered by the same man.

Another late incident was the arrest on suspicion last night at Watertown of a young mulatto. He was brought here, but Jeweler Nemser failed to identify him. The man was released.

So serious has the case become that Governor Crane has interested himself and looked over the scene of the murder while on a visit yesterday to Waverly.

An iron bar was found yesterday at the edge of Handyside pond, in Waverly, to which, it is claimed by some, the murderer of Saturday night went to wash his hands. The bar is two feet long and a little rusty. It was on the edge of the pond and the drawing off of the water brought it to light.

Cuba Sends Instruction to Minister.

Havana, Nov. 8.—President Palma is authority for the statement that instructions regarding the drawing up of the commercial treaty between Cuba and the United States have been sent to the Cuban minister at Washington, Senor Quesada. Senor Palma says he has every reason to believe that Senor Quesada was in consultation last Monday with Secretary Hay with regard to this treaty.

Government Contracts Recommended.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 8.—Major Dan Kingman, the government engineer at the Cleveland port, will recommend to the chief of engineers at Washington that the L. P. & J. A. Smith company, of this city, be given the contract for completing the main entrance to the harbor and that Hughes Bros. & Bangs, of Syracuse, N. Y., be given the contract for completing the eastern extension of the breakwater.

Colorado's Legislative Returns.

Denver, Nov. 8.—Practically complete returns have now been received from every county in the state, which show that the legislature will stand on joint ballot, according to the face of the returns, Democrats, 54; Republicans, 46.

MAY GO OUT ON STRIKE.

Chicago Switchmen Balloting on Proposition—Will Involve 8,000 Men.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Balloting was in progress last night to decide whether the switchmen employed in Chicago by 18 of the principal railroads centering here shall go on strike. A proposition was submitted to the railroads some time ago by the men, asking a wage increase of 5 cents an hour. The railroad officials last night offered to compromise by paying an increase of 2½ cents an hour to helpers and 3½ cents to foremen. The switchmen asked for time to consider the proposition. Meantime a vote of the men was being taken to ascertain whether a majority favor accepting or favored going on strike. More than 8,000 men are involved. The result of the vote will not be known until some time today.

Maker of "Cardiff Giant" Dead.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—John J. Sampson, the last survivor of the famous "Cardiff Giant" humbug, died in this city yesterday. Mr. Sampson had no part in the exhibition of the giant, but assisted in the making of the figure. He was a marble cutter, and worked at his trade in carving the giant. One of his sons said yesterday that his father always said that the work was done in a barn located near Lincoln park, in this city.

Opera House on Fire.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—The Grand opera house, one of Nashville's leading play houses, was on fire last night and probably will be a total loss.

The powder puff may help to hide the ravages of time but it avails little to hide the ravages of disease. When the face is disfigured by eruptions, the treatment must go below the surface to the blood, which is corrupt and impure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disfiguring eruptions which are caused by impure blood. It cures scrofulous sores, erysipelas, boils, pimples, eczema, salt-rheum and other eruptive diseases which impure blood breeds and feeds.

"I was troubled with eczema from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," writes Mrs. Ella Quick, of Cass City, Tuscola Co., Mich. "Could not walk at times nor wear my shoes. Thought there was no help for me—at least the doctor said there was none. I went to see friends at Christmas time and there heard of the good that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery had done for them, and was advised to try it at once. For fear that I might neglect it my friend sent to the village and got a bottle and made me promise that I would take it. I had been getting worse all the time. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and ten vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and used 'All-Healing Salve,' which made a complete cure. It was slow, but sure. I was taking the medicine about eight months.

"I would say to all who read this; try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before wasting time and money."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

Preparing Panama Canal Treaty.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The conferences between Secretary Hay and Colombian Minister Concha, who are engaged in the preparation of the projected Panama canal treaty, continue at stated periods. The negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily, and the prediction is made that the terms of a treaty will be agreed upon very soon, probably within a fortnight. If such be the case the president will be able to deal with the treaty in his annual message to congress.

Held Conference With Mitchell.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 8.—W. B. Wilson, national secretary of the United Mine Workers, arrived in town last night from Indianapolis. He was closeted for some hours with President Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell will be unable to attend the convention, all his time being taken up in preparing the anthracite miners' case for submission to the arbitration commission, which meets at Scranton next week.

TO EXCLUDE CUBAN CHILDREN.

Board So Decides—Will Be Returned to Cuba on November 13.

New York, Nov. 8.—Counsel representing Mrs. Tingley, of Point Loma Cal., in the case of the 11 Cuban children detained at this port, withdrew from the investigation yesterday. One of the lawyers said Mrs. Tingley would have nothing more to do with the inquiry, but would hold Mr. Gerry and V. M. Davis of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, personally responsible for the children.

After hearing a number of witnesses who testified as to the character of Mrs. Tingley, the board of inquiry, sitting at Ellis island, decided unanimously in favor of excluding the children. Their report was given to the commissioner of immigration and an order was issued under which the children will be sent back to Cuba on the Ward line steamer sailing Nov. 13. The commissioner of immigration afterwards stated that he did not expect an appeal would be taken.

Held to Grand Jury.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Richard Cole a colored porter, 20 years old, was arrested yesterday and committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury, on the charge of committing the assault on Mrs. Ada Gilbert Dennis, a well-known dressmaker, at her home in this city, over 10 months ago. Mrs. Dennis died from her injuries about a fortnight ago, without recovering sufficiently to talk rationally.

Public Execution in Arkansas.

Van Buren, Ark., Nov. 8.—Hall Mahone, colored, was executed here yesterday for assaulting Mrs. Rebecca McLoud, six miles from this city, on Sept. 5, last. The execution was witnessed by about 5,000 people, the last legislature having passed a law requiring public execution for the offense of criminal assault.

Collision on Kentucky Railroad.

Toledo, O., Nov. 8.—It was announced yesterday, on the authority of an official of the Wabash railroad, that the general offices of the company were to be removed to Toledo from St. Louis, when the Wabash's new line is completed into Pittsburg.

19TH YEAR. NO. 265. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1902—TWELVE PAGES. TWO CENTS.

TWO MORE HOLD-UPS OCCUR LATE AT NIGHT IN THE SAME LOCALITY

W. J. A. Ross Attacked and Clubbed—Henry Welch Meets the Footpads and Routs Them.

Two more holdups occurring in the city within the past three days have been reported. A singular fact in connection with them is that each happened at about 11:30 o'clock at night and they were committed not two blocks apart. Another coincidence is that the daring men in each case used the same ruse in an attempt to throw their intended victims off their guard, asking them for the time of night.

W. J. A. Ross, a well known carpenter of the Calcutta road, was enroute to his home last night and when he reached the dark passage way near the Smith Lumber company's planing mill he was terribly frightened by two men stepping out from a pile of lumber simultaneously and asking: "What time is it, stranger?"

Mr. Ross was so badly scared for the time being that he was unable to answer or act. While he was standing apparently dazed one of the men landed a hard blow on his head. What the man held in his hand is not known. It may have been a club and only have been his fist.

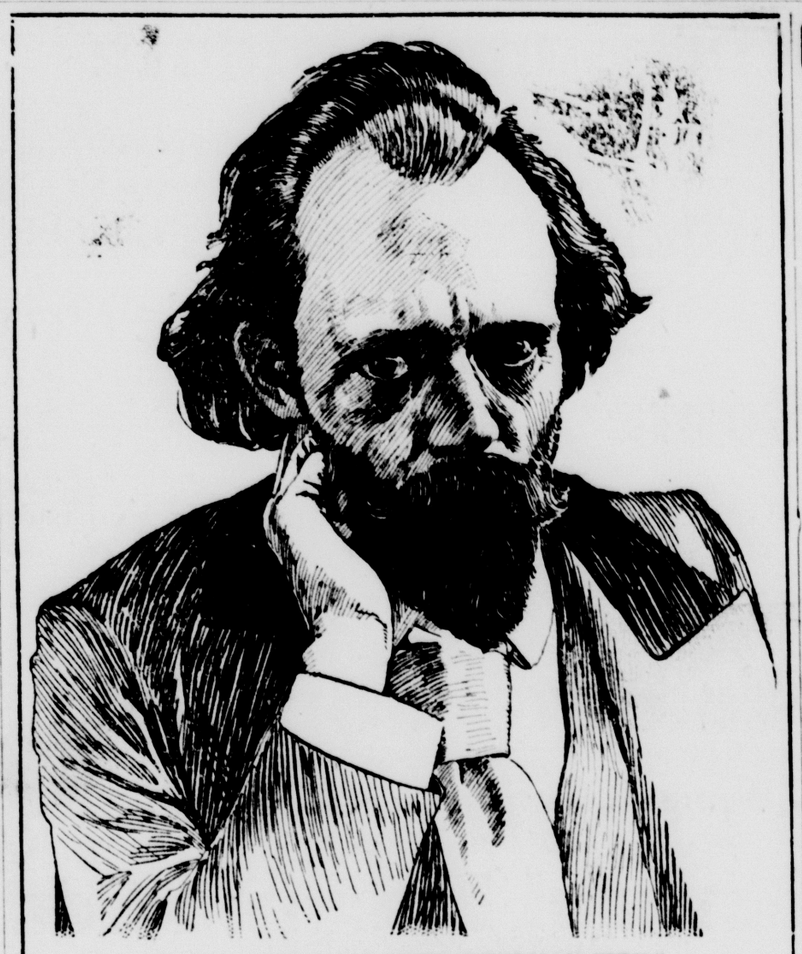

The attacked man saw that the odds were against him and before the villains had time to land on him again, by a quick jump and fleet running, he managed to escape. Into his home he dashed and securing a gun returned to the spot accompanied by his wife, but failed to get a trace of the fellows.

On Thursday night Henry Welsh, a kilnman employed at the K., T. & K., pottery, was also walking toward his home on the Calcutta road when he was accosted by a big man wearing an overcoat and a slouch hat. The man was standing on the north side of Grant street, near the Stewart residence, and when Mr. Welsh approached he sprang out into the middle of the pavement and asked "What time is it?"

If more of the people who have been accosted had dealt with their men as did Mr. Welsh the game would doubtless have been stopped long ago. Instead of reaching for his watch to accommodate the stranger Mr. Welsh said: "I'll show you what time it is," and at the same time reached in his hip pocket for his revolver.

Like a flash the highwayman turned on his heels and went flying down the street. A shot from Mr. Welsh's revolver helped in giving him speed.

OFFICIAL RETURNS SHOW PLURALITY OF LAYLIN IN EXCESS OF 91,000

The Total Vote of the State Over 800,000—Interesting Controversy Over Congressional Election at Columbus.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, November 8.—The Republican state committee has compiled unofficial returns received from the 88 counties of the state, which are believed to be accurate, which show the Republican plurality for the head of the ticket to be 91,118. A total of 436,669 votes were cast for Laylin, Republican, for secretary of state, and 345,481 for Bigelow, Democrat. The Republicans carried 61 counties by pluralities aggregating 113,809. The remaining 27 counties were carried by the Democrats by pluralities aggregating 22,621. The total vote cast for the two leading parties reaches 782,150, but this does not include the vote cast for the minor party tickets, which when added will swell the grand total to upwards of 800,000. Highland county was carried by the Republicans on the head of the ticket by a majority of one. In Marion county there was a tie for a county office. In Ohio last presidential year Bryan polled the same number of votes as he did in the state the first time he was a candidate for president. State Chairman Dick has assued a bulletin expressing his gratitude to the people for the Republican victory. He praises the Republican papers and also the Democrats who could not endorse Tom Johnson's fallacies. Secretary of State Laylin's corps of clerks are at work tabulating the election returns, but it will be some days before they will complete the job. They are working day and night.

Cyrus Huling, Republican, who was defeated for congress in this district, conferred with Attorney General Sheets yesterday with reference to the validity of the election of his opponent, Judge Badger, who has not resigned from the bench. Botn are of the opinion that his election is illegal, but Huling says he will not accept a certificate of election for the office because he did not receive a majority of the votes cast. The state constitution specifies that judges of the supreme, circuit and common pleas courts shall not hold any other office while on the bench. Badger's friends claim this section only affects state positions and maintain his election is regular. Judge Sheets stated he would not bring suit to prevent issuance of a certificate of election to Judge Badger unless the complainant demanded it, and Huling will not likely resort to this course. Sheets says that if Badger is refused admittance to congress and if Huling will not accept the seat,

CONSTABLE MAY GO INTO CAMP TONIGHT

He Has Levied on Four Cows and May Find It Necessary to Watch Them.

A TENT AND A CAMP FIRE

Will Be Provided And He Will Be Armed to Resist Nocturnal Prowlers During His Lonely Vigil—Origin of a Singular Dilemma.

An attachment suit has been filed in 'Squire McCarron's court in which W. J. McClure, a plasterer, is the plaintiff and Joseph Laughlin, of Beaver, is the defendant. McClure alleges that Laughlin owes him $25 for labor performed and that he refuses to pay any portion of it. The defendant owns considerable property, it is claimed, and there was no little argument between the 'squire and McClure as to what should be attached. However, after long study it was decided that some live stock owned by the defendant would be theeasiest handled, and as a result one spotted cow, worth $20, one red cow worth $15, one spotted cow with horns worth $20, and one black cow, worth $15, are under surveillance.

The kine are in use on a dairy farm a few miles north of this city. Owing to the location Constable Powell, who has the attachment in charge, is having his troubles. He went out to the farm yesterday and made arrangements with the man who is running the dairy to watch the cows last night, giving him in exchange for his work the milk of the animals, but it seems that the man does not favor the plan of continuing the watch. He made objections to keeping an eagle eye open tonight and just what to do the constable does not know. It is a dilemma in which the officer is very seldom placed and one which local officers state has never before occurred in this city. Nevertheless Constable Powell states that he is not to be defeated and announces a novel way of procedure by which he will keep the cows in corral tonight.

If he cannot procure the services again of the dairyman he has decided to drive out to the farm, pitch a tent near the stable, build a camp-fire and watch the herd throughout the hours of darkness. He will be armed to the teeth and prepared to withstand all manner of foes.

The 'squire has set the case for a hearing Tuesday, and if the defendant does not appear then, the cows will be sold at public auction. The constable states that he does not care what disposition is made of the case, just so something is done and done quickly.

WHO OWES THE MONEY?

A Complicated Dispute Over a Small Amount Finds Its Way to Court.

A case promising to cause a legal battle, was entered in 'Squire McCarron's court this afternoon by John Biddle, through his attorney, Hollis E. Grosshans. It is an attachment suit in which J. C. McSpadden, a contractor, is the defendant.

Biddle claims that the contractor owes him $43.20 for some labor performed. It seems that no one disputes that Biddle has that amount due him, but there is a dispute as to who owes it. John Rinehart, the leveryman, it is said, has the money in his possession and has given notice that he will hold on to it until Biddle pays him $7 with interest on a note.

The plaintiff will attempt to prove that he was hired by McSpadden and that therefore McSpadden is responsible for the payment and not Rinehart. Biddle, it is said, does not deny giving his note to Rinehart for $7, and gives as a reason for not paying it that Rinehart failed to fulfill his agreement which was in regard to shafts for a buggy.

THE DRUMMER BOY

Local Post of the G. A. R. Arranging to Presen. the Popular Play.

General Lyon Post No. 44, G. A. R., held its usual rousing weekly meeting last evening. There was a good attendance, and together with the social part considerable business was transacted. Committees were appointed to look after the presentation of "The Drummer Boy," and the reports were received which were gratifying.

The books have been received telling the story of the play, and nearly all of th ecast has been selected. Barring a few exceptions the cast will be composed of those who presented the play so successfully four years ago.

VISION OF COUNTY JAIL

Caused Him to Express His Willingness to Make Terms, And a Truce Was Patched Up for the Time-Being at Least.

"There is no use in coming to me now. I have listened to your promises long enough. The time has come when you have got to furnish the money or suffer the consequences," were the words that fell on the eager ears of James E. Bratt, when he, like a man imploring for the hand of the one he loves, rushed toward his wife, Mary Bratt, upon her entering 'Squire McCarron's court this morning.

Such a rebuke Bratt evidently did not expect. His face flushed and he came near wilting into a heap on the floor. He had been arrested about 9 o'clock while at work in the Globe pottery by Constable Powell as the result of a warrant being issued by his wife yesterday, charging him with non-support of their minor child, Lester E., aged two and one-half years. The charge specified that he had been guilty of gross neglect of the child since last May.

Mrs. Bratt for a moment would not allow her husband to get in a word edgewise. She took the opportunity of telling him in the presence of others of the way in which he had treated her. Finally she allowed him to speak and he started off with: "I intended to pay for the keeping of the child."

At this in a sneering way she told him that the story was an old one to her, and that the money was what she wanted. Realizing that she had him for the first time just exactly where she had longed for, she kept him in suspense for some time longer and seemed to enjoy his discomfort over the explanation made by the 'squire of the enormity of the charge. The justive vividly pointed out the iron bars at the Lisbon jail and the many hard days of labor that can be imposed upon a man for non-support.

Bratt saw through it all and was extremely anxious that his wife compromise the case before the 'squire should order him remanded to a cold cell. Mrs. Bratt at first demanded that he give her $10 every pay day, but when he explained that he only draws $24 a pay and told of the hardships he would be compelled to suffer if she took so much, she relented by allowing him to give an order on his wages for $7 a pay.

The costs in the case were paid and the man released. Mrs. Bratt said that she did not believe her husband would live up to the contract and that the first time he failed to produce the cash she would have him arrested again.

It is very small and is thought to be the skull of a woman or a child.

The petition now being circulated among the patrons of the Calcutta street car line asking for better service is directed to the city council instead of the car company, as stated by another newspaper. There are now more than 150 names attached to the petition and it will likely be presented to the council at its meeting Tuesday night. POTTERS MADE VOTES COUNT

Took a Decisive Part in the Election at Trenton on Tuesday.

NOTABLE VICTORIES GAINED

From a Staff Correspondent

Trenton, N. J., November 8.—The administration of the affairs of the county and municipal governments will be placed in the hands of men closely allied with the pottery industry in this city. The Republicans carried the county by about 1,500 majority, electing Judge William M. Lanning for congress over Col. Louis Perrine. Democratic ideas of a reduction in the tariff did not appeal to the potters. The majority of the labor unions also opposed Perrine because of his attitude toward union labor while president of the Trenton Passenger Railway company. Perrine, during the panic of 1893 reduced the wages of his employes and openly opposed all attempts on the part of his men to form a union.

The stiffest fight that has ever been waged in the history of Mercer county was in the contest for sheriff, between Thomas H. Thrapp, Republican, and Joseph S Hoff, Democrat. Thrapp won by a majroity of 73. There is some talk of the Democrats contesting. Mr. Thrapp is president of the Eureka Flint and Spar company and a large stockholder in several potteries.

Charles H. Baker, president of the Ideal Pottery company, was elected county clerk over E. Truman Hooper, the Democratic candidate, by a plurality of 1,579.

In the assembly contest Thomas Colclough, foreman of Thomas Maddock & Sons and at present councilman from the Thirteenth ward, was elected along with the other two Republican candidates.

James Braithwaite, one of the vice presidents of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, was re-elected excise commissioner after a close fight.

For the first time the Eighth ward, which is one of the potting districts of Trenton, elected a Democratic councilman. Nicholas Kanz owes his

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

LUCKY RUNAWAY.

George Horner, bench boss in the biscuit end at the Buckeye, had quite an experience Thursday morning in a runaway. He was driving to his work from his home near Calcutta, and his horse became frightened and started to run, soon getting beyond his control. At Dead Man's lane he was thrown from the buggy but escaped without a scratch. The horse continued its flight on into town. Neither the horse or the buggy were injured and Mr. Horner considers it a very lucky runaway.

MRS. McKEEVER RETIRES.

Mrs. May McKeever, forelady of the glost warehouse at the Standard, has resigned her position and will retire from the business. During her term of service Mrs. McKeever has been an efficient forelady and popular with her crew, who will deeply regret her leaving them. Her able successor will be her sister, Miss Frances Peddicord, at present employed at a pottery in another city.

LOSS AND GAIN.

It is stated that since the shortage of kilnmen was noted and arrangements made to fill that shortage at least 45 apprentices were advanced from the kiln-drawing crews at the different shops. Local No. 9 will be strengthened by the addition of those 45 apprentices, giving a membership of at least 525. No. 17 will have its ranks depleted correspondingly.

CLAY HANDS HOPEFUL.

There was a slight interruption yesterday of the steady work at the Standard. In the morning the wheels of the gas engine that supplies the power to the jiggers refused to run and it was eleven o'clock before the ailment was effectually doctored. The jiggermen and almost all the other clay hands took the day off.

GOES TO SEBRING.

Andrew McCormick, who has been helping temporarily as finisher at the Goodwin pottery, has received an offer from Sebring as dish maker and he has concluded to accept it. He will leave for that town Monday. Mr. McCormick is one of the best in the business and Sebring is fortunate in securing him.

MOVING TO BARBERTON.

Mrs. Mary Rigby and daughters, Gertrude, of the decorating room at the Dresden, and Millie, of the decorating room at the Union, will leave this city next week to locate in Barberton. Both of the young ladies have excellent situations in the big pottery there.

NEW DIPPER AT GOODWIN'S.

Harry C. Gardner, of Beaver Falls, Pa., has located in this city and is to be found at the Goodwin, where he is holding a position as dipper, succeeding Charles Green, who moved to Toronto. Mr. Gardner is an affable gentleman and will prove to be popular with pottery men.

GREEN HAS RESIGNED.

Mr. Charles Green, well known among the pottery men, has resigned his position as dipper at Goodwin's, and has taken a similiar position with the Toronto China company. His departure from this city will be regretted by all his friends and associates.

IN THE BUSINESS AGAIN.

Thomas Hancock, will known in pottery circles all over the district, and who has been out of the business for quite a lengthy period, started Friday at Goodwin's, as a ground layer in the decorating department. He will be universally welcomed back to the business.

WILL LOCATE HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pedmore, of Sebring, will move to this city early next week and will take a house in Gardendale. Mr. Pedmore is a well known decorating kilnman and it is understood will be employed at D. E. McNicol's.

SYSTEM NOT PERFECT.

The new sprinkling system at the Dresden was given a trial and it was found that many of the pipes were leaking. To remove the pipes it is thought will delay the crew placing them, and the work will hardly be completed for at least three weeks.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Barney Carr starts Monday as presser at the Standard.

Tom O'Rourke started this week as presser at the Standard.

John Wines, of the biscuit end at Goodwin's, has been off sick this week.

Miss Annie Maley, of the East Liverpool, entertained a number of her friends Thursday evening at her home on Fifth street.

Misses Sarah Turner and Clara Tice, of the dipping department at Goodwin's, will spend Sunday with friends at New Cumberland.

Lewis Shively and Mott Magaley, warehouse boys at the Standard, have resigned and were succeeded by Harry Anderson and D. Hinds.

Edward Court, who has been working as kiln drawer at the K. T. & K., has gone in the biscuit end at Goodwin's, as apprentice kilnhand.

Miss Mary Conlay, the rubber for the printer at the Standard, was unable to work yesterday, owing to sickness and the printer was compelled to take a vacation.

E. V. Reed, boss odd man at Goodwin's, is the boss walnut picker in town. He has now about twenty barrels stored away for the winter, all of which he gathered himself.

George Barnhart, L. G. Moffatt, Frank Robinson and David Knight and Misses Jennie and Laura Pool, are taking a holiday today and are spending it over back of Chester, persimmon hunting.

Thomas Hancock, a dipper, and John Bucey, a helper in the dipping department at the Standard, are making a trip to Pittsburg today. They have their cameras along and expect to get some fine views.

BOAT STEALING CASE

A Trial at Steubenville in Which East Liverpool Men Appear as Witnesses.

Steubenville, November 8.—Rand Culver, who is charged with stealing a boat, is having his inning in court. He is fighting the charge against him with the aid of E. E. Erskine and Nelson Miller, but so far only the witnesses for the state have been heard, some of whom were brought from East Liverpool, where the authorities refused to prosecute the case. The man who owned the boat was on the stand and an effort is being made to show that Culver was one of the men who took the boat from its moorings at East Liverpool. So far none of the defendant's witnesses have been heard, but some interesting developments are expected, and it is possible that an alibi will be proven.

If Culver is not convicted he must face a charge of shooting with intent to kill or wound, as he was indicted on this charge also, having, it is alleged, open fire on the officers at Brilliant. Culver denies this and claims to have held his revolver in his hand without shooting.

When Culver's case is ended, his comrade, Peter Slavinsky, will be tried on the same charges, larceny and shooting with intent to kill or wound. Both Culver and Slavinsky claim that they got off a freight train near Brilliant, and went to the river where there was a fire. The boat was moored nearby and to get clear water they walked into it. It was while they were camping near the boat that the officers swooped down upon them, and a general shooting scrape was the result, Slavinsky being shot in the shoulder.

PLOWING WITH ELEPHANTS

Barnum's Reply to the Farmer Who Asked Whether It Would Pay.

It may be said of P. T. Barnum that he was the major domo or lord of laughter and fun, the protean dispenser of amusement. How well he became known through this function one curious incident certifies. Some years before he died an obscure person in some remote part of Asia wrote a letter, which he dropped in the postoffice near him, directed to "Mr. Barnum, America." The letter reached its destination without an hour's delay. The great showman unaffectedly enjoyed being known from the very beginning of his celebrity, and when he found his celebrity was a tremendous factor in his success he did everything that he could think of to extend the exploitation of his name. This was not to nourish vain imaginings or because he felt exalted. It was to promote business.

Around his successive homes at Bridgeport, Conn., he was fond of putting something that suggested a show. Queerly marked cattle, the sacred cow or an elephant was frequently among the stock to be noticed in his fields. On one occasion he had an elephant engaged in plowing on the sloping hill where it could be plainly seen by the passengers on the New Haven and Hartford railroad, an agricultural innovation that he knew would get notice of some sort in every newspaper in the country. It was even said that he received letters from farmers far and wide asking how much hay one elephant ate and if it was more profitable to plow with an elephant than with horses or oxen. His replies were invariably frank and were of this purport: If you have a large museum in New York and a great railway sends trains full of passengers within eyeshot of the performance, it will pay, and pay well, but if you have no such institution then horses and oxen will prove more economical.—Joel Benton in Century.

The Sea Trout.

The gamest of salt water fish, after the striped bass, is the weakfish, or sea trout. The sport of angling for them is generally enhanced because, feeding as they generally do near the surface, it is possible to fish for them with light tackle. The best places to find them in the vicinity of New York are Jamaica bay, the southwestern shore of Staten Island and the mouth of the Shrewsbury river. While they have been caught weighing upward of twenty pounds, a six or ten pounder is a good size, and the average will only run from one to two and a half. There is never any doubt when a weakfish bites. He does not nibble around the hook, but takes the bait at one fair swoop and then starts off with it like a limited express with time to make up. He is a shy fish, and the man who uses a small line, light leaders and snells to his hook and keeps quiet while fishing is the one who is apt to have the best luck.—Country Life In America.

When Jackson Dined!

While the dinner hour still clings to the noontime among country people it has advanced in the cities until now it occurs at any time between noon and midnight. And that reminds us, says the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, of one of the many stories about Colonel Davy Crockett. While he was a member of congress and was at his home in Tennessee some one asked him about the dinner hour in Washington. He said the common people ate dinner at 12, the next above them at 1, the merchants at 2, the representatives at 3, the senators at 4, members of the cabinet at 5 and the vice president at 6. "But when does the president dine?" "What! Old Hickory?" said Crockett, anxious to fix a time that would suit his idea of Jackson's greatness. "Well, he don't eat till next day!"

All That Was Necessary.

"You must abandon all business cares for the future," says the physician.

"But I fear that I have not yet accumulated sufficient money," protests the multimillionaire.

"Sufficient?" repeats the doctor. "Why, my dear sir, you have enough money to pay physicians' fees for the rest of your life!"—Baltimore American.

SOME WRITERS.

Bret Harte was a good deal of a recluse, in that respect resembling Hawthorne more than any other man of letters.

Baxter, it is said, kept the manuscript of the "Saint's Everlasting Rest" in his hands for thirteen years, revising and condensing.

Cooper is said to have written "The Spy" in less than six months. Most of his stories were founded on legends well known in his neighborhood.

Longfellow turned out about one volume of poems a year for many years. Nearly four years were required for his translation of "Dante."

The first volume of poems by Alfred Tennyson came out when he was twenty-four. He was forty-one when "In Memoriam" came from the press.

Thomas Moore often wrote a short poem almost impromptu. He consumed over two years in reading and preparing material for "Lalla Rookh" and two years more in writing that inimitable poem.

Rented the Enemy.

In some of the London courts there are private dining rooms reserved for the exclusive use of the legal fraternity. Into one of these rooms one day there bustled a gaunt female who on being courteously approached by a junior counsel flatly declined to leave. Thereupon an unblushing Q. C. looked the lady in the face and expressed his mind. Still she did not budge. Counselor Lockwood then intervened. "I do not think there is anything unseemly in this lady's presence," quoth he. "She wears a gown and—yes, I'm pretty sure that she also wears a wig." The lady went.—London Tatler.

"Yes."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"Nothing. My pride forbids me to fight any one except a gentleman, and a man who calls another a liar is no gentleman."—Washington Star.

An English Author Wrote:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves, — November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable or eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh

MINNIE DUPREE, SUCCESSFUL STAR.

A sweet, simple story of a little Plymouth settlement under Captain Miles Standish is told in "A Rose o' Plymouth Town." As Rose de la Noye, Minnie Dupree appeared for the first time as a star and was almost overcome at the warmth of the reception accorded her. Miss Dupree has often evidenced her ability before a New York audience, but the first night of a starring venture must be a trying time. The hearty sympathy of a friendly audience was attested, and the little actress was most gracious in her appreciation. She "made good" and was fascinating in her rendition of the role of Rose de la Noye. She played naturally, and, as she impersonated a French girl, who was unlike the real Puritans, she was permitted to show much brightness and piquancy, which in those saintly days in her demure surroundings were something of a shock.

The play is not a great one, nor will it place its authors, Beulah Marie Dix and Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland, on the top rung of the ladder of fame. But it is interesting, bright, clean, pure and affords pleasing diversion for an evening. Mothers may take their daughters and not be afraid to talk of the play afterward, and that is certainly unique in these days.

The cast was good, the setting beautiful and the details timely in every respect, except for the too up to date slipper Miriam wears, which is removed by Philippe and seen by the audience. Trifles like this jar in otherwise suitable surroundings. Guy Bates Post was not good as the hero, Garrett Foster, and I could not help wishing that the part had been given to Bennet Sturgis, who instead was cast for John Margeson. The handsomer man and to my mind the better actor should have been the hero, and Mr. Post has a sinister face which would convey the bad man better. When he says he loves Rose, his looks belie him. Mrs. Sol Smith and Augustus Cook, respectively as Aunt Resolute Story and Miles Standish, left nothing to be desired. The others of the cast were competent and assisted the success of a delightful whole.

Broadway has at least one play based on a motive that is not only unique, but refreshingly, genuinely human. This is "Mrs. Jack," one of the season's successes. Mrs. Jack is a big, wholesome, breezy western woman, who has just inherited as the action opens the millions of Jack Banastar, from whom she has been separated. Mr. Jack, it is intimated, was impossible as a husband, but with all his faults he was a good fellow, and Mrs. Jack determines to be "a consistent widow." Early in the first act she arrives at the Banastar mansion in New York and immediately horrifies Jack's snobbish sister by announcing that she intends to spend Jack's money just as Jack would have spent it. This she proceeds to do. All of Jack's old retainers and followers, among them an ex-prizefighter, a bad actor and an unrecognized Irish aunt, Mrs. Jack takes under her wing. She invites them to dinner with her aristocratic sister-in-law. She carries out all of Jack's promises. Society snubs and ridicules her, and she laughs at society. All of this makes possible a series of delicious comedy situations which are unhackneyed, thoroughly wholesome and, above all, intensely human.

MINNIE DUPREE AS ROSE DE LA NOYE.

David Baxter, the eminent young Scotch basso, has been secured for a concert tour in this country. Mr. Baxter has never before visited America, but he is known in Europe as one of the greatest artists in his line now before the public. He was born in Dundee and educated at the university there for the profession of engineering. A strong predilection for music, however, decided him to cultivate his talent, and his success on the concert stage was immediate and pronounced. He was the only bass o engaged to sing at the great Scotch concert at the time of the coronation in London. Mr. Baxter has an immense repertory for recital, oratorio and concert appearances. Besides the exclusively Scotch programmes of which he makes a specialty, Handel, Mozart, Gluck, Franz, Verdi, Schubert, Schumann and Tschaikowsky are among the composers upon whom he draws. He is said to have a mellow, flexible, musical voice of great compass. MARY A. BARTOW.

Society and Companionship.

The privilege of having some one with whom we may exchange a few rational words every day, as Emerson phrases it, is the choicest gift in life. We are rich in society and yet poor in companionship. In the overflow of chatter we are starved for conversation. Social life is so largely an affair of representation, it inclines so largely to the spectacular and to what its chroniclers designate as "social functions," that the element of conversational intercourse is almost eliminated. Yet, primarily, is not that the supreme object of all friendly meeting? When we reduce to first principles this complex thing called living, do we not go to our friend solely to talk with him? Do we not invite him solely that we may exchange ideas and compare views on subjects of mutual interest? Still, as things go, people meet all through a season in the midst of groups and throngs—at dinners, receptions, entertainments of all kinds—without exchanging one word in the way of true intercourse.—Exchange.

Swift Was a Dunce at School.

Not only philosophers and divines, but some of the most trenchant satirists and brilliant humorists were dull enough as boys. It has been said of Swift in his best days that "he displayed either the blasting lightning of satire or the lambent and meteorlike caricatures of frolicsome humor." And yet this vigorous disputant was considered a fit subject for a fool's cap at school. Afterward at the Dublin university "he was by scholars esteemed a blockhead," who was denied his degree on his first application and obtained it with great difficulty on the second.—London Standard.

NOV. 15, THE LAST DAY

For Free Medical Services.

Owing to the vast number of invalids who have availed themselves of the free service proposition, the British Doctors find they will be compelled to withdraw their generous offer on the above date. Over two hundred grateful persons have taken advantage of the doctors' free offer, which is sufficient evidence that persons suffering with chronic diseases know they can receive better results under the care of specialists who have had lifelong experience in their treatment alone.

All professional services and minor surgical operations are entirely free for three months (medicines excepted) to those calling for treatment before November 15th

All forms of male and female weakness, catarrh and catarrhal deafness, diseases of the heart, stomach, nervous system, lungs and blood. Rheumatism, cancer and rectal diseases are cured rapidly by the new treatment.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1902.

TWELVE PAGES.

One of the unexpected results of the extension of the rural free delivery service is the discontinuance of postoffices in the smaller rural communities. As a result of the extensions of the service last year 1,903 postoffices were discontinued, effecting a saving in the salaries of postmasters aggregating $116,807. Thousands of farmers now have no reason for going to town once or twice a week, yet their contact with the world of industrial and intellectual activity is more intimate and direct than it used to be.

The bureau of forestry in its latest report shows that there are now in the United States 54 forest preserves, embracing more than 60,000,000 acres. This is a gain of 14,000,000 acres over the preceding report and is most encouraging. Government, in its effort to encourage scientific forestry and to prevent needless waste of woodland, is doing a most important work and should meet with the hearty co-operation of states, municipalities, societies and individuals.

The United States senate is likely to be the scene of a fight like that which kept Roberts out of the house. Smoot, a Utah Mormon and an alleged polygamist, is practically conceded election to the senate. Plans are already being formulated to keep him from being seated. The senate, ever jealous of its reputation, ought to see that no man becomes a member of that body who is not willing to obey all the laws of the United States.

If Chinese government reports are to be believed, the Boxers are meeting the fate they have invited. But a Chinese report that tells the truth is about as rare as a November strawberry. China will have to maintain a firm hand and keep her official headsman busy if she wants to retrieve her lost reputation and prove that she has a government that can govern.

A cable message, sent around the world by a Boston man, reached him 39 hours and 20 minutes after it started. As it went through Western Union hands a considerable portion of the distance the cable companies should not bear all the blame for the slowness.

Chairman Garber, of the Ohio Democratic committee, calls John R. McLean a Benedict Arnold. The McLean forces call Tom Johnson a traitor. Slowly the reading public is getting at the truth, but Democratic harmony is still a remote and barren ideality.

James K. Jones is confident that Democratic victory for 1904 is in the air. So it is; in the "hot air" of his imagination. James K. is the man whom the inventive genius who wants to extract sunbeams from cucumbers ought to employ.

Dr. Harper observes that the church is "alienating the rich." If this is true it is a less calamity than alienating the poor would be. Give it a strong hold on the humble and religion would be abundantly able to take care of itself.

Purity of English in official documents is being advocated by one of the corporation counsel of the city of New York. This is all very well, but in other lines purity would be much better, if the metropolis could get it.

A few people in Ohio would rather run the great risks of smallpox than the small risks of vaccination, but the law and the medical fraternity give them no support in their untenable position.

If one-half of the Wabash railroads which the newspaper correspondents are projecting in this vicinity ever materialize a glut of freight in Ohio ought to be an absolute impossibility.

A Kansas pastor used a phonograph to produce sacred music at a funeral. Here appears to be a useful hint to churches whose choirs engage in strikes and strife.

Colonel William J. Bryan is now reported to be worth $100,000. Predicting calamity for profit has not been, like his political career, a complete failure.

Gubernatorial candidates in the Republican party in Ohio are becoming numerous enough to supply the demand for the whole country.

Quay is again talking of retiring from politics. It will be observed that he always uses the future tense when engaged in that sort of talk.

Count Boni de Castellane has been ruled out of the French chamber of deputies. His reputation has not suffered, as he had none left.

With Colorado, Montana, Nebraska and Idaho back in the Republican fold, where are the silver states?

A gratifying feature of the election returns is that Senator Mason finds no trace of comfort in them.

WINTER IS COMING

YOU WILL WANT YOUR PLUMBING LOOKED AFTER.

Hyams Well Equipped For Doing It Right, Promptly And Reasonably.

One of the best equipped and most up-to-date plumbing establishments in this section of the state has lately been opened in East Liverpool, and all progressive residents are to be congratulated in consequence.

We refer to the spanking new concern of D. J. Hyams, in 161 Summit Lane, just off of Market, street, in the most densely populated section of the city. The stock of supplies for gas, steam and hot water fitting is new and absolutely unlimited, the building is new and the management is courteous and thoroughly conversant with the needs and demands of the public in this line.

Mr. Hyams is no stranger to the East Liverpool people, having been at the head of the plumbing and steam fitting department of one of the largest establishments in East Liverpool. As is the rule in every case, when a mechanic becomes a thorough master of his art he can better serve the trade when doing business for himself. This is precisely what Mr. Hyams has accomplished, and his storeroom and workshop is second to none.

Being a practical man in every sense of the word, Mr. Hyams has surrounded himself with a class of workmen who are perfect masters of their trade, and can be trusted in any emergency. Thus equipped the concern is in a position to meet the demands of the builders in a thorough and acceptable manner, no matter how large the contract, and as positive proof of this Mr. Hyams asks only to be given a chance to demonstrate the fact by being permitted to figure on your work.

POTTERS MADE VOTES COUNT

election not so much to his own popularity as to a concerted movement on the part of the potters to defeat Thomas Baddley, his opponent.

In the strike of 1893 Baddley, a pottery worker, refused to go out with the rest of the men.

George Tunnicliffe, the Republican councilman of the Twelfth ward, for many years has had charge of the decorating shop at the Greenwood pottery.

John Brian who, along with Kanz, will represent the Eighth ward, is a member of the Elite Pottery company, and recently a stockholder in the Keystone pottery.

Pottery, lamp and glass establishments are all fairly supplied with business. This is particularly true of the potteries. Several of them are working nights. Practically everything new this season in crockery, whether in shape or decorative effect, has been a winner. The hotel china trade never before attained such proportions and the makers of porcelain, white granite and C. C. goods are busier by far than last season.

The local pottery owners are looking forward for a visit from Edward Stewart, a government agent, who is now on his rounds inspecting industries throughout the country.

The organization of a department of clay working and ceramics at Rutgers college, as provided for by the legislative enactment appropriating $12,000 for the purpose, has been put in charge of Cullen W. Parmelee, instructor in chemistry, during the year, and is rapidly advancing under his supervision. A suitable building has been constructed, a kiln erected, and complete apparatus for the manufacture of tile, brick and pottery purchased. Moreover, a laboratory for the study of the clay worker's problems is being equipped. Two seniors have already begun work in the department, and it is expected that everything will be in working order by November 15.

It is reported here that George Shroppshire, a former Trenton potter, has resigned his position with one of the Wheeling potteries to become director of the decorating department of a large glass and lamp factory in Lancaster, Pa.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is putting in new sidings in the rear of the Greenwood potteries.

The Masonic celebration of the sesqui-centennial of General George Washington's initiation as a Free and Accepted Mason, in Philadelphia, was marked by the presentation of handsome souvenir plates to the guests. The plates were made by the Mercer Pottery company, and were designed by John Pope, superintendent of the art department of the Mercer pottery. The border is an exact reproduction of a dinner set given George Washington by the Society of Cincinnati. It is considered one of the best specimens of Deft or blue ware extant. The blue used is pronounced equal to the the best from England.

CREAMERY LITIGATION

Dispute Over the Dungannon Establishment's Affairs Reaches Circuit Court.

Lisbon, November 8.—(Special.)—The case of the Dungannon Co-Operative Creamery company, in which a dissolution of the corporation is asked, was presented to the circuit court yesterday by Attorney J. M. Dickinson. A petition was filed in 1901 by more than one-fifth of the stockholders, asking that the corporation be dissolved. It was further set forth that the company was getting deeper in debt, having then an indebtedness of over $800, while the capital stock was only $3,500.

A dissolution of the company, it was held, would injure no public interest. The court of common pleas appointed a referee in the matter, who took testimony covering several hundred pages, giving a financial statement. The judge of common pleas court refused to appoint a receiver.

The robbers were frightened, however, and made a hasty retreat.

The doctor was not at home, being away attending the funeral of Mrs. Rev. E. R. Donehoo in Pittsburg. It is supposed the robbers thought all the family were away.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS

Appointed in St. Clair Township to Carry Out the Improvement Voted For.

James C. McIntosh, Frank Faulk and George Miller have been appointed road commissioners in St. Clair township. A meeting of the trustees was held Thursday evening, at which the methods to be employed in the improvement of the roads in that township were discussed. It will be the duty of these commissioners to employ a civil engineer and go over the roads of the township for the purpose of ascertaining which of them it will be necessary to improve.

It is intended, if the plans now being considered are carried out, to improve the road from the township limits to this city by paving with fire brick to a width of 14 feet.

A Good Thing for Wellsville.

The county commissioners arrived in this city at noon yesterday, and after inspecting the new road made by Anderson Bros. accepted it. It runs from Steubenville street, near the intersection of Twenty-third street, around the hill to the Flat school house, where it joins the old Irondale county road. It is a new outlet for the city and will be the means of bringing many country people into the town who have heretofore gone elsewhere.

VIEW OF TORONTO

AND ITS MAYOR, WHO IS ALSO AN M. E. PREACHER.

Sells Sewing Machines And Real Estate And Fines Saloonists Without Mercy.

A staff correspondent of the Cleveland Press thus writes up Toronto and its ministerial mayor: This is one of those Ohio river towns that extend "three miles along the river and as far back as you can see." They are built on shelves near the river level, and the view back from the stream, owing to the hills, ranges from two to six blocks. A busy population of 4,500, thriving industries and a promised oil boom are all matters of civil pride, but the crowning glory of Toronto is the most versatile mayor in Ohio.

The crown rests lightly, yet firmly, upon the blond locks of Charles E. Miller. He has been mayor since a year ago last spring. He is a licensed minister of the Methodist church, and often serves as a temporary substitute for regular pastors. He is president of the Northeastern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's association. He sings in the choir of the First M. E. church. He holds membership in Toronto Volunteer Hose company No. 2. He is a member of a real estate firm. He also sells sewing machines. All of these honors, occupations and diversions have been crowded into 33 years.

Whether it be a fire, religious revival, business boom or an affair of state, Mayor Miller is to be found in the forefront.

His comparative youth and religious tendencies caused a good deal of a scare when the Republicans swept him into office last year. He has, however, avoided the sensational, and has given the town a conservative, able administration. He doubled the police force, and it now consists of two men. He placed the force in uniform. Saloonists were for a long time careful to observe the law, but finally became careless as to the hours for closing. When arraigned before the young mayor they got the maximum penalty—$50 fine. They protested that the penalty was excessive, but that they could stand monthly fine of about $25. Miller said he proposed to make it unprofitable to keep open outside of legal hours, and that the limit of $50 would be the standard fine. That discouraged the saloonists, and they have threatened to make a political rumpus when Miller runs again next spring. The threat does not seem to worry him. He will seek indorsement because of the progress and economy that have marked his administration.

H. H. Shirer, professor of pedagogics in Heidelberg university, Tiffin, has been chosen to succeed Joseph H. Byers as secretary of the board of state charities. Byers on December 1 will become warden of the intermediate penitentiary of Indiana. He has made a splendid official. He succeeded his father upon his death as secretary of the board. The position has been in the family for many years.

State Printer Mark Slater has returned from Dayton and has announced upon Congressman Nevin's authority that the latter will be a candidate for governor next year. He will begin his canvass at once and will be the first to enter the field. He was a candidate for governor in the convention which nominated Judge Nash, and was third in the race, Harry Daugherty, the brilliant young leader of Fayette, being second.

The Democratic state central committee will meet in this city early in January and undertake the herculean task of reorganizing and rejuvenating the party. Tracers have been sent out to gather in the fragments of the party which have been scattered to the four winds, and if enough can be recovered an attempt will be made to go through the motion of opposing the Republicans in next year's campaign.

Special Counsel Smith M. Bennett is at work on a brief which he will submit in the case of Clayton against the state, involving the right of the Mansfield reformatory managers to transfer prisoners to the penitentiary. The case will be heard on November 10.

Lost

The Use of Arm. Heart Trouble.

Could Not Eat, Sleep or Walk.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Entirely.

"If it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Remedies I would not be here to write this letter. Two years ago last June I lost the use of my left arm, could not use it and could only move it with the help of my right hand. My heart was so weak I could not sleep nights for smothering spells. I was out of sorts all over and could eat nothing. I grew so weak that I could not walk without staggering like a drunken man and my home doctor said he could do nothing for me. I was in so much pain I was almost wild. I could not take morphine nor opium as they made me worse. So I got to thinking about Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine and the more I thought about it the more I wanted to try them. I wrote to the Dr. Miles Medical Co. for advice which I followed to the letter. I can say today that I am glad I did as I am a well woman now; can work and can walk two or three miles and not mind it. I can also use my arm again as well as ever. You do not know how thankful I am for those grand medicines Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nervine. I think Dr. Miles' Remedies are the best in the world, and if I should get sick again I should take the same course. The remedies also helped my daughter Vida so wonderfully that I should have written you before to thank you, but I wanted to be sure that the cure was permanent, which I now know to be the case."—Mrs. Frank Loomis, Allen, Mich.

Something About a Historic English Race Course.

The Goodwood race course is quite unique. It is a long way from a station and is not near any town, says the London Tatler. It is on a hill the top of which is shaped like a horseshoe, the space between the two horns being represented by a deep ravine. The course runs round the horseshoe, the start being at the end of one horn and the finish at the end of the other. The result of this is that the equestrians who on other courses contrive to see both start and finish by the simple process of riding across while the race is in progress cannot do so at Goodwood They must elect which they will see and remain there. On the other hand, the course is very easy to follow with glasses.

The races as an institution are comparatively modern, but there must have been hunt races and matches on this course since the days of William III., when we hear of the Goodwood hunt as in existence. In 1800, however, the then Duke of Richmond made a new course, which is practically the present one. In 1801 the course was completed, and in order to celebrate this a regular meeting was got up by the duke with the assistance of the hunt and some officers of the Sussex militia and yeomanry, and prizes to the value of about £1,000 were put up. This meant a good sum in those days. This was the first Goodwood meeting of importance, and from that year it became an annual event.

A Walking Fern.

Most ferns are confirmed travelers New fern leaves grow out from the underground roots some distance away from the old plant. The average observer scarcely notices this, but there is a native fern that steps off at so lively a pace that its odd habit has long furnished one of the unceasing entertainments of the woods. The walking fern often carpets ledges and tops of shaded rocks. The slender, tufted leaf fronds are singularly unfernlike in appearance. They squirm about and "walk" by declining their taper tips to the soil and taking root there and growing. In time clusters of new leaf fronds spring from such rooted tips. By and by some of these, too, bite the earth and, taking root, start still other colonies, which in turn will continue the progress again and again. Naturally, with the lapse of time, the connection between the older tufts and the younger becomes broken, yet one sometimes finds series of three or four linked together, representing as many steps in the pretty ramble.—Country Life In America.

A Hint to Mothers of Small Children.

Mrs. Joshua Nutter, of Swiftwater, N. H., says: "When our dealer did not have Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in stock we used another preparation in treating our children, but it did little or no good. We have used this remedy for colds and croup with the highest success, and do not feel safe without it in the house." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always cures and is pleasant and safe to take. SMART HEADGEAR FOR THE CHILDREN

Woolen Hats and Caps That May Be Knitted or Crocheted by Skillful Fingers

IT is often difficult to know what Christmas present to give to an infant. A warm hat is always serviceable. To make one are required three ounces of single white Berlin wool, a bone crochet needle size 10, two knitting needles size 10, three yards ribbon.

Commence in the center of the crown with 4 chain, join to form a ring, work into it 18 treble stitches.

Second Round.—Two double crochet into each treble, taking the 2 back loops of each stitch.

BABY'S HAT.

Third Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Fourth Round.—Two d. c. into each treble.

Fifth Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Sixth Round.—One d. c. into each treble.

Seventh Round.—One treble into each d. c.

Eighth Round.—Two d. c. into first stitch, 1 into second stitch, repeat.

Ninth Round.—One treble into each. This forms the top of crown; next work another piece exactly like it for the inside, lay the two parts together (the wrong sides together) and work 1 round of treble, taking the two top loops of each part together; next round, in treble, missing every third stitch. This contracts the crown a little and makes it set a little full over the border; work 3 more rounds of treble without any decrease.

For the loop border cast on 12 stitches, knit 1 plain row.

Second row, slip first stitch * with the second stitch, wind the wool three times round the two first fingers of the left hand, third stitch, wind the wool three times round the first finger only, repeat from * until last stitch, which is knitted plain.

Third row plain.

Fourth Row.—Knit in loops, putting the wool round one finger over the long loops and round two fingers over the short loops. Work 60 rows of loops and cast off, join and sew round the hat over the 4 rounds of treble. Make a pretty tuft for the center of the crown; crochet 2 lengths of chain with double wool; make a tassel for each end; tie into loops and arrange on the left side of hat with loops of ribbon. Sew half a yard of ribbon on each side for the strings.

For an older child's Tam O'Shanter commence to crochet at center of crown with 6 chain, join to form a ring, into it work 12 double crochet, next 4 rounds of d. c., always working 2 into each alternate stitch and always taking both top loops of each stitch.

Fifth Round.—Without any increase.

Sixth Round.—Two d. c. into every fourth stitch; repeat these 2 rounds 4

CROCHETED TAM O'SHANTER.

times. Next work 8 rounds without any increase, making 23 in all; this forms the crown of cap.

Twenty-fourth Round.—One d. c. into each stitch of twenty-second round. Doing this forms the edge and has the appearance of cording.

The next three rounds pass over every third stitch and take back loops only of stitches.

Six rounds without any increase.

Next Round.—All treble stitches, taking both top loose of each stitch in previous row. Two more rounds of treble are worked and finished. Make a tuft for center of crown by winding the wool 100 times round two fingers, tie and cut to form a half ball. Sew to the center of crown, draw in all ends, and the "tam" is completed.

PINGPONG PINCUSHION.

Up to Date Adaptation of a Very Useful and Appropriate Gift.

The friend who is devoted to pingpong will be amused to find among his or her presents on Christmas morning the funny little figure shown in the sketch. The body of the Chinaman is a sausagelike bag stuffed with sawdust or emery powder. His robe is of flowered silk lined with plain silk like that which appears on the bands. His head is a celluloid pingpong ball, upon which features are drawn with india ink or painted with water colors. His cue is made of horsehair, which is glued to the top of his head. The head itself is glued to the body. Pins and needles are to be fastened in the robe.

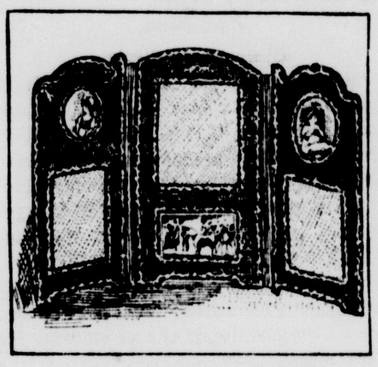

PINGPONG PINCUSHION

Another fancy for pins is the doll pincushion. Choose an ordinary china doll about five inches in height, with movable arms and legs and a sweet face and plenty of pretty curly hair. Dress the dainty little lady in her long clothes. Four strips of fine white flannel 2 inches wide and 8 inches long must be carefully buttonholed round the edges, then firmly fastened round the baby doll's waist. Into these are placed needles, white pins, black pins and safety pins. Then comes the baby's dress, which is made of two strips of dainty ribbon about 3 inches wide and 10 inches long—one strip for the front and one for the back, held in position by baby ribbon. It is hung up by a loop of ribbon.

SCREEN FOR PHOTOGRAPHS

An Excellent Gift For Those Who Have a Large Stock of Pictures.

As every one has on hand more photographs than can be provided for, anything in the shape of a frame is certain to be a valued Christmas gift. The screen photograph holder is made of strawboard covered with silk or satin, which is embroidered with floss or gold or silver thread. The panels are cut large enough to accommodate one cabinet photograph and one carte de visite. The outline of each panel is sketched on the strawboard before it is cut. On the inner side of each panel is pasted a sheet of white glazed paper. The cover is of light material on the inside and of some darker shade of the same color on the outside. Three edges of the back and front of each panel are stitched together on the machine. The lower part is left open that the silk, when turned right side out, may be slipped over the strawboard. When the cover is in place, the lower edge is finished with a narrow hem, but is not sewed together. A silk cord may be used as a frame for the openings cut for the photographs. The pictures are slipped into place from below.

DUCK LAUNDRY BAG.

Many Useful Souvenirs May Be Fashioned of Duck, Drill or Holland.

A simple and inexpensive holiday gift is a laundry bag of strong duck. A little girl can make one for her mother, for the instruction is so simple that it needs no experienced hand to cut it out, stitch it together or line it with the linen embroidery cotton. The lively Chinaman on one side of the bag is stamped on the duck. A casing is run along the upper part of the bag, and through this passes an ornamental cord for a drawstring. The open top is neatly hemmed. The most convenient dimensions for such a bag are 27 by 18 inches.

LAUNDRY BAG.

A shoe bag can be made of duck or of brown holland or blue drill, cut in a strip 28 inches long by 8 wide. Fold over to make the bag and leave five inches at one end to form the flap. Bind the edges with ribbon or turn them in and finish with a border of buttonholing or featherstitching. Work the initials of the recipient on the lid and make two buttonholes, which are to fasten to two buttons sewed in position to meet them on the bag. Then work the word "Shoes" in large letters across the bag. If the bag be blue drill, embroider in white; if of holland, embroider in blue or pink. If you bind the edges with ribbon, choose the ribbon to match the embroidery cotton. This size of bag holds only one pair of shoes. For a larger size cut the same length, 28 inches, and make the width 16 or 24 inches. Make up with divisions of featherstitching at intervals of eight inches, so that each pair of shoes is kept in a separate compartment. The flap falls over the entire width, with a buttonhole to fasten in the center of each compartment.

The business man will appreciate a good leather pocketbook, with several compartments and a place for stamps. It should be as thin and as strong as possible.

ODD CHRISTMAS CARDS.

Something Which Amateur Photographers Can Make.

What prettier idea than that our Christmas cards should be enriched with photographs of scenes familiar to sender and recipient alike, especially when sending to friends in some foreign country? Much individuality may be expressed in arrangements of still life, bric-a-brac, fruit, etc. Flowers and plants always make pretty compositions, but it is best to choose seasonable ones, such as Christmas roses, holly, mistletoe, etc. The result aimed at is to secure a decorative quality in the work. This may be either in the photograph itself, as in the case of flowers, grasses, etc., or it may be introduced by accessory work, such as borders or other ornamentation in pen and ink or wash. Very pretty effects may be obtained by using two photographs in combination, one as a background to the other. A group of views arranged in some novel manner would also afford scope for much originality.

A simple border can easily be added to any photograph and will give a finish to the picture, but where there have been much labor and time spent in decorative work the best plan is to rephotograph the whole to any size desired and then print off the number of copies to send away.

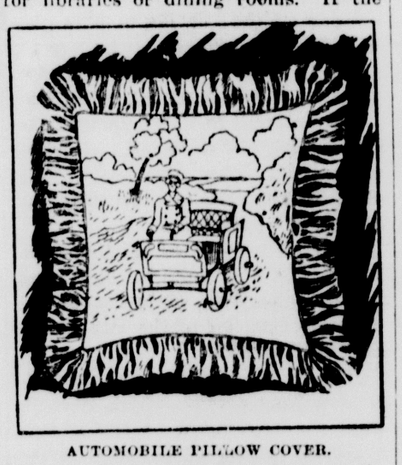

Lettering must be carefully done and a style of type chosen which harmonizes best with the general character of the card.

AN AUTOMOBILE PILLOW.

Design Which Is Suitable For a Cushion Cover of Any Material.

Sofa pillows incased in fancy covers are acceptable holiday gifts. The cost of the feathers or the down required to mold these comforts into shape is considerable, and many families who would gladly increase their cushion supply cannot afford to do so.

Cushions whose covers bear embroidered automobiles are considered particularly up to date. They are suitable for libraries or dining rooms. If the dealer in fancy work cannot stamp the cloth with such a pattern, save from a newspaper or a magazine an automobiling scene and with carbon paper transfer the picture to the fabric. Then outline the design with floss.

A cushion cover of this sort may be made of denim, linen or silk. A ruffle consisting of a double fold of the material should be gathered to a moderate fullness and then stitched between the covers.

A plush cushion cover would look handsome with appliques of gold, and an ivory satin one would look lovely in the exquisite blue Japanese embroidery. The pattern can be worked or painted and the machine made handsome by gold and silver embroideries on it. Cushions are quite things of beauty, and they really are not expensive.

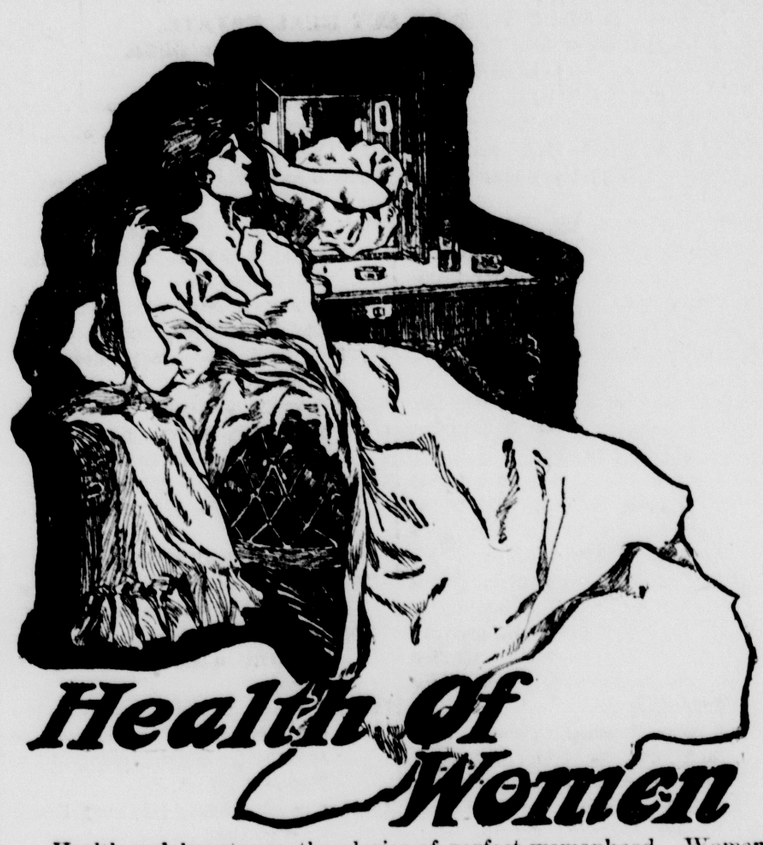

A Gift For Grandma.

What gift could be nicer for grandmother than the dainty tie shown in the sketch? It may be embroidered on black or white net or black or white silk muslin. Net is more easily embroidered and is therefore preferable. If the foundation is silk net, use fine silk embroidery floss and a fine silk ribbon for making the knots. The flowers are done with silk thread. The ribbon should be used for making the edges.

Health Of Women

Health and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood. Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removes such troubles.

Case of this Prominent Chicago Woman Should Give Everyone Confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to add my testimonial to the great number who are today praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Three years ago I broke down from excessive physical and mental strain. I was unable to secure proper rest, also lost my appetite, and I became so nervous and irritable too that my friends trembled and I was unable to attend to my work. Our physician prescribed for me, but as I did not seem to improve, I was advised to go away. I could neither spare the time nor money, and was very much worried when, fortunately, one of my club friends called. She told me how she had been cured of ovarian troubles, and how like my symptoms were to hers, seven bottles of your medicine cured her, and she insisted that I take some.

"I did so, and am glad that I followed her advice. Within six weeks I was a different woman, strong and robust in health, and have been so ever since.

"A number of my friends who have been troubled with ailments peculiar to our sex have taken your compound, and have also been greatly benefited." — MISS ELIZABETH DALEY, 270 Loomis St., Chicago, Ill. President of the St. Ruth's Court, Order of Foresters, Catholic.

What is left for the women of America, after reading such letters as we publish, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends, when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely the experience of hundreds of thousands of women, whom the Compound has cured, should convince all women.

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these cures of thousands of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—stick to the medicine that you know is the Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness.

PLEASING RECEPTION

Given by Mrs. H. A. McNicol in Honor of Miss Robinson to a Large Number of Friends.

The handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. McNicol last evening, was the scene of one of the most elegant social functions of the season. The party was given in honor of Miss Georgia Robinson, a cousin of Mrs. McNicol.

A large number of guests spent the first part of the evening in card playing, while other guests retired to the adjoining room where Miss Robinson, an accomplished violinist, with Miss Elizabeth Hamil and Mrs. James Rinehart, entertained them with classical instrumental solos and duets. The music throughout the evening was very much appreciated.

Prizes were awarded to the card-players, the first prize being a handsome cut glass dish, while the consolation prize was one of the late novels, beautifully bound.

Later in the evening an elaborate luncheon was served, which re-established the reputation of the hostess as an able caterer of no mean ability. The colors in the dining room, which were predominant in the confections etc., were green and white. At the close of the luncheon, favors of beautiful large chrysanthemums in pink or white were presented to each guest.

The hostess was elegantly attired in a fashionable combination of black net and black satin ribbon, embellished with a large green chou and the same becoming color at the neck.

It has long been known that Mrs. McNicol possessed remarkable social ability, but it was last evening that she proved herself a most magnificient hostess.

SUCCESSFUL EVERY WAY

The Y. M. C. A. Supper And Flower Show Most Enjoyable as Well as Profitable.

The ladies of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary were again greeted last evening by a large attendance, who did ample justice to the elegant supper served them. Mrs. J. C. Allison and Mrs. E. L. Trimmer, who had charge of the affair, had a most efficient corps of assistants.

The decorations of the flower booth in green and white were very pretty being under the supervision of Mrs Edwin M. Knowles, who is noted for her taste and ability. The flower booth last evening netted the neat sum of $90. The candy booth, which was also prettily arranged, cleared about $30.

Throughout the evening the Peerless Mandolin club entertained the crowd with choice selections. It is thought by the ladies that $300 or $400 was made last evening, the affair being successful in every regard.

Chautauqua Circle.

The Chautauqua circle met last evening at the home of Miss Agnes Jones on Fifth street. The first part of the evening was spent in parliamentary drill, including the organization of mass meetings, which was in charge of Mrs. McKelvey. Later there was a discussion on the "Duke of Wellington" followed by a "Bird's Eye View of Poland." The ladies present were much delighted with the vocal solo by Miss Jones.

Agreeably Entertained.

Mrs. W. H. Vodrey and Miss Mary Vodrey entertained a large number of their friends yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Vodrey, on Fifth and College streets. The afternoon, which was a very enjoyable one, was spent in progressive peanuts, after which a luncheon was served. The hostess may well be congratulated upon the perfection of their appointments.

To Arrange Rummage Sale.

There will be a meeting of the hospital association Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. Monroe Patterson. All the members will be present at 7:30 o'clock. The business of the meeting will be to make final arrangements for the rummage sale to be given on Second street in the Farmer block, for the benefit of the hospital in the near future.

Blood Wine Snatched Him from Jaws of Death. Senator Hanson's Glowing Tribute.

We often learn of marvelous surgical operations—of a man having his stomach removed, or of a missing vertebra being replaced by a silver one in the spine, and of other wonderful feats, and we read of them with open-mouthed astonishment. Yet when an equally miraculous recovery is made from some terrible disease—by the use of a medicine—people do not give the medicine equal credit. "Blood Wine" has performed some truly magical cures—cures of diseases that baffled physicians for years. When a man suffer for years, loses his strength, flesh, endurance; wastes away from stout manhood to a frail skeleton, and at last is saved by the use of a medicine, shouldn't credit be given to that medicine? Shouldn't such a result prove its value? Shouldn't such positive proof speak stronger than words? Read the experience of Wm. S. Bowie, of Charlestown, Mass.:

"For a number of years I suffered with chronic diarrhœa (any one who has had it for one day only, knows what a terrible disease it is). It sapped my strength, and changed me from a strong, healthy man to a frail, puny fellow. I would gladly have given $500.00 for a cure. Physicians doctored me until I was almost sick of seeing them come. They did me no good. I grew worse and worse, until death stared me in the face. I was absolutely hopeless. With a great deal of prejudice I was one day talked into trying 'Blood Wine.' To my great surprise I found it helped me. I stuck to it regularly, following directions, and in time it cured me entirely. I cannot express my gratitude in the limits of a letter, but will say that I know it saved my life, and that I think it the greatest medicine in the world."

A great many physicians buy "Blood Wine" in large quantities for their patients. A great many hospitals and dispensaries use it. Intelligent people who are familiar with its origin, who know the theory upon which it cures disease, by its great and peculiar action upon the blood, take it in preference to anything else. Ex-Senator Hanson, of Massachusetts, whose home is in Lowell, Mass., has this to say of "Blood Wine":

"I think 'Blood Wine' is a wonderful medicine. The effect that it has on a debilitated system is almost beyond comprehension, and I don't believe there is a disease of the blood, or a disease produced by a condition of the blood that it will not eradicate. I have kept it in my family since its first introduction into this country, and consider it just as much a necessity as flour or sugar."

Senator Hanson is a man who wouldn't have anything but the best. He is a man of great executive ability, and a very active brain. He uses "Blood Wine" right along to keep his brain clear and active, and his body free from ache or pain. Thousands of people do the same. "Blood Wine" never disappoints. If you are in bad health and you take "Blood Wine," you are just as sure to feel better as the sun is sure to rise and set. It cures disease by working on the blood. Blood is life, and "Blood Wine" eradicates all the elements of disease from the blood that rob us of life.

FREE BLOOD TEST.

If you want your blood examined by an expert bacteriologist, you can have it done free of charge by sending your name to the Louis Daudelin Co., Worcester, Mass., for free particulars. Remember that nearly all diseases show themselves in the blood. The powerful microscope reveals the germs, impurities and disease like an open book. Never before was such an opportunity offered. Take advantage of it at once. "Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle.

MRS. HELENA BLAU,

Young Milwaukee Society Woman.

Mrs. Helena Blau.

TEN thousand cured women have written to tell how Wine of Cardui bestows the blessing of health on every woman who takes it, rich and poor alike. Mrs. Helena Blau, No. 123 Seventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis., is one of the young women whom Wine of Cardui has rescued from a life of suffering. She writes:

"Wine of Cardui is certainly 'worn out' women's best friend and I am pleased to give my experience with it. A few months ago I caught a severe cold, having been out in inclement weather, which settled all over me, particularly in the abdomen. I was in almost constant pain. I consulted a physician and took his medicine for a month and without any relief. I then decided I would try your medicine and it was a lucky day for me when I did so. I noticed a change in a few days and felt encouraged to continue taking Wine of Cardui, and my patience was rewarded, for in two weeks my pains had left me and I felt like a new woman."

The woman who has suffered from female weakness should do anything within reason to secure health. Wine of Cardui is the medicine that appeals to reasonable women—women who hold operations and cutting in horror—women who know that Nature is the best physician. Wine of Cardui gives women back their health by giving Nature a chance to build up the wasted and diseased tissue. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow and Nature, when relieved of the drains or of the poisons in the system, makes the functional organs strong and healthy again.

Any woman who is silently suffering untold pains because she is too sensitive to undergo a physician's examination and treatment can find no excuse for not securing relief when Wine of Cardui is offered to her. There is no publicity to deter her. She can take Wine of Cardui in the privacy of her home, with as much assurance of a final cure as though a dozen doctors recommended it. Many physicians do recommend Wine of Cardui to their patients.

Why not get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

FAST BEING MADE A BIG RAILROAD

Lake Erie, Alliance and Wheeling to Be Extended 50 Miles Further.

WILL THEN REACH FAIRPORT

The Line Passes Through Five Coal Districts And the Company Has Leases On Large Tracts of Valuable Coal Lands.

The shareholders of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling railroad have just made the first inspection trip ever their property. Since May, 1901, the line has undergone general changes. The track has been improved and the road bed has been ballasted. New bridges have been put in and new rails have been laid until the road is in good shape both for freight and passenger traffic. The enormous coal land tapped is alone sufficient to furnish the company a most excellent future and to this end millions will be spent for extensions and betterments next year.

The road is a merger of the old Alliance & Northern, running from Phalanx to Alliance, the Ohio River & Lake Erie from Alliance to Bergholz and the right of way belonging to a company known as the Cleveland & Wheeling. The consolidation was effected in 1900, and with the extension built south of Bergholz during the last year, the road is about ninety miles long. The old Alliance & Northern line has been overhauled completely and four miles of new track have been laid north of Alliance. Nine miles of new track has been laid out of Alliance and eighteen miles of new road have been built from Bergholz to Hopedale the point where the Cleveland & Wheeling right of way commences. From Hopedale several miles have been completed to a point about three miles below Piney Fork. It is the intention to build to Dillonvale connection is made with the road into Wheeling later. At Dillonvale connections is made with the Wheeling & Lake Erie so that entrance by connection can soon be furnished.

It is announced that next the principal work to be done will be the extension from Phalanx to Fairport, a distance of fifty miles. Preliminary plans for this work are now under way. One hundred and seventy-five acres have been purchased for dock facilities at Fairport and necessary provisions have been made for rights of way. The cost of building this line, together with other improvements of next year, will amount to several million dollars. When the line is completed the entire trackage will be about 155 miles. It will then connect with the great trunk lines, crossing the Lake Shore and Nickel Plate, besides the Erie, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wheeling & Lake Erie, and the proposed route of the Wabash. The attitude of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling is friendly, it is understood, to these lines, but will remain independent of all.

The route of this north and south line passes through five coal districts, containing about 50,000 acres. The company which owns the road is the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling Coal company, which owns 9,000 acres of coal land. Two thousand acres of this amount have been leased by the Jefferson Coal company, and this, together with other mammoth tracts, make an estimated total of 400,000,000 tons of coal in the immediate territory of the railroad. This amount is figured from the acreage of coal-producing property, and it is estimated that it will require 2,000 years to mine the product at the rate of twenty-five car loads a day, though the present rate is higher than this.

ARRESTED AND FINED

Funkhouser, of Shantytown, Accused of Insulting a Woman. Pleaded Guilty.

As a result of his rantings in the shantyboat district between Market and Jackson streets Thursday evening Frank Funkhouser was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Mahoney and taken before 'Squire McCarron.

The warrant for his arrest was sworn to by Mrs. Elizabeth Knapp, who charged him with insulting her. She stated that he for a time acted as though he intended to attempt personal violence, and he relented upon firing a volume of insulting remarks at her. So angry was Mrs. Knapp that she could not wait until daybreak yesterday morning to find an officer to make out the necessary papers for the man's arrest. Before dawn she applied at the home of Officer Dawson and started to tell her story, but he would not listen and she turned in another direction.

Going to the mayor's office, she met with a cold reception, being told that if she wanted any one prosecuted she would have to produce money enough to secure the costs. As a last resort she went to a 'squire's court and had the papers issued.

Officer Mahoney arrested the man at the depot and took him before the 'squire, who fined him $1 and costs upon his offering a plea of guilty.

POLICE WANT HIM

A Degraded Brute or a Crazy Man Frightens Women And Children.

An unknown man for a week or more has been wanted by the police. A description of the brute has been given to the officers, but as yet they have been unable to locate a person tallying with it. Every evening it is said that the man stations himself on a street between Market and Washington streets and while school children are passing behaves most disgracefully. Several little girls were so badly frightened on Friday evening that when they reached their homes they were unable for an hour or more to explain to their parents the cause.

A woman was insulted by the man Thursday evening and she reported the matter to an older brother, who started out in search of the vile character, but after hunting for an hour or more was unsuccessful. It is said that the man is past 50 years of age and that he is long a resident of the city. The children whom he has frightened think him a crazy person and say he follows them every night.

COULD NOT PROVE IT

And F. Wright, Who Charged Sullivan With Theft, Failed to Produce Enough Evidence.

Concluding that he could not produce evidence that would convict Thomas Sullivan, an erstwhile resident of Pittsburg, but living in East Liverpool for several months, of the larceny of a valuable piece of coin, F. Wright, a stranger in the city, appeared at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon at the time set for Sullivan's trial and withdrew the charge. Before doing so, however, he was required to pay the costs incurred by preferring the charge.

The mayor released Sullivan from the jail upon his promise to not be found again in bad company and his offer to clean the cells of the city prison. Wright stated, when he withdrew the charge, that he was with Sullivan Thursday night, but owing to the fact that there were also several others with him he could not prove that Sullivan was the guilty party. Sullivan was charged with stealing a souvenir worth $20 from Wright in a saloon on Market street.

A Report of Chinese Viceroy Give Details of Boxer Outbreak.

THIRTEEN WERE BEHEADED.

Tells of Attack on Chen Tu—Battle Raged All Night—Some Elements of Discord Still Exist—Not Much to Be Feared, However.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 8.—Mail advices received from the Orient include official reports from Kuei Chun, ex-viceroy of Sze Chuan, detailing the recent Boxer outbreak there. After relating the incidents leading up to the destruction of the churches in the two districts and the murder of many native converts, the report says:

"Several regiments of troops were sent to the disturbed places, and, besides slaying two or three hundred of the insurgents, succeeded in capturing several, who were brought to Cheng Tu and decapitated.

"Between 5,000 and 6,000 Boxers assembled in Hwa Yang Hsien, Chin Tang Hsien and Shien Chou, where they occupied the market towns and killed as many captains of the train bands as they could get hold of. A small force was sent to the Boxers to exhort them to disperse. I did not take stringent measures on this occasion because I feared that among the Boxers there might be many famine stricken inhabitants, who were not disposed to do evil, but were simply misled by the Boxers. A fight followed and 200 Boxers were killed and the others were driven back. Many entrenched themselves and the force sent was obliged to return."

The report continues describing the disaffection throughout the province, which prevented garrisons being transferred, and then tells of the attack on Cheng Tu, where three regiments and 600 banner men had been assembled for defense. The Boxers attacked the imperial troops in the outskirts of Cheng Tu and a hot battle followed, which lasted for a whole night, with the result that between 400 and 500 rebels were slain, about 1,000 were dispersed and the rest retreated to Ching Tang Hsien, where they burned the churches and put many natives to death. When the imperial troops were dispatched to Ching Tang Hsien, the Boxers proceeded to Hsuao Ching Ping, where they joined forces with other insurgents. A battle was fought there and 300 Boxers were put to the sword. Defeated there, the Boxers fled to the hills at Suchiawan, where they found refuge for the time being, but reinforcements of imperial troops arrived and marched against the rebels in Suchiawan from three different directions, slaying about 1,400 of them and capturing 13 alive, who were beheaded on the spot, after undergoing a formal trial.

Concluding the report, the viceroy says:

"Although there still exists elements of disorder, there is not much to be feared from the Boxers, because all of the rebel chiefs have been exterminated."

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW

Unusually Large Fall Distribution---Complaint of Slow Freight Movement.

REDUCTION IN TIN PLATES

Shortage of Coke Interferes With Furnaces—Tone of Structural Iron Market Slightly Easier, With Demand Good.

New York, Nov. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Trade and industry are making steady progress, reports from all sections of the country containing evidences of wholesome development. An unusually large fall distribution occurred and current transactions in heavier goods are liberal, considering the mildness of the season. Complaints of slow freight movement are still heard, testifying to the enormous volume of business handled by the railways, which report earnings for October 4.8 per cent larger than last year and 14.2 per cent above 1900. It is the exception when manufacturing plants have not contracts assuring activity for many months and annual inventories will be taken with difficulty, owing to importunate customers. Prices of commodities, proportioned to consumption, as shown by Dun's index number, declined about 1 per cent during October, $99,579, comparing with $100,648. The decrease occurred in meats and fuel, mainly the latter.

The only development of note in the iron and steel market has been the 10 per cent reduction in price of tin plates to take effect Dec. 1. While some change was anticipated, the trade was not prepared for so large a cut. If the recent lowering of price lists in certain sections of the market should stimulate foreign trade, there will be occasion for gratification, as some exceptional export movement is needed to offset the heavy imports of pig iron and billets. Many furnaces have been compelled to bank because of the poor receipts of coke, and there is little evidence of improvement in the railway situation, motive power being utterly inadequate.

Contracts run far into the future in structural material for bridges and buildings, while plates are sought by car works and ship yards. High premiums are still paid for prompt delivery, but most shipments are on old contracts placed at regular list prices. Recent enlargement of facilities has greatly increased production in many lines, which explains the slightly easier tone of the market as a whole, but there is no evidence of diminished demand nor unsound conditions.

Some declines in the raw material did not produce any lower offering prices for cotton goods, although it made buyers all the more anxious to delay placing contracts. As a result the movement is only for immediate requirements, and there are complaints that old orders are not being filled according to contract. Export orders are limited.

REVOLUTION COLLAPSING.

Venezuela Rebels Retreat—Attributed to Shortage of Ammunition.

Generals Disagree.

La Victoria, Venezuela, Nov. 8.—News has been received here concerning the retreat of the revolutionary forces. It is to the effect that on the night of Nov. 1 the revolutionists withdrew from their positions near La Victoria and San Mateo because they were without ammunition. The fact that the rebels lacked cartridges caused a disagreement between General Matos and General Rolando, which was followed by hot words. General Rolando declared that the shortage of ammunition was the fault of General Matos and that if the success of the revolution was endangered by this condition, General Matos alone was responsible. He said that all was lost and with his followers, about 3,200 men, he withdrew from the main body of the rebels in the direction of Alta Gracia. It is reported that General Rolando proclaimed "Elmocho" Hernandez as the leader of the revolution.

It is difficult to understand the apparent sudden and complete collapse of the revolutionary movement. But a few days ago the rebels seemed to be upon the eve of victory, while yesterday their cause seemed absolutely lost.

PRESIDENT STICKNEY TESTIFIED

Declares Before Interstate Commerce Commission That Railroads Do Not Desire to Injure Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—President A. B. Stickney, of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company, was the first witness at the second day's session of the interstate commerce commission yesterday. Mr. Stickney's testimony was to the effect that while there was an apparently large disparity between the rates on live stock and the finished product, yet the conditions of transportation made the two rates almost equal.

President Stickney declared that all rates are established on a basis of an absolutely free market, and the intention of the railroad company is not to hurt Chicago or to build up Kansas City. The rate of 18½ cents on packing house products, he said was made after negotiations with large shippers, and while the Great Western had secured the best rate it could arrange, yet the one now established is not unreasonable. He further asserted that the live stock rate, all things considered, is not out of proportion to the other. He closed his testimony by stating that rates should be based on the cost of service and not on the value of the property hauled.

W. B. Biddie, freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe road, who was the next witness, took issue with President Stickney in regard to rates on live stock. He began by stating that the rates established by his company on packing house products are the same as those of the Great Western road, while on live stock it is only 12 cents, compared with 23½ cent. as charged by the Great Western line. The witness said that the cost of both was about equal, and that railroad men generally recognize that rates should be higher on the finished product than on live stock.

WALL STREET IRREGULAR.

Dealings Small and Professional—Decline In Bank Reserves.

New York, Nov. 8.—The irregular tone of the market continued yesterday. The level of prices was above Thursday night for the greater part of the day, but the advances were exceedingly spotty, and were not well maintained. In the late dealings, as was the case Thursday, the efforts of professional operators to realize profits on the early advance wiped out the advance and the market closed weak, with net losses sprinkled all through the list. No important gains were left at the close. The dealings were smaller than Thursday and were even more strictly professional. The operations could not be said to represent any conviction on the speculative outlook, but were simply the result of the efforts of professional traders to find a current of prices for the purpose of making a turn.

Sugar was a drag on the market throughout and its final dip of 2% was an influence in the general weakness. The stiffening of the call money rate at the last and the promise of a poor bank statement were contributory factors to the reaction. A decline in bank reserves for the week of upwards of $3,000,000 is indicated. New York exchange at Chicago rose 10 cents to 20 cents discount. Additional reports of a decreasing tendency in the net earnings of railroads had to be faced. Among the early points of strength the soft coalers were conspicuous.

Constipation Makes Bad Blood.

MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CURES CONSTIPATION

Constipation is the rotting and decaying of undigested food in the alimentary canal. Disease germs arise from this festering mass, which find their way into the blood. The blood becomes impure and shortly the entire system gives way to the unhealthy condition.

You cannot cure a case like this by taking pills or other common cathartics. A laxative will not do. A blood medicine is ineffective. Mull's Grape Tonic is a gentle and mild laxative in addition to being a blood-making and strength-giving tonic which immediately builds up the wasted body and makes rich, red blood that carries its health-giving strength to every tissue at every heart beat.

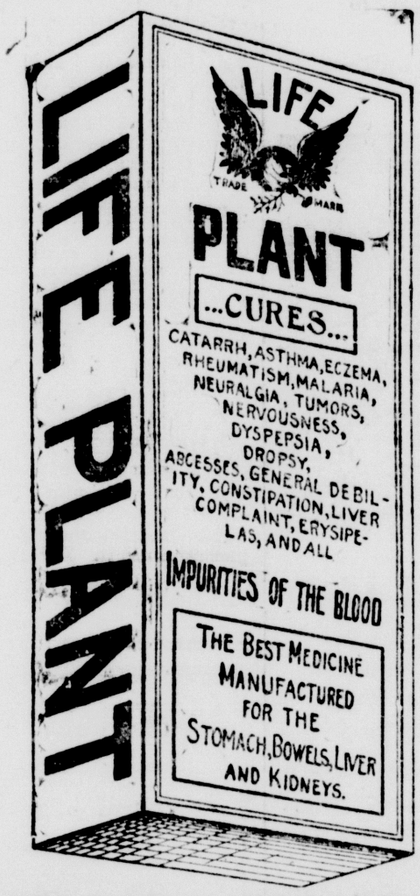

Mull's Grape Tonic is made of pure crushed fruit juices and is sold under a positive guarantee.

OUR NATIVE TREES

...By...
THOMAS H. MACBRIDE, Ph. D.,
Professor of Botany, Iowa State University.

III.—Longevity of Trees.

FROM what has been said in the preceding chapters it might be presumed that there is no end to the growth and development of a tree. By its very structure the tree is a thing of life wound up to run on forever. It winds itself up, the cambium renewing itself year after year. As Wordsworth puts it, a tree is—

A living thing
Produced too slowly ever to decay,
Of form and aspect too magnificent
To be destroyed.

Dr. Holmes touches the subject more lightly, but to the same effect:

In fact, there's nothing that keeps its youth,
As I'm informed, but a tree and truth.

Nevertheless trees are not immortal, some of them far enough from it. They have their limitations, constitutional even, and share ultimately the fate of all terrestrial things.

In the first place, most trees die by violence, by accident of one sort or other. In battle with the wind and storm the tree by its very form is at great mechanical disadvantage. This disadvantage increases with every added inch of height or width. Other things being equal, it is only a question of time, in an exposed position at least, until by the very circumstance of growth the tree gives to the wind a leverage sure to be disastrous. The long branch or even the lengthening top may snap beneath an unusual weight of ice or snow. The loss to the tree is threefold. It loses the part destroyed, which is bad enough. It loses equipoise, the balance which between all its parts the slow progress of the years has brought about, and in so far becomes more certain of destruction in some later storms. But, worse than all, the tree is wounded with a lesion that late or never heals, most likely never. Decay ensues, the tree becomes hollow, and presently the fragile shell, even though living, sinks into ruin.

It is interesting here to note the adaptations in the form and habit of trees, the adaptations by means of which unfavorable meteoric conditions are more successfully resisted. For instance, all trees, especially when developed in isolation, have broad, far spreading bases. If developed together, the forest itself has an expanded base, and the trees protect each other. The deciduous leaved trees throw down their leaves at the approach of winter, and thus strip for the battle with snow and ice, which would otherwise crush their branches to the earth. The cone bearers, old fashioned trees that they are, hold their foliage, part of it, it is true, but note its peculiar character and the position it assumes. There is nowhere in the world a prettier adaptation than the sparse, fringed needles of the pine, through which the wind and storm may whistle, or the drooping, taper, fingerlike branches of the spruce or fir, shedding the falling snowflakes. In all the trees the branches themselves are specially constructed to meet the onset of the blast. Trees shed not their leaves alone, but their twigs, only a comparatively few surviving to carry forward the limb's extension. Compare the cottonwood, on which the twigs are few; the elm even, or the oak, where their number is very small when contrasted with the number started; the coffee bean tree, on which there is scarcely one. Indeed, we may say in general that if a tree be closely studied its form will accurately proclaim the conditions by which it has all along been surrounded. The whole tree is an adaptation to its environment.

But, in the second place, the longevity of trees seems to a great extent purely a matter of habit. Some trees are short lived by habit, naturally short lived, as we might say. The broad leaved aspen, for instance, lives, at least in many parts of the country, but a few decades, in Iowa hardly thirty years. Such trees seem to reach a certain maturity and then die for no appreciable reason. Some oaks have similar constitutional tendencies. The black oaks are said to be less enduring than the white oaks. Some species of the black oak group die at fifty to seventy years. The oaks of Europe are apparently longer lived than those of North America. The famous oak at Cozes, in southern France, is certainly more than 1,000 years old. Cæsar may have stood beside it.

We reckon a tree's years by the number of its rings as seen upon its section. Every year, certain as the succession of seedtime and harvest, witnesses for the tree the increment of vernal and autumnal wood, so that in case of a fallen tree or of a tree any part of whose section can be seen we may count the rings of growth and know with very great exactness the number of its years. The only exceptions are found in the case of very young shoots or trees, where sometimes more than one ring is formed in a single year. So also on older trees after accidental loss of foliage a second feeble ring is sometimes added. But as a rule the rings of a tree are as its years.

By counting thus the rings on a section and comparing the radius, half the tree's diameter, we easily obtain the thickness of the average annual increase and so may estimate the age of other trees of the same sort whose diameter is known. Thus, in the case of the French oak referred to, a block eighteen inches thick, taken about ten feet from the ground, shows 200 annual rings. As the diameter of the tree at that level is about thirty feet, the tree is evidently about 2,000 years old. The interior of this tree, which was perfectly sound, has been shaped into a dining room, where around a center table twelve hungry travelers may be served at once. As the tree attains such hoary age the rate of growth becomes ever slower. The amount of efficient foliage is generally proportionately smaller, while the surface over which the annual accumulation must be spread is wider year by year. There lies before us the section of an oak which in seventy-five years attained a diameter of one foot. The next inch of the radius, counting outward, cost the labor of twenty-five years, so that the increase in diameter at the last was less than a line a year. Dr. Gray estimates the growth of our southern cypress after the first three or four hundred years to be no more than one-third of a line per annum.

It is easy, therefore, for us to believe that very large trees are very old. Some of the great trees in California have been cut down to make grapevine stakes, and on their stumps the rings have been counted. On one the number rises to 2,200. Nay, more, John Muir tells us that in the King's river forest he counted 4,000 rings on a single stump!

But the oldest tree on the continent is thought to be the Oaxaca cypress. The circumference of the tree is given at 112 feet as the minimum. Putting the annual increment in diameter at a line a year, which is certainly far in excess of the truth, we have 5,124 years as the age of the Oaxaca tree. To appreciate this let any one get down his history of the world and see to what date this number carries him back in historic time.

Perhaps the most curious and wonderful illustration of the longevity of trees is that referred to by Dr. Gray in his essay on this particular subject. A dragon tree stands on the island of Tenerife which has been known and made matter of record since 1402. Its structure is different from that of our common trees and its growth exceedingly slow; in fact, in the 500 years since its discovery it has changed almost not at all. In the year 1819 it was badly wrecked by storm and once again in the year 1869. But it still continues to grow, its surviving branches "still annually crowned, as they have been each returning autumn perhaps for hundreds of centuries, with its beautiful clusters of white lilylike blossoms, emblems of the eternal youth of nature."

"Hundreds of centuries" means a very old tree, no doubt far surpassing in age any other living thing upon the planet. Our California giants are old, but forty-five centuries doubtless transcend the springing of the oldest; the cypresses of Mexico are old, but fifty centuries measure the antiquity of these. The dragon tree alone is perennial, approximating the immortality which the structure of our ordinary trees suggests, but never may secure.

Value of Live Oak Wood.

Live oak takes a beautiful polish and is preferable in every way to the antique oak as a hard wood for finishing and for cabinet making. It has when first polished a richer luster, with handsomer veining, than birdseye maple, and it would become darker and richer with every day that passed. For every purpose for which any of the known hard woods is employed this oak is available, and it has a distinct beauty different from yet fully equaling any of the rest. Live oak trees should not be cut down and burned simply because they are in the way, as has been the case in many instances in former times. Where these trees grow, in fact, it would be cheaper for the owners of the land to import and burn coal rather than to sacrifice them. Many western settlers cut down their black walnut groves for stove wood and then live to see black walnut become worth almost its weight in gold.

Famous Trees.

General Brisbin has a chapter on famous trees of the world which is full of curious information. The African baobab is known to reach the age of over 5,000 years. At Chapultepec, Mexico, is a large cypress under which Cortes and his troops rested. In the garden of Semiramis, at Babylon, is a willow supposed to have been there when the queen was alive. The Neustadt linden was 800 years old when it was wrecked in 1832. England has oaks 3,000 years old. A walnut tree at Balaklava, 1,200 years old, is owned by five families, who gather from it annually about 100,000 nuts. The Wadsworth oak, at Genesee, N. Y., is 500 years old and twenty-seven feet in circumference at the base.

Napoleon and His Mother.

Soon after Napoleon's assumption of the imperial purple he chanced to meet his mother in the gardens of St. Cloud. He was surrounded by courtiers and half playfully held out his hand for her to kiss. "Not so, my son," she gravely replied, at the same time presenting her hand in return; "it is your duty to kiss the hand of her who gave you life."—Chambers' Journal.

DOUBTFUL RUMORS

And Still Scores of East Liverpool People Accept Them as Facts.

The published statement of some stranger residing in a far-away place may be true enough, but it is generally accepted as a doubtful rumor. How can it be verified? The testimony which follows is convincing proof because it comes from a resident of East Liverpool.

Mrs. William James, who lives at 283 Third street, says: "I was troubled off and on for eight years with a weakness of back and kidneys, a dull, aching pain across my loins up under my shoulder blades and rheumatic pains in my right shoulder. The trouble affected my nervous system, causing a frequent fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. I generally resorted to porous plasters, but the relief was only temporary. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, obtaining instant relief and finally a cure."

A CARIBBEAN FLEET

WHY PERMANENT NAVAL FORCE IS NEEDED IN THOSE WATERS.

Turbulent Republics Endanger Lives and Property of United States Citizens—Plans of the Navy Department.

Uncle Sam is soon to have a permanent fleet of warships in the Caribbean sea. In fact, the preliminaries have already been arranged, and Rear Admiral Coghlan, second in command of the north Atlantic squadron, has been ordered to proceed to the West Indies on his flagship, the Olympia.

While formal orders for a formation of a West Indies division of the north Atlantic squadron have not been issued, the dispatch of a flag officer to those waters practically amounts to the same thing. In naval circles it is understood that after the winter maneuvers of the north Atlantic squadron in the West Indies are at an end a fleet will be permanently established there under command of Rear Admiral Coghlan.

The sending of Rear Admiral Coghlan with his flagship to the West Indies is the result of Secretary Moody's determination to afford better protection for American interests in a locality where protection is likely to be needed at any time. Heretofore the United States naval representation in the West Indies has proved inadequate to meet the demands for ships which have come from various quarters simultaneously, and the navy department has decided to keep a force in the Caribbean able to cope with a single, double or triple call, as the case may be.

For the present and until the fleet is organized the Olympia will be stationed at some central point to watch developments in each of the turbulent republics which border the Caribbean. The threatened outbreak between Great Britain and Venezuela promises fresh complications in the latter country, and renewed outbreaks in Haiti are possible at any moment.

The warlike proclivities of the Central American and West Indies peoples have always been a source of much annoyance to Uncle Sam. Business conditions in those countries are continually being disturbed, often at great loss to United States citizens, who have not infrequently been imprisoned and even killed.

Rebellions and counter rebellions are of almost monthly occurrence, and the navy department has had almost as much active service in looking after the interests of United States citizens in those countries as it had in crushing the fleets of Spain.

At the present moment hundreds of American marines are doing duty in Colombia, and hundreds more will probably be landed before quiet is restored. It is this continual turmoil and disorder that have impelled Secretary Moody to establish a fleet in Caribbean waters, where it will be in the vicinity of the unsettled republics and ready to go at a moment's notice to the seat of trouble, which seems to be always on tap.

Rear Admiral Joseph Q. Coghlan, who will have all the warships in the West Indies waters under his control, was with Admiral Dewey at the memorable fight in Manila bay. He was then in command of the cruiser Raleigh, which gave a good account of herself in the fight.

After his return to this country he was in temporary trouble because of an alleged insult to the German emperor. Shortly after he landed in New York he was entertained at a public dinner and regaled the company by singing, "Hoch, der Kaiser." The emperor is said to have protested, and for a time Admiral (then Captain) Coghlan was ordered to some inconsequential duty on the Pacific coast.

This did not last long, however, and Captain Coghlan last summer was advanced to the rank of rear admiral and made second in command of the north Atlantic squadron. He took part in the recent naval maneuvers on the New England coast and Long Island sound.

Besides his flagship, the Olympia, Admiral Coghlan will have under his command the San Francisco, Cincinnati, Montgomery, Marietta and Panther, which are now in those waters. Later the Raleigh, Detroit and Machias will be attached to the squadron. Rear Admiral Coghlan will act independently of the commander of the north Atlantic squadron.

IDENTIFICATION FAILS

Jeweler Nemser Unable to Identify Mason as Man Who Pawned Watch.

GOVENOR CRANE INTERESTED.

Visited Scene of Waverly Murder. Colored Suspect Released—Iron Bar Found at Edge of Pond When Water Is Drawn Off.

Boston, Nov. 8.—In the developments of the day in the Mason case, which has puzzled the police of Boston since Miss Clara A. Morton was struck down and killed in Waverly last Saturday, there are several striking details. No further evidence however, has been adduced which tends to incriminate in the case Alan G. Mason, the member of a prominent family, who is under arrest on the charge of murder. In fact, the police are inclined to the belief that Mason stood out clearer in the light of an innocent man, because of the failure of Joseph Nemser the West End jeweler, to identify Mason as the man who had offered for sale Miss Morton's watch last Saturday night.

An important detail in connection with the disposal of the watches was the establishment last night that the signatures on the checks kept on file by the jeweler in identification of the persons who offered him the articles were written by one and the same person. This confirms the story that the two women were murdered by the same man.

Another late incident was the arrest on suspicion last night at Watertown of a young mulatto. He was brought here, but Jeweler Nemser failed to identify him. The man was released.

So serious has the case become that Governor Crane has interested himself and looked over the scene of the murder while on a visit yesterday to Waverly.

An iron bar was found yesterday at the edge of Handyside pond, in Waverly, to which, it is claimed by some, the murderer of Saturday night went to wash his hands. The bar is two feet long and a little rusty. It was on the edge of the pond and the drawing off of the water brought it to light.

Cuba Sends Instruction to Minister.

Havana, Nov. 8—President Palma is authority for the statement that instructions regarding the drawing up of the commercial treaty between Cuba and the United States have been sent to the Cuban minister at Washington, Senor Quesada. Senor Palma says he has every reason to believe that Senor Quesada was in consultation last Monday with Secretary Hay with regard to this treaty.

Government Contracts Recommended.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 8.—Major Dan Kingman, the government engineer at the Cleveland port, will recommend to the chief of engineers at Washington that the L. P. & J. A. Smith company, of this city, be given the contract for completing the main entrance to the harbor and that Hughes Bros. & Bangs, of Syracuse, N. Y., be given the contract for completing the eastern extension of the breakwater.

MAY GO OUT ON STRIKE.

Chicago Switchmen Balloting on Proposition—Will Involve 8,000 Men.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Balloting was in progress last night to decide whether the switchmen employed in Chicago by 18 of the principal railroads centering here shall go on strike. A proposition was submitted to the railroads some time ago by the men, asking a wage increase of 5 cents an hour. The railroad officials last night offered to compromise by paying an increase of 2½ cents an hour to helpers and 3½ cents to foremen. The switchmen asked for time to consider the proposition. Meantime a vote of the men was being taken to ascertain whether a majority favor accepting or favored going on strike. More than 8,000 men are involved. The result of the vote will not be known until some time today.

Maker of "Cardiff Giant" Dead.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—John J. Sampson, the last survivor of the famous "Cardiff Giant" humbug, died in this city yesterday. Mr. Sampson had no part in the exhibition of the giant, but assisted in the making of the figure. He was a marble cutter, and worked at his trade in carving the giant. One of his sons said yesterday that his father always said that the work was done in a barn located near Lincoln park, in this city.

Opera House on Fire.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—The Grand opera house, one of Nashville's leading play houses, was on fire last night and probably will be a total loss.

The powder puff may help to hide the ravages of time but it avails little to hide the ravages of disease. When the face is disfigured by eruptions, the treatment must go below the surface to the blood, which is corrupt and impure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disfiguring eruptions which are caused by impure blood. It cures scrofulous sores, erysipelas, boils, pimples, eczema, salt-rheum and other eruptive diseases which impure blood breeds and feeds.

"I was troubled with eczema from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," writes Mrs. Ella Quick, of Cass City, Tuscola Co., Mich. "Could not walk at times nor wear my shoes. Thought there was no help for me—at least the doctor said there was none. I went to see friends at Christmas time and there heard of the good that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery had done for them, and was advised to try it at once. For fear that I might neglect it my friend sent to the village and got a bottle and made me promise that I would take it. I had been getting worse all the time. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and ten vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and used 'All-Healing Salve,' which made a complete cure. It was slow, but sure. I was taking the medicine about eight months.

"I would say to all who read this: try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before wasting time and money."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

If such be the case the president will be able to deal with the treaty in his annual message to congress.

TO EXCLUDE CUBAN CHILDREN.

Board So Decides—Will Be Returned to Cuba on November 13.

New York, Nov. 8.—Counsel representing Mrs. Tingley, of Point Loma Cal., in the case of the 11 Cuban children detained at this port, withdrew from the investigation yesterday. One of the lawyers said Mrs. Tingley would have nothing more to do with the inquiry, but would hold Mr. Gerry and V. M. Davis of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children personally responsible for the children.

After hearing a number of witnesses who testified as to the character of Mrs. Tingley, the board of inquiry, sitting at Ellis island, decided unanimously in favor of excluding the children. Their report was given to the commissioner of immigration and an order was issued under which the children will be sent back to Cuba on the Ward line steamer sailing Nov. 13. The commissioner of immigration afterwards stated that he did not expect an appeal would be taken.

The entire delinquencies and one-half of all other taxes charged in the duplicate of 1902 are required to be paid on or before the 20th of December next. The remaining taxes will be due and payable on or before June 20, 1903.

To that portion of taxes due and payable on or before December 20, as specified above, and remaining upon the duplicate unpaid on that date, a penalty of 5 per cent. will be added, then if not paid on or before January 25, 1903, a penalty of 15 per cent. will be added.

To that portion of taxes due and payable on or before June 20, 1903, and remaining upon the duplicate unpaid on that date, a penalty of 5 per cent. will be added, and if not paid on or before July 20, 1903, a penalty of 15 per cent. will be added as provided by law.

The books in the Treasurer's office, will be closed on or before January 25, 1903, and will remain closed until April 1, 1903. They will also be closed July 20, 1903, and remain so until October 1, 1903, as provided by law. No taxes will be received upon the General Duplicate when the books are closed.

When you inquire by letter for the amount of your taxes please send last receipt, that being the very best description you can give; otherwise please designate your property clearly; state in whose name the property appears, in what township and section it is located; also number of acres, in what town or city, number of lot, and in whose addition. Send stamp for reply and make your request before December 1 as our time will be fully occupied taking care of remittances, after that date, and we cannot make statements.

Remit either by New York exchange, certificate of deposit, postoffice money order, registered letter or express.

The office will be closed at 4 o'clock p. m., during collections to enable the Treasurer to close his accounts for each day. Call early and avoid the rush at the close.

WM. A THOMPSON,

Lisbon, Ohio, October 9, 1902. TREASURER.
